DOOMED MOTHER WAITS CHAIR

Today

The Governor's 3 Children
He Would Prefer Heaven
You Gave Us Beer
Nervously Shifting Gold

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

MRS. ANNA ANTONIO, mother of three children, convicted of murdering her husband, must die in the electric chair, within 24 hours. A new trial is refused; there is no hope for her, except in Governor Lehman.

That, fortunately for human decency, is a big EXCEPT. To kill a woman, or to let a woman die when you have the power to prevent it, cannot be pleasant. It must be particularly unpleasant for such a man as Governor Lehman, whose heart must be touched as he thinks of Mrs. Antonio's three innocent children, guilty of nothing, who must go through life hearing, "Their mother died in the electric chair."

Perhaps it is true that "there is nothing to be said for the condemned mother."

But there is much to be said for her three unhappy children, and what those children's tearful faces say, without any words, will be heard by Governor Lehman, who looks every day upon the faces of his own three children.

Every day in the United States murderers are turned loose, dangerous criminals are paroled, that they may return to robbery and murder after they are set free. To commute to life imprisonment the sentence of this miserable woman would not undermine justice.

For with what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged, and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you again.

Having consigned brave old Von Hindenburg to Valhalla in an eloquent speech, Chancellor Hitler is back in Berlin, absolute ruler of Germany, and the world waits to see what will happen now. In the coming plebiscite, people will be voting on Chancellor Hitler's taking of Von Hindenburg's seat. The voice of Von Hindenburg himself will be heard; records of his speech in praise of Hitler broadcast all over Germany, a great campaign force.

It is as though, in our coming elections, the voice of Lincoln should be heard advising Americans to vote for Republicans.

General Von Hindenburg might not like Chancellor Hitler's sending him to Valhalla, instead of the good, comfortable, customary old-fashioned Lutheran Heaven.

"Valhalla," from an old Norse word, Valhoell, meaning "Hall of the Slain," was reserved for men killed on the field of battle, and carried all bloody through the air by beautiful valkyries, ladies with long hair.

They spent their time, in Valhalla, drinking and bragging, probably about victories. Von Hindenburg, a great general, was no hard drinker, and bragging was foreign to him.

A peaceful Heaven, with nice white wings, a harp, conversations with Martin Luther, and Emperor William, his old Prussian master of the 1870 war, to talk with, would suit him better.

On his trip through the arid regions of North Dakota, President Roosevelt saw signs, "You gave us beer. Now give us water." The President, deeply moved and most sympathetic, addressing suffering farmers asking for water:

"I can tell you, from the bottom of my heart, truthfully: If it is possible for us to solve the problem, we are going to do it."

President Roosevelt might get from the heirs of the late William Boyce Thompson suggestions for transferring surplus waters of the Missouri and Mississippi to lands farther West. Mr. Thompson, a brilliant, successful American, made a study of that problem, and often mentioned it.

The sign, "You gave us beer, now give us water," might have reminded the President of the king, told by one of his noblemen that he made more fuss over a great artist than he did over any duke in his kingdom. The king is supposed to have replied:

"I, myself, can create any one of those dukes, but only God can create a great artist."

It was easy, the President said, for him to give the people beer, when they showed that they wanted it, but only God can give them water, suddenly, although engineers with money to spend might do it gradually.

This news will make you

Roosevelt Warns 'Deal' Foes

TELLS NATION CONFIDENCE IS BACK

By Associated Press

Green Bay, Wis., Aug. 9—President Roosevelt brought to Wisconsin today a message of confidence reborn among the people and an assurance that the new deal purposes "no injury to honest business," but a prosperous growth in which all may share.

He also gave warning that there would be no restoration of unscrupulous business tactics.

In a state talking about a new party, the President, homeward bound after spanning a great stretch of the northwest and the drought-afflicted prairie states, pronounced his major declaration of the first campaign year since 1932 and said the "New Deal" is going forward. He said:

"Those who would measure confidence in this country in the future must look first to the average citizen.

CONFIDENCE RETURNS

"Confidence is returning to our agricultural population who, in spite of unpredictable and uncontrollable drought in a large area, is giving understanding co-operation to practical planning and the ending of useless bickering and sectional thinking of the past.

"Confidence is returning to the

'Help' Starts Kidnap Scare

Mrs. Mary Kasprian of 55 Grove street, Chelsea, left her year-old daughter in a carriage outside a Broadway chain store while she shopped.

Ten minutes later baby and carriage were missing. A big crowd gathered, police reserves were rushed to the scene and search for a "kidnaper" was begun.

Fifteen minutes later the tearful mother found a woman friend wheeling the baby in a nearby street. The baby had been crying in front of the store and the neighbor sought to pacify it.

Haverhill Man Mysteriously Shot

Haverhill, Aug. 9—Victor Kyle, 41, of 9 Portland street, this city, appeared at the Water street Grain Store of which he is manager declaring that he had been shot. He refused to give details and was rushed to Gale Hospital.

ORDERS SILVER NATIONALIZED

By International News Service

Washington, Aug. 9—President Roosevelt today issued a proclamation nationalizing silver pursuant to the silver purchase act of 1934.

Under this proclamation, the government will seize all silver bullion in the United States at a price of approximately 49.5 cents per ounce.

Silver coin or silver en route to the United States at this time was excepted by the proclamation.

The present policy as to the purchase of newly-mined silver at 64.5 cents per ounce will be continued.

Trading in Silver Futures Suspended

New York, Aug. 9—Silver futures soared to cross the 50-cent level for the first time in four years, as the government moved to nationalize the country's entire stock of the metal.

Stocks, U. S. Bonds Are Worked Lower

New York, Aug. 9 (INS)—Security markets turned weak today in advance of President Roosevelt's address at Green Bay, Wis. Belief that the address would not contain the assurances desired by Wall Street and private capital was the factor.

Stocks lost $1 to more than $3 a share, while a break in government bonds running to 15-32 of a point, nearly $5 per $1000 bond, led the reaction in the bond market. Commodities were down in sympathy, grains losing more than a cent a bushel and cotton 50 cents a bale.

HITLER FREES 8000 FROM CUSTODY

By International News Service

Berlin, Aug. 9—Reichsleader Hitler ordered the release of between 8000 and 10,000 political and criminal prisoners in German jails and concentration camps in a decree issued today in memory of the late President Von Hindenburg. Many Jews will be freed.

At the same time it became known that eight persons were arrested yesterday in a reported conspiracy to assassinate Victor Lutze, new leader of the Nazi Storm troops, who replaced Capt. Ernest Roehm, executed for his part in the June 30 plot.

It is impossible, government officials said today, to estimate accurately the number who will be freed in the amnesty order until a check of individual cases has been made.

Those to be liberated will be divided into two classes—persons interned for criminal and others for political offenses.

TERMS OF AMNESTY

In the first category, of criminal prisoners, all first offenders serving sentences up to six months or fined up to 1000 marks (about $400) will be freed, also those who are not first offenders but whose sentences were under three months imprisonment or whose fines were less than 500 marks.

In the second class, political of-

Doctors' Orders Keep O'Ryan Home

New York, Aug. 9 (AP)—Physicians' orders for complete rest caused cancellation today of Police Commissioner John F. O'Ryan's proposed sailing for Europe tomorrow.

The commissioner suffered a severe attack of renal colic in his office yesterday. He was taken to the hospital at Columbia Medical Center, where he was reported to be resting comfortably after a good night.

One Rhode Island Prisoner Caught

Cranston, R. I., Aug. 9—One fugitive from the Rhode Island State Prison here was recaptured today after an all-night man hunt. His companion was believed trapped in a dense wood.

George H. Ufford, serving three years, was seized by a posse, while Thomas LaRocque, serving a five-year term, is believed cornered.

Bookkeeper Held In $1100 Larceny

Paul T. Wiswell, 48, of Poplar street, Watertown, is held by Watertown police on charges of larceny of $1100 from his employer George A. Shade, of Washington street, Newton. Shade charges that Wiswell, bookkeeper in his hardware store, juggled his books to cover the deficiency.

"First Mother" to Sail Tomorrow

Paris, Aug. 9 (INS)—In a number of farewells winding up her Paris visit, Mrs. James Roosevelt, mother of the American President, today called upon a dozen old friends and new. She will sail for the United States tomorrow.

New York Police Head Ill

New York, Aug. 9—Police Commissioner O'Ryan was ordered removed to the Medical Centre after two attacks of renal colic.

Mother Swoons as Life Hope Fades

Mrs. Anna Antonio, 29-year-old New York mother of three children, swooned when she received word that her plea for a new trial had been rejected. Unless Governor Lehman grants a new reprieve to the woman, she will die in the chair at Sing Sing tonight with the two assassins she hired to murder her husband. 24-hr. Truce in Malden Picket Outbreak

A 24-hour truce was declared today in the industrial warfare that has been raging around the plant of the Gregory-Read Wood Heel Company, in Eastern avenue, Malden, for the last week and which yesterday flared into a pitched battle between pickets and police.

The peace pact was agreed to in Malden district court today by Police Commissioner James A. Pagum, Ralph Goldstein, of Lynn, who is attorney for the United Shoe and Leather Workers' Union, and Sergeant John J. McCartney, in charge of the Malden police detail at the factory.

POLICE BOOHED

On their way to court, the two buses carrying yesterday's pickets stopped for a minute in front of the plant while their occupants boohed police on duty there. It was the only untoward event of the day.

As a result of the truce, both pickets and special police details were withdrawn from the scene of yesterday's outbreak, but no promises were made for tomorrow.

The agreement was reached in district court, where the 69 Lynn demonstrators — many of them women—were arraigned and were charged with sauntering and loitering, as an aftermath of the riot.

CASES POSTPONED

All of the cases were postponed until next Thursday, when 70 other union advocates who have been pre-

SISTER OF SLAIN GIRL MISSING

Sophia Keras, 15, sister of Nellie Keras, nine-year-old victim of Norwood's Christmas-day murder in 1932, vanished mysteriously from her home in Norwood yesterday, police revealed today.

The circumstances of her disappearance were not unlike those attending the abrupt vanishing of her sister, who was found, a victim of attack and murder, in the cellar of her home, after a three-day search.

Ahmed Osman, 39, who occupied the same house with the Keras family, paid for the crime with his life last January.

Sophia left her home at 29 Oolah avenue yesterday noon. Joseph Keras, her father, reported the case to police this morning.

Discovery that Emily Capone, 15, a chum of Sophia and also a resident of Oolah avenue, had also vanished eased the tension of the search somewhat.

KILLERS KEEP FOURTH DATE WITH DEATH TONIGHT

By DALE HARRISON
Associated Press Staff Correspondent

Ossining, N. Y., Aug. 9—Tonight, save only for the power and pity of his Excellency the Governor, Anna Antonio must keep her thrice-broken rendezvous with death.

The courts again have shaken their heads in negation to this self-widowed mother's plea for life. Her counsel has pounded frantically at every legal door, only to find each of them closed.

Governor Herbert Lehman, himself—like the condemned woman—a parent of three children, is the only remaining hope.

The death chamber, thrice cheated, is ready again. Not since 1927, when Ruth Snyder—a husband killer, too—sat down to the dynamo's humming death song, has a woman died there.

Three times before Anna Antonio, only 29, has seen her number go up, and three times come down.

Each time it was the governor who saved her by the mere lifting of a telephone receiver, the mere scratching of a pen. As simple as that.

AS TIME FLIES

But today? The governor has given no indication of his intention. He said:

"I have taken no action."

Did he mean: "I will take no action"?

Anna Antonio, watching in her tortured mind's eye the hands of a clock racing—racing—wondered and hoped. There is no human agony so great as suspense.

Two men share her fate. They are the ones, Vincent Saetta and Samuel Feracci, who stabbed and shot her husband, Salvatore, dead the night before Easter, 1932.

She schemed the crime, greedy for Salvatore's $1800 insurance. They did him in. Yet even today, as

Woman Kidnaped, Clothes Set Afire

Brooklyn, N. Y., Aug. 9 (AP)—With her clothing in flames, Mrs. Bertha Deutsch, 43, was hurled, bound and gagged, from a motor car early today after two men had kidnaped her.

She was taken to Israel Zion Hospital, where her condition was reported to be not serious.

It was the third time Mrs. Deutsch was kidnaped within the last five months. The police are seeking a former acquaintance of her and her husband.

MANY JEWS LIBERATED IN HONOR OF HINDENBURG

Those who were sentenced for defamation of Hitler.

Those who were sentenced for offenses against the welfare of authority of the Reich which did not orgnate in actual feeling against the German people or the state.

NAZIS ON FREE LIST

Those who exercised too great zeal in activities on behalf of the Nazi party.

Those who inflicted bodily injuries in the course of political discussions.

The government also ordered the authorities to speed up the examination of persons who were placed in concentration camps "under protective custody" and to release them if the cases are unimportant and the prisoners can be expected to show further hostility to the Nazi state.

It was also ordered that persons arrested in connection with the storm troopers' conspiracy on June 30 should be dealt with "benevolently."

A hot fight is developing over the appointment of an assistant to Reichsleader Hitler.

The Nazi party is urging Gen. Hermann Wilheim Georing, Prussian premier and Hitler's right-hand man. The Reichswehr is backing Gen. Werner von Blomberg, minister of war, and he is believed to have the inside track.

Today announcement was made that Hitler would deliver a radio address to the German people on Aug. 17, explaining his act in making himself absolute ruler of the Reich.

MANY JEWS TO BE FREED

Scores of Jews will be released from concentration camps by the government's order and many persons convicted of criminal offenses against the state.

But persons imprisoned for high treason, betrayal of military secrets or attacks in which their victims were killed or injured are excluded from the amnesty.

For this reason Ernst Thaelmann and Ernst Torgler, Communist leaders, still detained on treason charges in connection with Reichstag fire will not be freed.

The principal groups affected, it is believed, will be Nazis, of whom 6000 are still detained in connection with the storm troopers' conspiracy led by Captain Roehm on June 30.

German Pastors Must Take Oath

By Associated Press

Berlin, Aug. 9—Germany's Protestant pastors and church officials will be required to take an oath of fealty to Chancellor Hitler, just as Nazi Storm Troops and the regular army did last week.

This step to secure Hitler uniform support following his assumption of the powers of President, was announced by Dr. August Jaeger, Nazi Commissioner for Protestant churches.

Jaeger explained new rules to be imposed by the national synod today, which will deliver the Protestant church into the hands of Reichsbishop Ludwig Mueller, Hitler follower, and the German Christians (Nazi churchmen).

The new dules will be voted into effect by Mueller's rubber stamp synod, called into session without the knowledge of the general public.

Von Papen to Face Scrutiny in Vienna

By International News Service

Vienna, Aug. 9—Franz Von Papen, Hitler's envoy entrusted with the task of making peace with the Austrian government after the murder of Chancellor Dollfuss, will find his work cut out for him when he arrives here next week, it was indicated by editorials and reports of speeches in today's press.

Said the newspaper "Stunde":

Colonel Von Papen, when he is received in Vienna, will find himself obliged to walk through a double rank. On one side will stand doubts and on the other side suspicions.

"It will depend on him whether these doubts and suspicions can be dispersed. He will enter the ranks of his diplomatic colleagues merely as an equal among equals. Let him not make the mistake of trying to acquire influence in Vienna.

OTTO ARRIVES IN DENMARK

By Associated Press

Copenhagen, Denmark, Aug. 9—Archduke Otto, claimant to the Austrian throne whose travels are keeping Europe alert, showed up today in Copenhagen.

With two secretaries, he will proceed for an automobile tour of Sweden and Norway. Otto is traveling under the name of "Count Polavesing."

Brussels, Aug. 9—Official confirmation was given today to reports Archduke Otto is on a Scandinavian tour.

It was believed, however, he may still go to Italy if he is needed for a family discussion of the possibility of his return to Austria. Prince Felix, consort of the Grand Duchess of Luxembourg and uncle of Otto, was reported here to have arrived Tuesday in Italy.

100-Foot Roadway Planned At Lynn

At a meeting of the Lynn commission on ways and drainage of this city, it was indicated that the city plans a 100-foot roadway from the Saugus River Bridge along Broad street to the Union street engine house.

City Engineer Frank A. Goudy was authorized to complete plans for the widening between the river and Market street, and to make additional plans for the widening from Market street to Union street. The present roadway is about 50 feet.

Girl Pickets Mobilize for Verbal Tilt With Malden Police

These girl pickets are giving a stern argument to two police officers on guard at the Gregory & Read heel plant, Eastern avenue, Malden, where bitter riots involved hundreds. The two patrolmen apparently are doing some heavy listening and litle talking. In the battling at the plant, 60 pickets were seized, two girl and one male picket injured and a Malden policeman, with a split nose sent to the hospital. The pickets, from Lynn, are attempting to have the 150 workers join the union and declare a closed shop. (Picture by Boston Evening American Staff Photographer.)

Dollfuss Slaying Scored as Nine More Face Trial

By ALFRED TYRNAUER
Universal Service Special Cable

Vienna, Aug. 9—While nine more Nazis went on trial for participating in the Nazi putsch, Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg delivered a bitter attack against the murderers of former Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss in a speech at a memorial ceremony for the slain chancellor.

Addressing a mourning observance of the patriotic front in Vienna, attended by 160,000 persons, Schuschnigg charged the murder of Dollfuss was well prepared and "was meant as a stab at the heart of Austria."

Schuschnigg said:

"We want peace and reconciliation in the spirit of Chancellor Dollfuss. We want to shake hands with those who were misled, but we want no understanding with those whose hands are covered with blood, directly or indirectly. We want an Austria independent of Germany."

Vice Chancellor Prince Von Starhemberg, said:

"We swear to fight for Dollfuss' ideals independently. We do not want leaders forced upon us across the German borders."

The nine Nazis who went on trial before a military court today were police officers, who were charged with participating in the seizure of the chancellery when Dollfuss was killed.

$184,923,535 Liquor Taxes

By Associated Press

Washington, Aug. 9—The government collected $184,923,535 in alcoholic beverage taxes in the first seven months of legalized liquor.

For the seven months ended June 30 beer and other fermented malt beverages accounted for $103,915,651, the bureau of internal revenue reported. Distilled spirits and wine yielded $81,007,884.

Pennsylvania, where there are many production or rectification plants yielding taxes, paid the highest amount of the 29 states where liquor is legal. Its total was $29,-$453,184 New York was next with 28,082,600 and Illinois third with $21,634,937.

MAE TO CENSOR OWN PLAY

By Associated Press

Hollywood, Aug. 9—Mae West again plans to write the scenario for her next film, and will make it censor proof, it was announced at the studio today.

MAE WEST

Her most recent picture, which has been revised both as to title and in the film itself, has now been approved by the Will Hays censor board. It will be shown as "The Belle of the Nineties."

Miss West said her new production would be modern, in contrast to the gay nineties offering.

Jewish Children Slashed, Armed Arabs Seized

By Associated Press

Constantine, Algeria, Aug. 9—Seven military airplanes circled constantly over a wide area about Constantine today, following reports trouble between Arabs and Jews was brewing at several points.

Thirty-six Arabs, armed with shotguns, were arrested as they sought to enter Constantine in automobiles.

The city grew quieter, following days of bloodshed in religious rioting between the two races. Military forces are under the personal direction of Jules Carde, governor general who returned hurriedly from Paris yesterday.

VIOLENCE OUTSIDE

Violence was reported to have broken out in outlying districts of the state having large Jewish quarters, including Ain Beida and Tebessa. Authorities refused to confirm or deny the reports.

The throats of 13 of the 27 known killed here were slashed, while others were beaten to death with clubs. Three little girls, their ages ranging from four ten, were among the victims. They were virtually decapitated with native knives.

HID VICTIMS' BODIES

Authorities said they believed the death toll was much higher, for Arabs apparently hid the bodies of many Jewish victims. Some 300 Arabs now are under arrest in Constantine.

Funeral services for some of the slain were to be held today. Others were buried yesterday while troops, fearing fresh outbreaks, stood guard.

The Jewish telegraphic agency sid a number of troops had been dispatched to the interior where new fighting is under way.

The Jewish Telegraphic Agency said a number of troops had been shut tight. Hospitals are filled to overflowing.

An eye-witness of the most savage fighting, in which scores were killed and wounded, told how the ears of Jews were cut off by their Arab assassins. He said:

"I saw in a hospital bed a printer named Atali, who with his wife, was knocked senseless with blackjacks. His daughter and young boys were killed. Their throats were cut as if they were sheep.

"Mme. Atali was hurled from a balcony to the pavement and stamped upon by the rioters. The massacre inside the Jewish homes was carried out with the most revolting savagery.

"There were horrifying scenes in the hospitals. All the wounds were identical. In all cases their throats were cut."

Hitler Most Closely Guarded Man in World

Reichsleader Refuses to Dine Out in Fear of Poisoning

By HUDSON HAWLEY
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1934, by International News Service)

London, Aug. 9 (INS)—Reichsleader Adolf Hitler of Germany since June 30 probably has been the most closely guarded personality in the world, with every member of the chancellery household virtually a detective, whether uniformed or plain-clothed, the former predominating.

Besides the black-garbed Schutz Staffel (special Hitler guards) who are on duty 24 hours daily in shifts, Hitler has a Reichswehr guard stronger than that of the late President Hindenburg.

One cannot peer through the grills separating the chancellery gardens from the Wilhelmstrasse without meeting the piercing eyes of some blond, steel-helmeted giant with his rifle ready.

When "the leader" leaves the chancellery for a ceremony such as that held Monday, when the Reichstag met to honor Hindenburg, the Schutz Staffel line the streets with their backs to the crowd, while a solid line of Gen. Hermann Wilhelm Goering's "green police" eye the crowds with their backs to the street.

Hitler's Mercedes, reputed to be the fastest car in Germany, whisks him through the double lane like a will o' the wisp.

Hitler no longer travels on trains, which can be derailed, while airplanes cannot. He shoots through the sky with a trusted pilot, and at each landing field he finds at least a platoon of Schutz Staffel lined up and armed to the teeth. Then the speediest car available scoots him to within four walls.

Only one near attempt on his life since he assumed the chancellorship is admitted. It was late in the spring when Frau Goering's body was returned from Sweden for burial on the outskirts of Berlin, Hitler being one of the chief mourners.

SHOT MISSES HIMMLER

A pot-shot was taken, and it narrowly missed Police Chief Himmler—anyway that was the official version—but Hitler and Himmler rode in similar cars, and the shot might well have been meant for "the leader" himself.

A year ago a man was arrested in Munich for merely expressing the opinion that Hitler should be assassinated.

About 15 months ago a plot was alleged to have been unearthed, but it did not get to first base.

The June 30 plot was described by Hitler himself on July 13 in the Reichstag, when he disclosed details of the Roehm coup plans.

Letters to "the leader" are so thoroughly sifted at the Berlin central post office that no threatening crank missives or "pineapple" packages ever reach the Wilhelmstrasse.

PLENTY OF FAN MAIL

Hitler does not dine out, even in the embassies of friendly nations, as King George does.

The only exception is the house of Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, Hitler's propaganda minister, and then Frau Goebbels has to dismiss her staff and cook the meal herself.

Hitler has consistently "ducked" the invitation of the foreign press association to its monthly luncheons—which is not likely to be renewed.

TEACHERS' OATH BILL PASSES

By International News Service

Albany, Aug. 9—By a vote of 39 to 3, the Senate today passed the Ives bill, requiring every teacher in public and private schools to swear allegiance to the Federal and State Constitutions.

The bill previously had passed the Assembly and now it goes to Governor Lehman.

The Governor vetoed a similar bill last spring during the regular session. He insisted there was no necessity for such a law because teachers are required to sign such an oath when they receive their certificates.

LOVE TRAGEDY DEATH TRYST QUESTIONED

By Universal Service

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Aug. 9—Belief that Freda McKechnie "American Tragedy" victim, was killed before she reached Harvey's Lake with her lover was expressed, here as neighbors recalled that the lake region was chilled by a biting wind, scarcely conductive to swimming, on the night the young expectant mother met her death.

Robert Edwards, 21, a mining surveyor charged with her murder, is said by police to have told them he struck the girl over the head with a blackjack as they were swimming in the lake on the night of July 31.

Though police say they have accepted this version, friends of the dead girl today expressed doubt that Freda entered the water voluntarily on that cold, stormy night.

SUIT REVERSED

A prominent physician expressed the opinion that it would have been suicidal for the girl, who was to give birth to a child in five months, to enter the water in such weather. He expressed the belief that Freda was killed at some other spot and that her body was thrown into the lake.

Police say that young Edwards made three statements, and quote him as saying in two of them that Freda plunged from a springboard and filed to reappear, and in the third as giving the account of striking her with a blackjack while both were in the water.

TRIAL NEXT MONTH

Persons who saw the girl's body recovered from the lake say that her bathing suit was on backwards, and that a bathing cap concealed the wound on her head, indicating that her clothing had been changed after death.

As the argument grew, Luzerne County officials began the task of drawing 320 veniremen, 12 of whom will be selected to decide the fate of Edwards. The case will be presented to the grand jury when it convenes on August 21, and is expected to go to trial next month.

MALDEN TRUCE DECLARED

FOUR TO GO ON TRIAL

There is a possibility, however, that few of the defendants will actually be tried, Goldstein having agreed that four of the demonstrators who were arrested on August 2 should go tomorrow before Associate Justice Maurice R. Flynn.

He has agreed that these should be the "master cases" by which all the others will stand or fall, provided that he can obtain the consent of all of the defendants. Judge Elbridge G. Davis, who presided today, indicated his satisfaction with such an arrangement.

However, should the 139 defendants refuse to accept the proposal, it may be necessary to grant each one a separate trial.

CASE DISMISSED

One case, that of Mary Dagnese, 21, of Lynn, charged with assault and battery on a police officer, was disposed of today when it was dismissed for want of prosecution. She was the only picket charged with a more serious offence than sauntering and loitering.

The four who are to face trial tomorrow are Frederick D. Ryan, Timothy F. Curley, James L. Major and William J. Duverger, all of Lynn.

Today's defendants arrived from Lynn in two buses. They paused briefly in front of the heel plant before proceeding to the court. It was they that the truce from 10:30 to 10:30 was agreed upon.

PICKETING BARRED

While the pickets did not indicate what they planned to do tomorrow, the police insisted that they had no right to stage any demonstrations because there is no strike in progress in the plant.

The Lynn contingents, they said, are seeking to force Gregory-Read workers to join their union.

Clauses forbidding shoe manufacturers to purchase non-union heels have been the chief obstacle to the signing of working agreements in Lynn, Haverhill and other shoe towns.

In several cases the union workers agreed to overlook the practice, but refused to sanction it on paper. Unionization of the heel plants would remove the difficulty.

ARRESTS LOOM IN ENFORCEMENT OF SHORTS BLUE LAW

HULTMAN GIVES O.K. ON SCANTY 'PANTIES'

Statute Revival May Bring Back Bulky '80 Swim Suits

Will the ban on shorts for women bring back the 1890 bathing suit on municipal beaches?

That was the problem which today confronted bathers in Boston. The 1880 blue law, evoked by Park Commissioner William P. Long, requires that women "be properly clothed from neck to knee," and the 1931 bathing suit which would qualify under such regulations is rare indeed.

Should Commissioner Long attempt to enforce the letter of the law on beaches under his control, nearly girl bather would be subject to arrest and a $20 fine, it was declared.

O. K. WITH HULTMAN

But whatever course the commissioner takes on the beaches and tennis courts, Police Commissioner Eugene Hultman said that Boston police will make no attempt to enforce the ancient statue on the streets. Shorts are all right in Boston as far as Commissioner Hultman is concerned.

Outside of Boston, a more liberal attitude generally prevails, though Worcester and Lowell have banned the abbreviated breeches on the fair sex.

Cambridge, Somerville, Brookline, Melrose, Malden, Lynn and Lawrence all look with approval upon legs bared by reasonably short shorts.

Just how short shorts may be, is a question that has worried some officials. Thomas E. Holland, in charge of Worcester parks, explained his edict banning shorts on public tennis courts in that city. Holland said:

"Shorts are all right if they're just shorts, but they get shorter as they wash them It was a question in my mind as to whether they are altogether fitting. Some of them, of course, are altogether too fitting."

Meanwhile, as the controversy raged, the girls went their own sweet way. In defiance of the Long ukase, shorts were in evidence upon the Franklin Field tennis courts where the garb was outlawed by the city fathers

AT FRANKLIN PARK

At the courts in Marine Park, South Boston, three shapely maids braved the park department regulation by playing their daily game in the forbidden brief costumes. No attempt was made to eject them.

Men players joined with women in insisting that shorts would continue to be worn.

New Registration For Hultman Car

For the first time since the late Edwin U. Curtis was Boston Police Commissioner, the private automobile of the Police head bore a new registration number today.

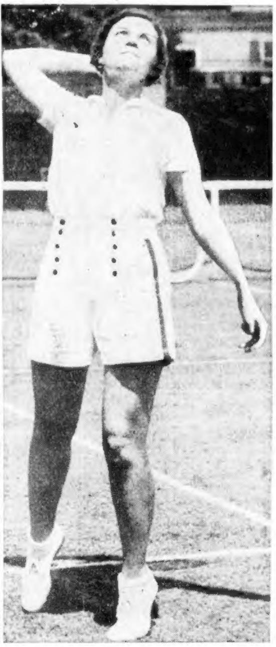
For years the Commissioner's car has carried the registration number 368. Today Police Commissioner Eugene C. Hultman's car appeared with number 239.

Razor Blades Used in 'Shaving' Lake

Regina, Satkatchewan, Aug. 9—At last, they've found a use for old razor blades—and Wascana Lake has had its first shave.

Hundreds of old blades were strung on wires, weighted to hold them to the lake bottom, and the weeds were "shaved" off.

What, No Shorts? There Must Be Some Mistake!



MISS JOSEPHINE CRUIKSHANK

MISS JANET TAYLOR

All this pro and con about whether Boston misses should or should not wear shorts seems to be so much idle talk. While experts are wondering, arguing and asking questions, the girls go calmly about dressed in shorts. Miss Janet Taylor, society girl at the Eastern Yacht Club at Marblehead, looks cool in her attire. (Pictures by Boston Evening American Staff Photographer.)

JOBLESS GIRL TRIES TO DIE

Despondency was given today as the reason Miss Emma Ray, 21, of Woodbine street, Roxbury, attempted suicide yesterday at Washington and Kneeland streets, downtown.

She was found by Simon Zola, of West Selden street, Dorchester, after she had taken the contents of a small vial. Her name has been placed on the danger list.

Miss Ray had five cents in her pocketbook when brought to the hospital. She told doctors she has sought employment for weeks.

Detroit, Aug. 9—Colonel J. L. Reese, assistant inspector in charge of the alcoholic tax unit of the internal revenue division, is to be transferred to Boston in charge of the alcoholic tax unit there.

Rich Widow Buys Costly Violins for Music Here

A half-million dollar string quartet, playing instruments fashioned two centuries ago by the famous craftsman, Antonio Stradivarius, will be heard in Boston next fall, thanks to the munificence of Mrs. Matthew John Whittall, Otis place society woman.

Widow of Matthew J. Whittall, millionaire carpet weaver, Mrs. Whittall a year ago commissioned Louis Krasner, Boston violinist, to search Europe and America for a quartet of rare instruments of perfect tone. Recently the fourth instrument, completing the collection, was obtained.

Most famous of the four was the first violin, a Betts Stradivarius worth at least $100,000. It was obtained from the Roberts collection at Hartford, Conn.

The second violin is the Messiah Stradivarius, obtained from London. A similar instrument cost Toscha Seidel $25,000 in 1924.

Valued at hundreds of thousands, the viola is one of the six known to have been made by the famous Cremonese artist. The cello is known as the Castlebarco cello, and although considered an ugly instrument in appearance, is said to have the most wonderful tone of any in the world. It is made of poplar wood instead of the customary spruce or maple.

HUNT DOCTOR FOR DYING BOY

A 9-year-old boy, lying in a dying condition in the St. Agnes Hospital in White Plains, New York, and in need of an immediate operation, caused the hospital authorities to enlist the aid of the coast guard here in an attempt to locate the boy's physician, Dr. Walter Tilden, of that city.

Hospital authorities today informed Captain Gabbett that the physician was in the area of Cape Cod sailing his yacht, the Bluefish.

The Bluefish was seen sailing near Buzzards Bay yesterday. Captain Gabbett ordered the patrol boat Argo from Newport to search that district. If the yacht is found arrangements can be made to fly the physician to White Plains.

Sophie Tucker Puts Boy Swain in His Place

By International News Service

London, Aug. 9—Brave heart this time did not win fair lady. The heart throbbed with the pulsating passion of an 18-year-old Don Juan — more particularly the "fair lady" is the "last of the red hot mammas."

SOPHIE TUCKER

The story began several weeks ago.

While appearing at a fashionable West End night club Sophie Tucker suddenly found herself deluged nightly with lavish gifts of flowers—orchids, roses and other expensive posies.

After a week of this floral cloudburst she received a note from "your anonymous admirer" asking if he might call upon her immediately.

Curious to meet the man who had put the florist's business back on its feet Miss Tucker replied and arranged an interview in her dressing room for that evening.

Came the hour for the fateful appointment and a timid knock on the dressing room door. A youth not one day more than 18 years of age entered, bearing another big bouquet and muttering a few unintelligible protestations of undying affection.

Nonplussed, for she had expected at least an elderly bank president or some such stagestruck John, Sophie made a feeble excuse and asked the mooning young swain to postpone the interview until the following evening.

Reluctantly he agreed, and after a few more mumbled pretties, he left.

Then the "last of the red hot mammas" went into action. She telephoned young Don Juan's fond mama and explained what this youngster—several years younger than Sophie's own son, Bert—was doing.

Next evening when the boy-lothario called upon Miss Tucker he was astonished to find his mother having tea in the actress' dressing room.

The youngster was a little embarrassed but he took it like a little soldier and finally departed with a forced "cheerio."

WIFE'S HINTED DIVORCE FAILS TO JAR ENZO

By Universal Service

Hollywood, Aug. 9—If his socially prominent wife is planning a divorce, Enzo Fiermonte, handsome Italian pugilist, will not offer any objections.

In fact, he is willing to do anything or go anywhere, even to the ends of the earth, to accommodate any divorce plans that Mrs. Madeline Force Astor Dick Fiermonte may have in mind.

Such was the answer of Fiermonte to dispatches that told of his wife's departure from her Long Island mansion, presumably bound for Paris or Reno. He said:

"I intend to live my life in my own way, and it is Mrs. Fiermonte's privilege to do as she pleases about our matrimonial status.

State Leaders Missing From Fiedler Fete

Twenty-five gilded chairs stood vacant before the shell on the esplanade where Arthur Fielder and his orchestra were playing. Fifty souvenir programs, bearing the State seal, lay untaken on the grass.

Concert officials expected the governor, lieutenant-governor, executive council and metropolitan district commission to attend the Esplanade concert, as part of a tour of inspection of Charles River Basin improvements, but only four executive councillors and Chairman Davis B. Keniston of the metropolitan district commission showed up.

Fr. Short Unchanged

No change was reported in the condition of Rev. Fr. Edward P. Short, who began his 101st day of unconsciousness today at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Brighton.

PARENTS FEAR 2 GIRLS HAVE ELOPED

No trace had been found today of two young South Boston girls who disappeared Tuesday, believed by police to have been lured away by two former marines.

The girls, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Primo Rossetti of East Third street, South Boston, were reported missing by their father. He said they disappeared Monday night. The elder, Dora, is only 15, and the other, Rita, is 13.

Two men, said to be marines, who had recently been paid off, met the girls, police learned. An alluring picture of adventure and travel is alleged to have been painted by the men, who said that they had a large amount of money saved from their pay with which they would buy expensive presents for the girls if they would elope to marry them.

NEW HOT WAVE CAUSES WEST TO SWELTER

By Universal Service

Chicago, Aug. 9—The heat wave blasted the Middle West again today, when a southwest wind brought a new threat of record temperatures.

As the country blazed under a tropical sun with food crops and livestock being reduced hourly, commodity markets further reflected the disaster that has been creeping over the great agricultural and cattle regions since last March.

Wheat and corn advanced another cent and cotton jumped up when a government report indicated the yield would be little more than nine million bales, insufficient for normal consumption. The cotton advance was from $2 to $2.50 a bale.

The householder was confronted with an actual scarcity of fresh vegetables, with prices going far beyond the reach of families whose incomes have been reduced by lack of employment.

In Central Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska and Missouri temperatures above 100 degrees. Local showers fell over some of the country, especially in the northwest, where temperatures were lower over the Dakotas and Minnesota.

W. P. Day, weather forecaster here, saw approaching from the northwest an area of lower temperatures and indicated Chicago would get some relief by late today.

The drought continues to spread fresh disaster to the cattlemen.

Thousands of head of cattle were being shipped to stockyards in Chicago, Kansas City, St. Louis, St. Paul and Sioux City to be slaughtered before they perish on the ranges.

Cattlemen said herds were being so reduced that the country would be confronted with rapidly increasing meat prices after the stocks now being accumulated are consumed, probably by 1935.

Somerville Sets Spending Record

It took the Somerville aldermen only 22 minutes to spend $747,800 in their shortest meeting of the year. They voted to borrow $537,600 which will be augmented by $210,200 in federal grants, for PWA projects on sewers, water mains, street paving, and the construction of a vocational and continuation school.

Raft Missing at Fight So Women Riot

By International News Service

Oakland, Cal., Aug. 9—Because George Raft slick-haired movie star, failed to appear at Oakland auditorium last night as the chief second of Maxie Rosenbloom, light heavyweight champion, a capacity crowd was infuriated.

GEORGE RAFT

Boos and catcalls and stamping of feet came from 9000 spectators, 65 per cent of them being women who had paid 40 cents for admission instead of the usual courtesy entrance fee of 10 cents to feminine prize fight fans.

The women had flocked to the auditorium to get a peek at Raft's new "beauty culture" ear.

The crowd's anger was not appeased by the ten round battle between Rosenbloom and Pietro Georgi of San Francisco. Rosenbloom slapped Georgi around for the entire ten rounds to win an easy decision.

A few days ago Rosenbloom's manager announced that Raft had purchased a half interest in the light heavyweight champion for $10,000 and would act as chief second for Rosenbloom in last night's fight.

Old Salt Makes 'Bow Bunter'

Portland, Me., Aug. 9—Sailor Joe Fernandez was contended today at a task only real sailormen can do.

A gnarled old salt, with keen eyes and hands roughened by years of rope hauling in square-rigger days, Joe was engaged in making a 2,100-pound "bow bunter."

Tourists and waterfront workers halted at customs house wharf to watch him, struck with the rarity of seeing an old-time tar ply sailor's palm, nedle and fid.

GUNS TERRIFY 17 IN HOLDUP

Three bandits, two of them brandishing revolvers, stood 17 persons against the wall in the Elm Cafe on Elm street early today, and escaped with $90.

All present in the cafe, two of them girls, were ordered to line up against the wall by the holdup men. The proprietor, Isadore Leach of Ormond street, Mattapan, and Edward York of Alhambra road, West Roxbury, were forced at gunpoint into the men's room, where the bandits locked them in.

One of the gunmen crouched on the bar, covering the terrified guests with his revolver. His companion, also armed, took $68 from the cash register. They obtained $22 from Leach's pocket before locking him in.

Two women were backed up against the wall with the others. They are Miss Eileen Greeley, of Saratoga street, East Boston, a waitress employed at the cafe, and a friend Miss Ruth Price, 31, a vaudeville artist

The bandits escaped in a new automobile, bearing cardboard number plates

CURLEY URGES TARIFF WALL

A plea for a tariff wall which would prevent the entry of goods made in countries which have repudiated their debts to the United States was voiced by former Mayor James M. Curley in his address at the testimonial dinner to James T. Moriarty, retiring president of the Massachusetts Federation of Labor.

"There is no justification for any American expending a single dollar for the purchase of goods made by any nation that has repudiated its obligation," Curley said.

"It is time we became America-conscious, and dropped the fetish that has developed in recent years for imports in preference to domestic goods. The employment of two to 3,000,000 men who today are without work due to the flooding of American markets with the goods of nations that have demonstrated their unfriendliness to America."

Curley paid high tribute to Moriarty and to the work of organized labor in the enactment of humane legislation. The dinner was the feature event of the 49th annual convention of the federation, at the Hotel Bradford.

The end of the company union, owned and controlled by the employer, was forecast in addresses by Congressman John W. McCormack, of Dorchester, and William P. Connery, Jr., of Lynn.

John F. Gatelee of Springfield and Ernest F. Johnson of Boston were nominated for president of the federation to succeed President James T. Moriarty, who declined to serve after his fourth term. A third candidate, J. Arthur Moriarty of Boston withdrew in favor of Johnson.

An ovation was given Robert W. Watt as he was unanimously renominated for secretary-treasulrer.

BOY IS BLAMED IN GAS FIRE

Fall River, Aug. 9—A small boy who tossed a lighted match into some gasoline on the street as a tank was being filled from a 1500-gallon truck was believed to have caused fire which endangered eight families here.

The blazing truck, ignited from the spilled gasoline, scorched nearby tenement houses and drove 41 persons to the street. Firemen, using chemicals, fought for two hours before getting the flames under control.

Joseph Silvia, 26, of Bay street, driver of the truck, risked his life to climb into the cab and drive the truck away from the filling station and the half-filled tanks. He received severe burns of one arm.

Jones' Step Out Twice In 50 Years

Spencer, Aug. 9—It will be the second time in 50 years that the Southville Jones' have left their farm when they hitch up their one-horse shay and make a trip to this town next Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ephraim Jones said today they were going to "step out" to attend the Worcester County extension service convention. The last time they left the farm was on the occasion of the original Armistice Day in 1918.

$10,000 Sought in Bottle Blowup

The store that sold her an allegedly defective hot water bottle was made defendant today in a $10,000 damage suit on file in Salem probate court with Mrs. Maria G. Bianco of North Reading, the plaintiff.

Mrs. Bianco stated in her declaration that while she was using the bottle it burst and scalded her.

13 New Epidemic Cases

Jersey City, N. J., Aug. 9 (US—Thirteen new cases were reported in New Jersey's mysterious dysentery epidemic, as health authorities warned all to exercise precautions to prevent spread of the epidemic.

Dog Airing Nearly Ends in Disaster

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 9—The nonchalant gentleman from New York, walking his dog on the Union Station platform, was quite undismayed when the train pulled out without him.

Despite the fact that he was garbed only in pajamas, with a pair of pants pulled over them, he hustled to a taxi-cab and thence to the airport. When he overtook the train by plane at Creston, Ia., his wife greeted him: "You would do something like that!"

Two Rhode Island Prisoners Flee

Cranston, R. I., Aug. 9—Two convicts, who escaped from the state prison farm here late yesterday, were still at large today, despite a wide-spread search by state police.

The men, George H. Ufford, serving a three-year-term, and Thomas Laroque, serving five years, disappeared while working in a cornfield with a group of eight other prisoners.

More Showers, To Stay Cool, Too

More showers are due tonight and tomorrow, and the cool weather of the past few days will continue, the weatherman said today.

His forecast, at least for the time being, dispelled fears that a new heat wave would strike this section. It was feared that the blazing heat and continued drouth that has seared the Middle West would arrive here.

Officer Injured As Autos Crash

Patrolman John G. Ralph of the Charlestown police station today was suffering from a compound fracture of the right arm received when a truck collided with a car in which he was riding.

Patrolman Charles Tighe, operator of the car, escaped with minor injuries, and John F. Fay of Stoughton street, Dorchester, driver of the truck was slightly hurt.

Hull Seeks Peace in South America

Washington, Aug. 9 (US)—Secretary of State Hull moved swiftly here to avert a diplomatic breach between Chile and Paraguay which threatens to have serious effects on the peace of South America, already disturbed by the Chaco war.

Chile recalled its minister to Paraguay, following attacks in the Paraguayan press declaring the Chilean government has been siding with Bolivia in its war with Paraguay.

BANCROFT TRIO WAITS VERDICT ON DIVORCE

By Universal Service

So was Octavia Broske Bancroft, his second wife.

On the other hand Mrs. Edna G. Bancroft, his first and, according to her statements, his only wife, was hopeful.

AWAITING DECISION

All three of the Bancrofts were waiting for the decision of Superior Judge D. S. Valentine, domestic relations expert, who had under advisement Mrs. Edna Bancroft's plea for temporary alimony pending trial of her separate maintenance suit against the star.

It ws Judge Valentine's parting shot, as the case was submitted, that caused Bancroft and his second wife to worry and filled the heart of the first wife with hope.

Said Judge Valentine after he had heard Bancroft's explanation of how he divorced the first Mrs. Bancroft by going to an office and sitting a piece of paper:

CALLS CLAIM 'RIDICULOUS'

Just before Judge Valentine made his remark, Bancroft had heard his first wife's attorney, diminutive S. Hahn, tell the court:

"I believe your honor will be able to adduce from the testimony of Mr. Bancroft himself that his claim that he divorced my client is ridiculous. I believe that you will come to the conclusion that a second purported marriage never took place."

A decision is expected shortly.

Bancroft in Court With Two Wives

MRS. OLIVIA BANCROFT GEORGETTE BANCROFT GEORGE BANCROFT

Mrs. Edna Bancroft, who claims she is only lawful wife of Bancroft.

There was heavy drama in Los Angeles superior court. Two women faced each other in a scene as dramatic as any ever shown on the screen as the case of Bancroft vs. Bancroft opened. One was Mrs. Edna Bancroft, who claims she is the first and only wife of George Bancroft, screen star, and who is suing him for separate maintenance. The other, Mrs. Olivia Broske Bancroft, present wife of the actor. It was the first time Bancroft and Mrs. Edna Bancroft had met in 17 years. Above is pictured George Bancroft with his daughter, Georgette, center, and Mrs. Olivia Broske Bancoft, the actor's present wife.

thoughtful. All the gold in the San Francisco mint, amounting to fifteen hundred million dollars, has been moved from San Francisco to Denver, very quietly. Mr. Morgenthau, Secretary of the Treasury, says he desires "to get the metal permanently out of an area sometimes visited by earthquakes."

You wonder whether Mr. Morgenthau felt authorized to give ALL of the reasons. Other areas are visited by earthquakes, any area may be thus visited. And anyhow, earthquakes do not steal gold, or melt or eat it.

Thought-provoking, for those whose thoughts can be "provoked" by anything, is the official denial "that any serious apprehension existed that there might be a war attack on our Western coast by a foreign power."

There, perhaps, you have the "milk in the cocoanut." If any foreign nation with airplanes, submarines and poison gas came visiting across the Pacific, it would, naturally, like to take back a billion and a half of gold as a souvenir. And moving that gold a little to the east would not do any good. A foreign air fleet could strike San Francisco one day, strike, bomb and asphyxiate Washington, D. C., the next day, and, if not effectively resisted, could collect from us as a first indemnity instalment all the U. S. government's gold, amounting to something over seven thousand, nine hundred and forty-six millions.

You are reminded of Solon's remark to Croesus, richest king on earth, when Croesus showed Solon his treasure:

"Croesus, if any man should come having better iron than you, he would be master of all that gold."

Somebody should say to Uncle Sam, "If anybody should come having better submarines and flying machines than you, he would be master of all that gold that you are moving around so nervously."

Further outbreaks of Arabs against Jews are feared in Constantine, Algeria, where, of 100,000 inhabitants, 50,000 are Jews. General Kieffer, French commander, flying from Paris, adds to the number of soldiers, and doubles the police lines. He found, of twenty-three dead, lying in a row in a hospital, twenty-two were Jews and only one an Arab, indicating that the Jews had been taken by surprise.

Of the dead Jews, four were children, all with their throats cut, which shows the character of the pogrom. The Jewish Telegraph Agency correspondent says:

"Girls have been mutilated, graybearded Jews stabbed to death, little children put to death with knives."

Arabs are said to have murdered Jews from whom they had obtained loans, thus wiping out their debt. The two most conspicuous Jewish families in Constantine were wiped out completely.

SCREEN STARS IN RED PROBE

By Universal Service

Los Angeles, Aug. 9—Abruptly switching from Silver Shirts to Communists, a congressional subcommittee investigating asserted un-American activities was startled when Captain of Detectives William F. Hynes testified large contributions to the Communist party are coming from world-famous Hollywood actors.

He did not name anybody. He said, however, that they are persons of immense wealth and are not all foreign born.

The hearing was secret. Captain Hynes disclosed he made this statement on emerging from the locked chambers.

John F. Smiles, Grandad Again

Former Mayor of Boston, John F. Fitzgerald, who is the undisputed "Sweet Adeline" songster, was on the road to another championship today, that of being the best all-time grandfather.

His daughter, Mrs. Mary Agnes Fitzgerald Gargan, wife of a Boston attorney, gave birth of her third child, a daughter. This makes the ex-mayor's 16th grandchild, nine girls and seven boys. The stork came at St. Margaret's Hospital in Dorchester.

Tong War Averted By 2-Hour Parley

San Francisco, Aug. 9—Fear of a tong war in the Chinatowns of San Francisco and Oakland was dispelled here, police said, when the Chinese Peace Society, after conferring two hours with representatives of rival tongs, announced both sides had agreed to arbitration.

HEAD-ON CRASH INJURES 3

Three persons were injured today in Hyde Park avenue, near Walk Hill street, Forest Hills, when two machines met head on.

The injured were found by officers of the police radio car from the Jamaica Plain police division.

Edward C. Monahan, 38, of Beach street, Jamaica Plain, was operating one of the cars in the direction of Roslindale, while the second car was operated in the opposite direction by Louis Litson, 45, of Bradford street, Dorchester, police said.

Miss Mildred Ross, 27, of Quincy street, Roxbury, was cut about the head, face and body. With the others she was taken to Forest Hills Hospital.

MOTHER IN FEAR WAITS 4TH RENDEZVOUS WITH DEATH

thrice before, they are but shadows who will shuffle one after the other to death, all but lost to notice as the spotlight burns bright on the woman.

They will die just as certainly, but they will be incidents. It is Anna Antonio who dies tonight—a woman, a mother, a husband-killer.

JUST A KILLER'S LIE

Saetta, glum, uncommunicative, lethargic saved her once. At the very last minute, as the witnesses were gathered, the executioner ready, the condemned woman reconciled, he told a new story. It absolved her from all blame.

He killed Salvatore, he said, over a $75 debt. Faracci was there. Saetta didn't know whether Faracci struck a blow or not. It was dark.

But Saetta knew that he himself struck blows and that he killed Salvatore.

Mrs. Antonio? She no have nothing to do with it. No. No.

No one can say for certain, but there are some who think it was a beautiful lie. Saetta, just a background shadow as the light of public interest burns on the woman, did that, they say, for her; took all the blame.

But he has no color, nothing to recommend him to notice; just a fellow who killed another man.

A WOMAN'S SCREAM

Faracci, too, is colorless. Four times he has faced the chair, each time without apparent concern. Before, he didn't even bother to order the big pre-death supper such as other condemned men have consumed with relish.

If he dies tonight, he most likely will walk to death dully, disinterestedly. It is fate. What must be, must be. There are not many Faraccis.

But Anna Antonio? She screams:

"They'll have to carry me. I know it. I have stood the suspense as long as I could. Surely the governor won't let them do this to me."

She was too unnerved to say a word when, late yesterday a guard told her that Supreme Court Justice O. Byron Brewster, at Elizabethtown, had refused her plea for a new trial.

She had asked for a new hearing on the strength of new evidence—the testimony of a priest which confirmed her own story.

The Justice said the new evidence was not such as would have altered the jury decision.

"I am perfectly aware of the gravity of my decision," he said. "I find, however that the difficulty of its rendition is due to considerations that have no proper place in the stern administration of justice, eloquent and potent as they may be at the portals of mercy."

GOVERNOR WAITING

These words were Anna Antonio's single solace today. The Court had spoken of considerations "eloquent and potent" if presented at "the portals of mercy."

Those portals are at Albany—Governor Lehman sits behind them and he said:

"I am remaining in Albany today, and will be available up to the hour set for the execution."

Words of hope? Words of despair? The day alone can tell.

There are three children: Phyllis is nine, Marie is seven and Frankie is only three.

Today is Marie's birthday. Each succeeding year—unless the Governor acts—Marie will mark her birth anniversary; for she will see, dancing in the light of the birthday candles, a woman sitting in a chair—strapped tightly—a hood over her head—her mother.

HER AGONY NIGHT

At 7 a.m. today Mrs. Antonio had not eaten for 24 hours, refusing all food. Sleeping powders were given her last night. They had little effect. She was awake most of the night.

As she sat on her cot, her blanket around her, she said:

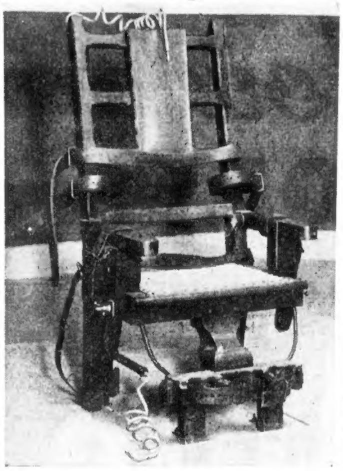
"It looks as if they've all turned me down. God alone can help me.

"I'm not thinking of myself, but of my children. You don't know how terrible it is to be here.

"The Governor knows everything there is to know. Why doesn't he say something?"

Ruth Snyder's Chair Waits Another Wailing Mother

Ruth Snyder, the wife who toyed with love and went wailing to her doom. Mrs. Antonio wails now for her three little children—the children she orphaned even as Ruth Snyder with a bludgeon orphaned her little daughter. (Pictures from International News Photograph Service.)



In this chair Ruth Snyder, husband-killing mother, died. In this chair Anna Antonio is doomed to die tonight. Only the Governor holds the power to give her life. He waits in Albany. He will remain until zero hour strikes for Mrs. Antonio and her two hired assassins.

You don't have to be a real estate expert to know that the rent for a third floor location IS MANY TIMES LESS than for a street floor store.

This saving in rent expense through our third floor location is reflected in our lower prices to you.

Our advertising expenditure, too, is small. Most of our business comes to us through RECOMMENDATION BY SATISFIED CUSTOMERS which costs us nothing, adds nothing to our selling costs and saves dollars for you.

IF you want to save money, the best way to prove to yourself that you SAVE UP TO 40% AT CRAWFORD'S FURRIERS is to inspect our values before you buy . . . anywhere . . . any time.

Diva's Daughter Leaps Into Stardom on Stage Here

By JOYCE DANA

Famous footprints may be imprinted on the shifting sands of time, but if you're in stride, you can follow them.

Adrienne Matzenauer, with the spirit and inspiration of a famous mother and a charm and talent all her own, stepped from the chorus line into a leading role in "Life Begins at 8:40" at the Shubert last night.

It was at the mere drop of a manager's hat, too, and with a minimum of rehearsal and a maximum of youthful assurance. Adrienne sang Miss Frances William's songs and played Miss William's part.

JUST LIKE FICTION

It was on Monday night that the daughter of the Metropolitan Opera's famous contralto for the first time in all her 20 years appeared behind the footlights. Then, just as happens so often in the movies and so seldom in real life, the star stepped out of the part, due to grave illness, and the youngster from the ranks met her big moment face to face.

She admits being thrilled, but not excited. With the smell of grease paint and the glare of the footlights, fond memories of childhood days, spent backstage at some of the world's most famous opera houses, she sees no occasion to be temperamental.

TRAINED BY MOTHER

Stage fright? Never occurred to her! Her poise is as sure as her beauty, which is like her mother's—dark and big-eyed with a flashing smile.

Mme. Marguerite Matzenauer sang Amneris in "Aida" in Philadelphia Tuesday night. But she was in the audience last evening at her only daughter's debut. She's not surprised, but pleased, of course, that opportunity knocked so soon.

She herself has trained the fresh young voice, and even though it's musical comedy and not opera, Madame is happy about it. There is something of the same warmth and color to Miss Adrienne's voice, and a great deal of the prima donna in her stage presence.

The young singer paints, too, and writes. But quite out of a clear sky, she decided about a year ago that she wanted to go on the stage, and when the chances come, as they're bound to, she fancies radio and pictures. So she proceeded in workmanlike manner, got herself an agent, and took the very first job that came along in the big John Murray Anderson revue.

There's still lots of time for bigger and better adventures. For after all, it was only 20 years ago, when her mother was appearing in opera here, that Adrienne was born on St. Stephens street.

The late and great Enrico Caruso was her godfather, and William Cardinal O'Connell officiated at the baptism. Now another Matzenauer milestone must be chalked up the records for Boston. Miss Matzenauer thinks it is the finest city in the United States. And why not?

Tribe Who Believe Selves Only Humans Discovered

By Associted Press

New York, Aug. 9—The discovery of an African tribe of lake dwellers who believed themselves to be the only humans on earth was described today by Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson who returned on the liner Manhattan from a twenty-months air expedition through the Dark Continent.

This tribe lives on a small island in Lake Rudolph, which lies partly in Kenya and partly in Abyssinia. The Johnsons reached the lake, which hitherto they had found inaccessible, by using two amphibian planes.

TRIBE DYING

Johnson described the tribe, which numbered 70 natives, as a "dying" remnant of the African race who were too stupid to be particularly interested in the arrival of white people from out of the air. Johnson said:

"They were somewhat startled, and we learned that it had never occurred to them that other human beings might inhabit the earth, or, for that matter, that the earth existed beyond the shores of their lake.

"They have no agriculture and not even any canoes to leave their island. They live on practically nothing but fish. Once over their slight surprise, they accepted us calmly.

ALL ARE SKINNY

"These people are extremely skinny, with enlarged knee and elbow joints. There are no other natives near them. I think they will die out completely before many years. There are only a few children, and they are all weak and sickly."

The Johnsons flew about 35,000 miles, using their home in Nairobi as a base. Their trip was cut short when Mrs. Johnson was stricken ill, and they flew to Paris, where she entered a hospital.

School of Whales Ashore at Orleans

Orleans, Aug. 9 (AP)—A school of 75 blackfish, ranging in length from 16 to 25 feet, the largest weighing more than a ton, attracted hundreds of summer residents of Cape Cod to the Rock Harbor beach today.

Apparently stranded as they fed on smaller fish, the school, a species of whale, was left high and dry when the tide receded, and died before the water again reached them.

THE NEW HAVEN R.R.

PRESIDENT HITS NEW DEAL FOES

manufacturers who, in overwhelming numbers, are comparing the black ink of today with the red ink of many years gone by; to the workers who have achieved under the National Recovery Administration rights for which they fought unsuccessfully for a generation; to the men and women whose willing hands found no work and who have been saved from starvation by government relief."

He found confidence returning, too, to children saved from child labor; to business men and bankers finding government cooperation in putting "the golden rule into the temples of finance"; to home owners and small investors saved from losses.

WARNING TO UNFAIR

He said:

"These are the elements that make for confidence in the future."

And, as though to instill further confidence in business, he pursued :

He added:

"The process we follow in seeking social justice do not in adding to general prosperity take from one, give to another. In this modern world the spreading out of opportunity oght not to consist of robbing Peter to pay Paul. We are concerned with more than mere subtraction and addition. We are concerned with the multiplication of wealth through co-operative action—wealth in which all can share."

FRIENDS OF "DEAL"

As for party alignments he remarked significantly:

"Your two Senators, both old friends of mine, and many others have worked with me in maintaining excellent co-operation between the executive and legislative branches of the government."

Senator Robert M. LaFollette, Republican independent and sponsor of the new state political party, is up for re-election. F. Ryan Duffy, Democrat, is the other Senator from Wisconsin, elected in 1932.

The President emphasized that: "These high purposes must be accompanied by cooperation among those charged by the people with the duties of government. I am glad to be in a state from which I have greatly drawn in setting up the permanent and temporary agencies of government."

As he spoke of the friends of the "New Deal", the President talked out also about the opponents.

HAS GIVEN ACTION

He said:

"In one year and five months, the people of the United States have received at least a partial answer to their demands for action.

"But action may be delayed by two types of individuals.

"First there is the man whose objectives are wholly right and wholly progressive but who declines to co-operate or even to discuss methods of arriving at the objectives because he insists on his own methods and nobody else's.

"The other type to which I refer is the individual who demands some message of the people of the United States that will restore what he calls 'confidence.'

"When I hear this I cannot help but remember the pleas made by the government and certain types of so-called 'big business' all through the years 1930, 1931 and 1932 that the only thing lacking in the United States was confidence."

NEW DEAL PLEA

And thus, Mr. Roosevelt declared out here in "a state destined for extraordinary achievements," his principles for the future. He said:

"In the great national movement that culminated in 1932, people joined with enthusiasm. They lent hand and voice to the common cause, irrespective of many older political traditions. They saw the dawn of a new day. They were on the march; they were coming back into the possession of their own home land."

It sounded to some like the call for a new political alignment. It was delivered in a state where such is going on.

NUDE WRANGLE SWELLS GATE

Gloucester, Aug. 9—Very naively, police confessed today that there might have been a lot of controversy about nude pictures being shown in the Cape Ann Art Week exhibit, but the main thing to be considered was that so far there were 4700 paid admissions.

Not that the watchdogs of the law benefited, because they didn't, but just by way of passing, they remarked that these figures compared with less than 3300 last year.

NOW THE LIGHTS SHINE

The name of the publicity agent who stirred up the controversy about "Composition," the drawing of Miss Anne Neumark, of Commonwealth avenue, was still a secret.

And, with all the excitement occasioned by protests from one source or another, Miss Neumark's study of two unclad females and an undraped male figure was still being shown in the window of Blanchard's jewelry store.

Today, and last night, however, the controversial drawing was illustrated with electric ligts—the better to see it, my dear.

Police and even aldermen themselves scoffed at reports that the municipal council had devoted itself at a "special" meeting to a study of the art dispute.

MARKET RISING

In the first place, said councillors, last night's meeting wasn't special. It was a regular meeting and if art was discussed, it was jut in passing, they said.

For all of that, the market on nudes was rising, and many an exhibitor was regretting that he had spent his time painting sea scenes when he might have cashed in on "see scenes."

PUBLIC IS HELD BEST CENSOR

By Associated Press

Detroit, Aug. 9—A statement by Archbishop John T. McNicholas of the archdiocese of Cincinnati stresses the advantages of public opinion over censorship in regulation of motion pictures.

Archbishop McNicholas is chairman of the bishop's committee on motion picture reform. His statement giving the stand of the Catholic bishops on the purposes of the Legion of Decency appears in the current issue of the American Ecclesiastical Review. It says in part:

"Public opinion must now be aroused and sustained everywhere as the strongest barrier against the immoral cinema. Public opinion has many advantages over censorship that may be politically controlled or corrupted.

"It may be well to make clear that the church is not asking for a solemn type of picture that gives no real amusement. The Catholic Church is broad and liberal, and no legitimate recreation need fear her opposition.

"The motion pictures teach our children more vividly and leave more lasting impressions than the schools. When they assume the role of teacher, they have no more right to promote evil than they would have to defend arson, theft, confiscation of private property, or murder."

Locks Door But Cash Is Stolen

Uniontown, Pa., Aug. 9—Anton Pepe, Oliphant store keeper, remembered the old proverb and went to lock his stable door with the horse still there.

When he returned to his store, the door of which he had left unlocked, he found thieves had stolen $30 from the cash register.

MOTOR UNIONS WIDEN BREACH WITH A. F. OF L.

By Universal Service

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 9—Wholesale secession of automobile workers from the ranks of American Federation of Labor affiliates was predicted here with the announcement from Pontiac that two of the largest of the A. F. of L. locals were planning to swing over to the newly organized Associated Automobile Workers of America.

Arthur E. Greer, temporary chairman of the Hudson local of the new organization said the revolt which already has claimed nearly 7000 members of the A. F. of L. in Detroit, is spreading throughout the country.

PROTEST ON LEADER

In Pontiac, hundreds of members of the General Motors truck and Fisher Body locals, affiliated with the American Federation and known as the United Auto Workers of America, are ready to go over to the new group, Greer said.

Union employes of the Fisher Body Co. in Cleveland today forwarded a telegram to William Green, president of the A. F. of L., expressing displeasure with the leadership of William Collins, auto union organizer.

Decision of 6000 Pontiac automobile workers as to whether they will join the new union is expected to be reached today.

4000 TO CHANGE

Tice Woody, president of the General Motors local, the first one to organize under the A. F. of L. banner during the industry's strike there last spring, estimated that nearly 4000 members are ready to swing to the new union. Woody said:

"There need be no secret of our feeling in the matter. A vast majority of our members are ready for the change and no doubt will make it immediately.

"We feel that the Associated Automobile Workers is more representative of labor than the A. F. of L. group headed by William Collins."

DOCTOR, DOG TO SHARE GRAVE

Dr. Mitchell, who died on July 24, bequeathed $100,000 to the Franklin County Memorial Hospital of Farmington, Me.

To the First Congregational Church of Kimball, Me., he left the income of $30,000. Dr. Mitchell practiced 50 years in Medfield.

Dr. Mitchell instructed that all his animals "should be killed in the most humane manner and suitably buried."

In his will was a diagram of the burial ground, marking the joint grave for himself and "Jack," his favorite hunting companion. This dog died some time ago.

Other bequests were $1200 to be paid to his wife for the rest of her life and $600 yearly to Mary Haskell, "in appreciation of the tender care she gave my mother during her last illness."

Dr. Alexander Beckwith, country doctor and close friend of Dr. Mitchell, was bequeathed $480 yearly.

Rogers Case Calls Out Lindbergh Law

New York, Aug. 9 (AP)—The Federal Government, acting under the "Lindbergh Law," today took over the prosecution of John F. Cvanega, arrested Tuesday by local police on a charge of attempting to extort $10,000 from Henry H. Rogers, Standard Oil millionaire, by threatening harm to his wife.

When Federal officers presented a warrant for Cvanega's arrest today, Magistrate Jonah J. Goldstein dismissed the suspicion of blackmail against him, "without prejudice," which means that the local authorities are free to resume prosecution if the Federal charge fails.

WASH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

Win Back Pep . . . Vigor . . . Vitality

Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 MILES of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. They should pour out thru the bladder 3 pints of fluid a day which contains 4 pounds of waste matter.

If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amount causing burning and discomfort, the 15 MILES of kidney tubes need washing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and vitality, getting up nights, lumbago, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

If kidneys don't empty 3 pints every day and get rid of 4 pounds of waste matter, your body will take up these poisons causing serious trouble. It may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS . . . a doctor's prescription . . . which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give quick relief and will help to wash out the 15 MILES of kidney tubes.

But don't take chances with strong drugs or so-called "kidney cures" that claim to fix you up in 15 minutes. Your common sense will tell you that this is impossible. Treatments of this nature may seriously injure and irritate delicate tissues. Insist on DOAN'S PILLS . . . the old reliable relief that contain no "dope" or [illegible]it-forming drugs. Be sure you get DO[illegible]S PILLS at your druggist. © 1934, Foste[illegible]ilburn Co.

CLUB NEW CLUE IN SLAYING OF VETERAN

Ashby, Aug. 9—Upon Captain Charles J. Van Amburgh, state ballistics expert, today rested the responsibility of determining whether a flail found in the Foster farmhouse barn was the weapon that killed 80-year-old Walter E. Tanner, a Spanish War veteran.

The flail was found by police in the very building that they believe was the scene of Tanner's murder.

It is three and a half feet long with a wooden handle. On it were found several strands of hair that resemble the dead man's, and marks that police regard as bloodstains.

Dr. George Burgess Magrath of Boston and Medical Examiner Frank S. Bulkeley declared, however, that the hairs on the weapon were by no means conclusive proof of evidence.

YOUTH AGAIN GRILLED

For all of that, however, discovery of the weapon came while officials were questioning for the second time in three days a 16-year-old youth who was formerly employed on the Foster farm.

The youth admitted he had often visited Tanner at the farm and had done some work for him, officials said.

He still insisted, police said, that he saw Tanner Monday afternoon although an autopsy determined the caretaker was dead at midnight Sunday.

NEW LEAD UNCOVERED

A short time after their interview with the boy, officials said they had uncovered a clue that may result in solution of the murder.

State officials working with Chief of Police Howard F. Damon are of the opinion that Tanner was slain by someone known to the caretaker and with whom he quarrelled in the barn near the farm house. The body was carried into the bedroom in which it was found.

Major Beck Discounts War

Major Edwin Tyrrell Beck, D. S. O., M. C., of London, England, is at Swampscott on a six months' sabbatical leave with his wife, who was Dorothy Bathrick of Boston, daughter of John J. Bathrick. Major Beck says his country does not look for war in Europe for a long time, if at all during our generation. (Picture by Boston Evening American Staff Photographer.)

Beck Sees Preparedness as War Insurance

Major Edwin Tyrrell Beck, D. S. O., M. C., of London, Eng., who is in the United States with his wife on a six months' sabbatical leave, finds himself quite at home in Boston.

In the words of H. G. Wells, he has discovered, he said, today, at the Ocean House at Swampscott, where he is stopping, that "Boston is more London than London."

The distinguished-looking Britisher, who became thoroughly acquainted with the old Germany through his service with the army of occupation, declared that his country does not look for war in Europe for a long time, if at all during our generation. He declared:

"All Europe is bankrupt and lacks a war chest. In England we don't think there is the faintest possibility of war and insurance against war, we believe, is complete preparedness."

Hitler, in the opinion of the British officer, represents "the Prussian point of view and, despite his protestations to the contrary, would welcome a war if Germany could support one enonomically."

Before her marriage to Major Beck two years ago in London, Mrs. Beck was Doris Bathrick of Boston, daughter of John J. Bathrick of Pasadena and Boston. Last June she was presented at the Court of St. James by Lady Swam.

MacDonald Sails for Newfoundland

POLICE BLAMED FOR BEATING

Two Brighton policemen were were charged with beating up an Allston man early today, in a series of fights in various sections of the city that sent four men to hospitals.

The Allston victim, whose name was placed on the danger list at City Hospital, first said he was Herbert Reed, 32, of Fordham road, Allston, but later changed to Reardon, police said.

He was found in an unconscious condition today in Harvard avenue, Allston, shortly after the night shift of police had changed.

When he failed to respond to first aid at the Brighton station, he was taken to City hospital where doctors said he suffered deep lacerations about the head and serious brain injuries. He was treated at Brighton station by Dr. Joseph W. Devine, police physician.

In other wards of City hospital, Cornelius O'Leary, 21, of West Newton street, South End, and Walter McDonough, 27, of West Broadway, South Boston, occupied cots as the result of beatings. An unidentified man was at Haymarket Relief station for the same reason.

'SPIRIT' CHOSEN SCIENCE TOPIC

"Spirit" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Aug. 12.

The Golden text is:

"This is the word of the Lord unto Zerubbabel, saying, Not by might, nor by power, but by my spirit, saith the Lord of hosts."

DRIVER MISSING AFTER CRASH

Wayland police today were at a loss to explain the smash-up of an automobile belonging to Thomas J. Judge, 38, employed at the Back Bay postal sub station, of 19 Forbes street, Jamaica Plain, who has a summer home near Cochituate.

Chief Harry Craig and his men found the car wrecked after it plowed into a tree with a crash that roused the countryside.

They were unable to find any trace of Judge, either at his home or in a hospital or in the nearby woods.

Believing that the man might be seriously injured and in need of immediate medical aid, a thorough search was conducted for him, but without result. A check on doctors' offices gave no clue to his whereabouts.

DRYS TO ENTER STATE RACE

The Massachusetts Prohibition party will file petitions at the State House today placing an entire slate of candidates upon the November state election ballot for the first time in 12 years, Oscar McKenney, executive secretary of the party, announced.

An extensive campaign throughout the state is planned. McKenney said that between 1000 and 2000 names will be attached to the petitions filed with the secretary of state.

The list of candidates include: Governor, Freeman W. Follett, of Haverhill; Lieutenant Governor, Mrs. Florence L. Lawton, Worcester; Secretary of State, William B. Taylor, of Plympton; Treasurer, William R. Ferry, Newton, and Auditor, Irma Adelaide Rich, of Boston.

'Spike' Spikes Trip Report

By International News Service

Chicago, Aug. 9—Spike O'Donnell was amozed today to learn that he had been reported as sneaking into England. The former beer baron is in no condition to sneak any place, as he is nursing a broken leg.

Considerable mystery surrounds the events that led to Spike's breaking his leg.

It was reported in London that Scotland Yard and the home office were investigating a report that Spike had slipped past immigration authorities and was appearing in vaudeville.

Thief Drops Eight Pair of Trousers

Providence, R. I., Aug. 9—Having one pair of trousers stolen is bad enough, but eight pairs approaches a catastrophe.

When a youth snatched eight pairs from a table in the second hand store of Samuel Schnabel here, he gave chase until the thief dropped his trousers—Schnabel's. Incidentally, Schnabel had his own trousers on when he started pursuit.

Today and every day you will find good used cars advertised in the Automobile-For-Sale columns of the American and Advertiser.

Mary Silent

Mary Pickford, was silent in Chicago today regarding the return to this country from England of her estranged husband, Douglas Fairbanks. Friends of the couple hinted that a reconciliation was imminent. (Picture from International News Photograph Service.)

Groombridge Out for Sheriff's Post

George D. Groombridge of Somerville today filed nomination papers for sheriff of Middlesex County. Groombridge is well known in the county for his connection with Republican political affairs.

He has been active in Somerville politics for over 25 years, and is a former member of the Republican Ward and City Committee.

ROMANCE SEEN ENDED IN TRIP

By International News Service

Paris, Aug. 9—With Douglas Fairbanks on the high seas, supposedly bound for America, reports became current along the French Riviera today that his supposed romance with Lady Sylvia Ashley, former British actress, whose husband, Lord Ashley, is suing for divorce, may be on the rocks.

These reports were coupled with revived rumors that Fairbanks is hurrying home to effect a reconciliation with Mary Pickford and induce her to withdraw the divorce action she has begun against him.

GOODBYE FORGOTTEN

One story current on the Riviera today is that in his wild rush from Monte Carlo to Villefranche yesterday to catch the liner Rex, the movie star didn't even take time to say goodbye to Lady Ashley, who is at Roquebrune.

She told International News Service today she didn't believe Douglas was going to America, and suggested that he might disembark at Gibraltar.

Lady Ashley said that her own plans were uncertain and that she had no immediate intention of going to America, although it is understood that she is considering a Hollywood film offer.

PLANS MAY CHANGE

When she was asked whether Fairbanks' sudden trip with Joseph Schenck, film producer, meant cancellation of his plans for an air-trip to China, Lady Ashley said:

"Oh, you can't tell. He might do that and he might do something else. Everything is uncertain."

The correspondent asked his final question, "Anyway, I suppose you knew beforehand that Doug was sailing on the Rex?"

Attempt to Rescue Byrd Again Fails

Little America, Aug. 9 (US)—Forced to turn back on the second attempt to reach Rear Admiral Byrd at his isolated outpost at Bolling Advance Base, Dr. Thomas Poulter and his tractor party returned to Little America.

Mechanical difficulties forced the expedition to return. A third attempt to reach Rear Admiral Byrd is to be made.

OCEAN FLIERS UNREPORTED OVER SEA

By International News Service

[illegible], Aug. 9—The two Canadian fliers, James Ayling and Leonard Reid, who hopped off [illegible] yesterday in an attempt to better the long distance flight [illegible] Bagdad, had [illegible] 9 a.m. [illegible]

[illegible] passenger [illegible] and [illegible] equipped [illegible] had been [illegible]

WEATHER FAVORABLE

The air ministry, after [illegible] a special weather survey for International News Service, reported that the fliers would experience exceptionally favorable weather conditions while [illegible] of [illegible] coast.

In this area they would have a [illegible] wind on their tail and be [illegible] to make remarkable speed over [illegible] to the continent.

However, the air ministry pointed [illegible] between Newfoundland and [illegible] point they must have experienced considerable low clouds and [illegible] necessitating hard flying [illegible] of transoceanic fliers.

Over southern Ireland and Southern France they also would [illegible] low clouds but throughout [illegible] they would have the benefit of a good following wind, according to the air ministry.

RECORD SOUGHT

The fliers, who have had [illegible] long distance flight experience, are seeking to better the [illegible] made last year by Paul Codos and Maurice Rossi, when they flew from New York to Rayak, Syria, a distance of 5657 miles. The distance from their starting point to Bagdad is approximately 6300 miles.

The plane in which they are flying is not equipped with radio. It is the plane in which Jimmy Mollison and his wife, Amy, attempted to take off on a similar attempt to break the long distance record.

WALSH ASSAILS SHIP CODE

Washington, Aug. 9—The Navy was urged by Senator David I. Walsh (D-Mass.) to seek a revision of the Shipbuilding Code [illegible] to labor before [illegible] Aug. 15 for construction of 24 [illegible] vessels.

Walsh said the Senate committee investigating [illegible] abuses, of which he is chairman, was informed that [illegible] provisions in the code were less beneficial to labor than the [illegible]-Bacon act calling for payment of prevailing wages on government or public works administration labor regulations.

Jim Digs in the Ruins

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Jim Farley is much pleased with his tour. But Jim wasn't looking at the same things as Mr. Roosevelt.

Jim was exploring the ruins of cliff, valley and mesa Republicans.

While the President was gazing at drought Our James was [illegible] among the deserted [illegible] which had once been G. O. P. community palaces.

He found some splendid examples of early 1932 pottery and woven baskets, and says they were once used as loving cups and ballot boxes.

[illegible] it grieves James to [illegible] that descendants of these tribes still use a weapon that he describes as a boomerang.

This boomerang is tossed at the administration from political ambush and returns to knock the thrower's hat off. Boy, if that's funny in the Sunday comic papers it should be funny anywhere.

We had to Build

THE WORLD'S NEWEST, BIGGEST, MOST MODERN REFINING UNIT TO CREATE

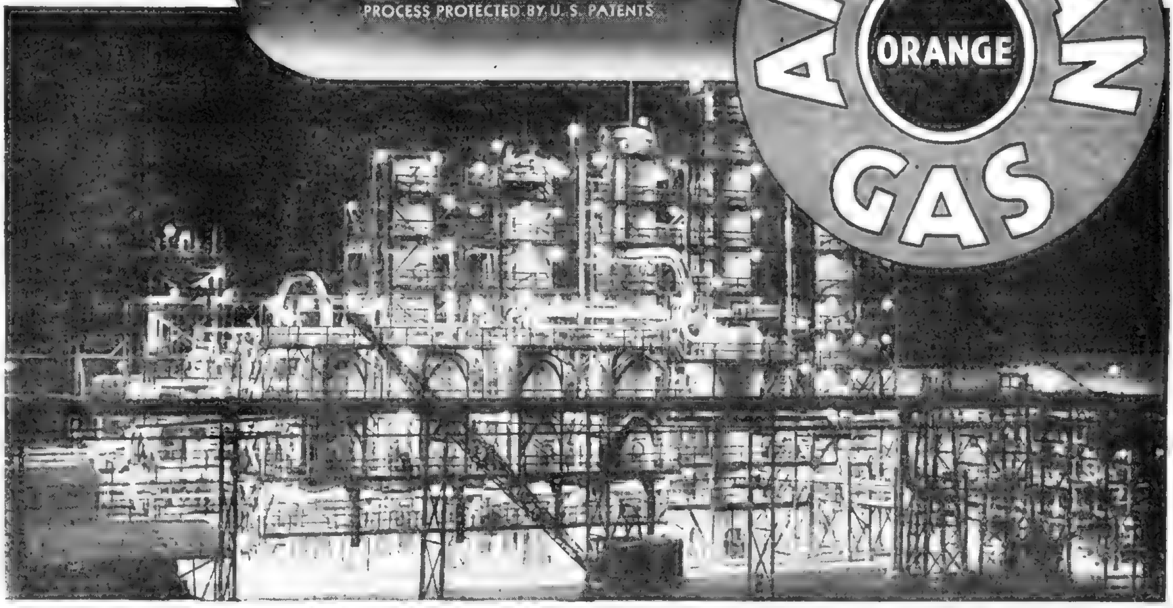
AMERICAN ORANGE GAS



TO create "New-Action" Orange American Gas with existing refinery facilities was impossible. We had to build a new refinery—to adapt an entirely different principle of refining to produce "New-Action" Orange American Gas.

MORE ENERGY FROM THE CRUDE OILS

Up to now a great deal of the energy and other valuable properties in basic crude oil have been going to waste. With existing equipment, it has been impossible to convert the full value of the raw crudes into finished gasoline.

The petroleum industry has spent millions trying to put more of the undeveloped properties in the raw crude to work. And that's just what's been accomplished in the mammoth new refining unit just completed by the American Oil Company at Texas City, Texas.

NEW SUSTAINING* POWER

By a new and different refining principle, "New-Action" Orange American Gas is scientifically balanced, has no idle components, no dead or waste ends, and what's more, has greater SUSTAINING* POWER. The superior properties built-in the gasoline at the refinery "stay put" under actual working conditions in your motor, with less loss of efficiency between refinery and road performance than has ever before been possible.

NEW PERFORMANCE ON THE ROAD

That ability of "New-Action" Orange American Gas to sustain its quality is distinctly new among gasolines. It is of the utmost value to you, as a motorist, concerned with the quality of the gasoline you put into your car, rather than with its quality at the refinery.

"New-Action" Orange American Gas brings you sustained new action—better anti-knock—surer power—easier riding—quicker starting—readier acceleration—more miles—better performance and lower costs!

Try "New-Action" Orange American! It's truly the last word in regular gasoline—years ahead of any regular gasoline you've ever used—tomorrow's gasoline today. Sold at regular gas price by thousands of American dealers and stations from Maine to Florida and inland.

* SUSTAINING POWER—the retaining of efficiency between refinery and road performance.

SOME INTERESTING FACTS

about the world's biggest, best, newest refining unit at Texas City, Texas

The refinery covers 450 acres of land.

It required an average of 2,[illegible] men per day—a period of nine months to actually construct the refinery, aside from time consumed in planning.

The refining unit is the most modern in the world—adopting the latest discoveries and innovations in the art of refining.

An idea of the mammoth size of the refining unit can be obtained from the following:

1. In a single operating day this unit will produce enough gasoline to run an average automobile 9,000,[illegible] miles, or about [illegible] times around the earth at the equator.
2. Six 8-room houses could be set inside a single one of its furnaces.
3. One of its fractionating towers—most massive ever built—is as high as a seven-story building.
4. 40½ miles of piping were used just in two furnaces to provide the required heat exchange surface.
5. This unit will turn out enough heavy bunker oil in a single day to produce, if used in making electric power, current sufficient to provide the home lighting requirements of [illegible] people.
6. In addition, [illegible] of kerosene, furnace oil for home heating and gas are [illegible]

TOWN SEETHES AT 'WALKOUT BY DOCTORS

Milford, Aug 9—A "walkout" of doctors from their posts as physicians to members of fraternal orders caused a turmoil in this town today.

Three leading doctors have already handed in their resignations and [illegible] were expected to follow shortly. The action of the physicians followed a decision of the Thurber Medical Society of Milford to [illegible] fraternal work.

COMPLAINT ON HOURS

According to the medicos, members of fraternal organizations who are privileged to call the fraternal doctors for themselves or their families have summoned doctors at unreasonable hours for minor ailments. A fixed annual sum ranging from $500 to $1200 is paid the doctor by the society.

First to resign was Dr. Nicholas J. C[illegible] of West street, who quit [illegible] of Italy post. Then Dr. Nicholas A. Mastroianni resigned as physician to the Milford Aerie of Eagles.

REPRISAL THREAT

Most recent to tender his resignation was Dr. George F. Curley of the Milford F. and A. and Companions of the Forest. Other fraternal physicians were expected to resign [illegible] resignations to take effect next October.

[illegible] by the fraternal organizations has been threatened [illegible] doctors may be brought [illegible] replace local ones who have [illegible]. But since the Thurber [illegible] Society controls the local [illegible] might have a [illegible] time to obtain proper facilities.

BAPTISTS WARN OF RED EVIL

By Associated Press

Berlin, Aug 9—One of the most [illegible] challenges to christianity is [illegible] made by Communism, Dr. M. E. Dodd, president of the Southern Baptist convention said [illegible] to the World [illegible] Congress here.

[illegible] Communism and Christianity [illegible] in opposite directions and churches must provide a substitute for Communism or succumb to it, Dr. Dodd said. He declared:

"There are many voices crying above the confusion claiming to have a remedy for the sick world, some of these voices are Nationalism, Bolshevism, Industrialism and Socialism. But their appeals are geographical, racial and class.

"But there is one other voice, Communism, which does claim [illegible] implications. It claims to transcend all boundary lines. Communism asks for nothing less than world dominion, even the dethronement of God and the overthrow of all existing order.

"Communism therefore stands as the one supreme challenge to Christianity. The giant stalks in the valley hurling defiance at Israel's god.

Young Rothschild Barred at London Cafe as Jew

By Universal Service

London, Aug 9—Victor Rothschild, 24-year-old heir to the Rothschild barony, was refused a meal in a fashionable London roadhouse because he was a Jew, the London News Chronicle reported here.

The newspaper quoted young Rothschild as stating in a telephoney conversation from Le Touquet:

"A group of friends and I dropped in on a London roadhouse for food. Soon after we entered a man, apparently the manager, asked me:

"'Excuse me sir, are you a Jew'?

"Since my appearance in any case is hardly Aryan, I told him I was a Jew. He said he was sorry, but in that case he could not serve me and that I would have to leave.

"No explanation was offered me, and we left presently, not in the least worried about the matter."

POTTER PALMER HEIR BORN

An heir was born today in Chicago to the former Rose Saltonstall Movius, formerly of 208 Beacon street, in the Back Bay, and now the wife of Potter Palmer 3rd, master of Chicago's famed "castle."

His name, like that of his father and grandfather before him, is the first in Chicago's Blue Book.

The baby, already named Potter Palmer 4th, was born in Northwestern University's Passavant Memorial Hospital, a scant half mile from the towered and turreted brownstone Potter Palmer mansion, the outstanding showplace on Chicago's Lake Shore drive.

Mrs. Hallum Movius, grandmother of the baby boy, is in Chicago now, and reports that mother and child are "simply fine."

Son Betrothed at Bridal Fete

The 25th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Moger of 4 Carlisle street, Roxbury, was celebrated last night with the announcement of the engagement of their son, I. Arthur Moger, former Boston Evening American artist.

He is engaged to Dora Esther Lurensky, of Ruthven street, Roxbury. She is a graduate of the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy. Moger is in the theatrical business.

K. OF C. TO BACK CLEAN FILMS

By Universal Service

Los Angeles, Aug. 9—State Deputy William T. Sweigert of the Knights of Columbus, head of the order in California, today announced his plan to appoint a special K. of C. commission to further the Legion of Decency's drive for clean motion pictures. Sweigert declared:

"The demand for the abolition of objectionable films is not temporary. The campaign will continue until the morally offensive cinema is a thing of the past.

"The Knights of Columbus are pleased with the response film producers have made, but we want to warn the motion picture industry that it is not possible to comply with the legion's demands merely by shelving indecent pictures for the time being. Decency on the screen is here to stay.

"We want to point out also that we resent insinuations that [illegible] formers or 'bluenoses.' The Catholic hierarchy and the members of the church always have advocated personal liberty; but the glorification of sin cannot be countenanced."

Satin Shirtmaker Changes Color With Season

SUMMER satin pastels deepen and darken with the passing of the season into autumn, and we find the popular shirtmaker frock in black satin with a white pencil stripe.

It's the kind of frock that manages to look svelte and well-turned out after a day's grind at a desk.

A pleated bosom, white collar, buttons and a rhinestone buckle twinkling down the front, are all in a gay mood. Sleeves are a comfortable length for warm weather, long enough for cooler days, as well.

Athletes Need Hearty Late Breakfast

By Martha Lee

From Martha Lee's Wednesday Morning Broadcast Over Station WAAB

THE ADVENT of a holiday means special timing of meals to accommodate the plans of all members of the family. Father and John will golf at seven or earlier. About ten or eleven they will return, accompanied by the other members of the "foresome" to inquire, "Is breakfast ready?" It will take the usual breakfast plus extra "trimmings" to fill up the athletes.

Waffles are an answer to the question. The batter may be prepared ahead and kept in the refrigerator until needed. Then let the eaters "bake their own" right at the table. Supplement the waffles with bacon and while this is being grilled and the waffles are cooking serve large bowls of ready-to-eat cereal and berries as an appetizer.

A breakfast casserole dish of sausages and eggs in a bed of corn spoon bread may take the place of the waffles.

SOME BREAKFAST SUGGESTIONS

Cantaloupe, cereal, omelet celestine, bran cornbread with bacon, coffee. Berries, cereal, bran waffles supreme, bacon, syrup, coffee. Orange juice, cereal with bananas, sausage-egg casserole, coffee.

BRAN WAFFLES SUPREME

2 eggs (separated)
1½ cups sweet milk
¾ cup bran
1⅓ cups flour
4 tsps. baking powder
1 tsp. salt
2 tbsps. sugar
½ cup melted butter

Beat egg yolks slightly, add milk and bran, and let soak while sifting dry ingredients. Stir sifted dry ingredients into the liquid mixture; add melted butter and fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in a hot waffle iron until no steam is visible. Yield: 6 waffles.

SAUSAGE-EGG CASSEROLE

2 cups milk
½ cup cornmeal
1½ tsps. salt
½ cup bran
8 small sausages
4 eggs

Bring milk to a boil, add the salt. Add the cornmeal gradually and cook, stirring until thick. Add the bran and spread in the bottom of a buttered baking dish or casserole. Partially cook the sausages in hot water. Arrange on top of the cornmeal mixture and carefully break the eggs in the spaces between the sausages. Bake in hot oven until eggs are cooked and sausages are brown. Yield, 4 servings.

Vinegar and Horseradish Is Urged

By Juliet Shelby

ARE YOU a heliophobe? If you are you've been through horrid struggles with those persistent unwelcome pests that stand out like shining copper pennies on your skin.

There are two schools of thought when it comes to freckles. The do's and the don'ts. No bleach, however potent and effective, has ever touched the skin of a don't. Like taxes and the poor they believe freckles will always be with them, and that's as far as they care to go.

[illegible] work themselves into a [illegible], plastering everything on their poor epidermis that ever came out of a bottle. Sometimes it works, more often it doesn't.

If you don't know what a heliophobe is, I'll let you in on the secret. It's a person with that quality of skin which we associate with bronze-red hair, dreading [illegible] freckles.

There are certain cosmetics and treatments that help to bleach out freckles, but let me warn you that there is nothing that will keep them from coming back. They will even come back after a skin peel if you don't give them proper protection.

If you are this type of beauty, keep out of the sun or wear large hats whenever you venture beneath an unclouded heaven. If you are a sun-worshipper you'll probably let your freckles go, [illegible] bask in the open on wind-swept beaches and in the fall use a good freckle lotion and get rid of them. I think that's pretty good logic because you can't have your cake and eat it too.

A mixture of pure cider vinegar and freshly grated horseradish is often helpful in bleaching out freckles. And there is a wax on the market that peels the skin gradually and thereby rids the afflicted area of the pests.

If you are really serious about getting rid of freckles, I know of a splendid treatment that will help you. It's so inexpensive that your budget won't even know it and it's an efficient [illegible]. I also have an excellent cucumber bleach made with [illegible] cucumbers, peroxide and [illegible] that you may like to [illegible].

To learn how to make and apply these freckle bleaches, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Juliet Shelby, Boston Evening American, Boston.

Announcing Betrothal

By MRS. BEECKMAN

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I know that it is not correct to send out engagement announcements . . . that they must be written by my mother, but I am at a loss to know the correct form. Many of the people we plan to send announcements to are not known to either my mother or myself. Just what would the wording be in this case?

W.

You are right that it is not correct to send engraved or printed engagement announcements. But the announcements of your engagement are not written by your mother. The procedure is this: when you are ready to make this announcement, you naturally tell your relatives and close friends first, going to see them, if possible, and writing them notes when the personal visit isn't possible. Your fiance does the same thing.

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Recently I was visiting relatives in a distant state and while there I met a young man who took me out several times. I am now back home and I would like to write him and thank him. Would that be correct?

READER

Not only would it be correct for you to write this young man to thank him, but it would be a gracious and thoughtful thing for you to do.

Good Defense Analysis Often Dooms Play to Failure

The bidding needs no comment except that perhaps North should have raised the spades to four and not placed too much of the bidding burden on the South player. After his partner's notrump bid, West decided he could not lose anything [illegible] opening the heart [illegible]. When East played a low card—a negative [illegible] We [illegible] shift [illegible] were [illegible] Ace [illegible] Dummy and [illegible] size up the situation. He [illegible] to lose a [illegible] the Ace [illegible]

[illegible] he also knew that the club [illegible] was [illegible]. He saw a ray of hope, however. He returned to his own hand by overtaking Dummy's heart Queen with his own King and [illegible] up with the Ace in Dummy [illegible] promptly returned a low card [illegible]. East [illegible] completely on the spot. He was [illegible] of the possibility that South might be making a tricky play, but [illegible] could not be certain that South did not have a singleton [illegible] and was not trying to set up a [illegible] card by stuffing out the King. He was [illegible] of the possibility that if he went up with the club King and [illegible] trumped, South could [illegible] the Dummy by trumping a [illegible] heart and get a discard for his [illegible] diamond before losing a [illegible] to the spade Ace.

With no absolutely sure way of [illegible], East decided to duck the club and play his partner for the Jack. South of course triumphantly won the trick with the Jack in his own hand and was then able to claim four odd, merely conceding the top trump to the opponents.

I must admit that the opportunity to make the type of play which [illegible] get away with arises [illegible] infrequently and even though the opportunity is there, good analysis by the defense will doom the play to failure at least half the time. But at any rate it worked this time.

Pandora Tells You

DEAR PANDORA:

Recently, I heard a lecturer say that marriage is monotony. Then he said it was boredom. Finally, he wound up by asserting that there are too many humdrum marriages.

Now I don't mean to hand myself or my husband any orchids, but our marriage is anything but monotonous or boring. We've been married twenty-two years and we're never at a loss for something to say to each other.

From the beginning of our married life we've always taken two nights out. It is my husband's idea. It's always a surprise where we're going. It used to be those little Italian places where you could get a glass of wine and a table d'hote dinner for 50 cents. Of course, as my husband's financial status improved we went to more choice places, but, every now and then, when we're in a particularly sentimental mood, we go to one of these little hideaways and there, in an atmosphere positively reeking with garlic, we manage to feel genuinely romantic. I wouldn't change places with the most lovelorn young couple you might mention. Do you blame me?

MOLLIE, Swampscott.

Dear Mollie:

Blame you? Mollie, you're to be envied. You've got what it takes, you and your husband, to make a real marriage. It's the people who are concerned with externals, who live their entire lives on the surface, who find life monotonous and boring. Here's to the star-shine in your eye, Mollie, and may life always be a lilting adventure for you! PANDORA.

Clever Back Panel

By Marian Martin

PATTERN 9085

There is no getting away from the fact that the most delightful sort of chic is simple. If you have any doubts about it look at this frock. It proves the point conclusively. It is smart simplicity with real lines—see it in the way the front panel of the bodice is cut! And it has originality—have you noticed how the pleats in the skirt all turn the same way and the manner in which the back panel in the skirt is a continuation of that in the bodice?

Pattern 9085 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, and 40. Size 16 requires 3⅞ yards 39 inch fabric, and ¼ yard contrasting.

Send fifteen cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) to Boston American Pattern Department, 232 W. 18th street, New York, N. Y., for each Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, the style number and size of each pattern.

MAD MILLIONS -:- By CHARLES GRANT

Laura Wins the Promise of Handsome Marques to Become Her Guest

SYNOPSIS

Success crowned every venture of Jasper Ingram, wealthy promoter. Millions were at his disposal much to the envy of Homer Alspaugh, his confidential secretary, who has all he can do to meet mortgage payments and the gold-digging demands of his flirtatious wife, Marian. Cathleen McCarthy, beautiful young stenographer, substitutes for Ingram's secretary while the latter is on vacation. Marian Alspaugh visits her husband's office to try and get some money.

CHAPTER III

For the second time the outer door opened to admit a woman from the world of leisure. This time the interest of the personnel was real and respectful. Laura Ingram was no such frequent visitor as Alspaugh's wife, and there was not a lowly file clerk who was ignorant of her social prestige and importance

Though her complexion appeared faded and faintly lined, her features were regular and she had triumphantly preserved her figure. Her most youthful attribute, however, was her dark-gold hair, as abundant and as lustrous now as on the day of her wedding

She entered her husband's office far more simply than had Marian Alspaugh. In a low voice she asked if Mr. Ingram had anyone with him and being answered in the negative, said, "I'll go right in, [illegible]

Alspaugh hurried to open the door for her. "Let me show you in, Mrs. Ingram! And good afternoon! It isn't often we have the pleasure of seeing you here-"

"Oh, it's Mr.—Alspaugh——" Her hesitation before the name was barely perceptible. "How are you?"

Marian's piquant face appeared behind her husband's shoulders. "I do hope you haven't forgotten me completely, Mrs. Ingram! I'm Mrs. Alspaugh. I was introduced to you at the polo game, when Mr Seward played so marvellously—"

"Why, of course!" Laura Ingram's voice warmed at the mention of her son. "I remember you perfectly. It's so nice to see you again!"

She hesitated, her eyes drifting covertly up and down Marian's attractive figure. "I wonder if you'd care to— Have you an engagement for tomorrow afternoon?"

"Oh, no!"

"We're giving a sort of garden party for charity," Laura Ingram explained carefully—as if Marian didn't know all about it, hadn't known for weeks and longed, without hope, to receive an invitation. "We're having all sorts of features, outdoor theatricals, fortune telling, treasure hunting and a mystery trip—things like that, you know. It occurred to me you might care to come and sell cigarettes."

"Oh, Mrs. Ingram, I should love it!" Marian gasped. "What must I wear?"

"Any little fantastic costume you may have—or just a pretty summer frock. You'll have a tray, of course, with ribbons over your shoulders—and mind you make your customers pay well for their cigarettes!"

She went on into the private office with a gracious nod of farewell.

"I've just asked that little Mrs. Alspaugh to sell cigarettes for us tomorrow. She's exactly the type to wheedle men. I shouldn't be surprised if she takes in more money than Rose and Mabel together. You're looking very abstracted, Jasper! Had you forgotten that I told you I should call for you at four, that you positively promised to put in an appearance with me at Ruth Bartlett's, to meet that Spanish Infanta of hers?"

"Did I say I'd do that?" Ingram got to his feet reluctantly, blinking away thoughts of business. "If I did, I suppose I'll have to make good. But I feel right now as if I could worry along contentedly for the rest of my life, even if I never made the acquaintances of a Spanish Infanta!"

Jasper Ingram used a swift motor yacht for his daily trip from Long Island to the city, but his wife disliked boats and insisted upon using her car. Now he grumbled at the slowness of their progress uptown and over the Queensborough bridge.

She did not reply, being occupied with a final review of her plans for the entertainment. Taking her social activities seriously, Laura Ingram was a successful hostess. To advance her position in society was to her a career and an art. Her husband had helped her by becoming so rich that—this being America—he had made her inevitably socially important. When he married her, she was a well-bred, middle class girl, living with her father, who had a professorship in a small college.

To the professor's discontented daughter, Jasper Ingram represented opportunity; to Ingram she was the coolly selected instrument of a purpose he had at heart.

When he decided to marry, he proposed to Laura Seward for what seemed to him a number of good reasons. She was handsome and apparently healthy, she had a scholarly background, and he had read somewhere that a child derives its intellectual equipment mainly from its mother. Great men, he had heard, have, as a rule, remarkable mothers and mediocre sons

Marriage opened his eyes to the fact that Laura's health was not altogether sound, and that the pliability and sweetnes and disposition she had shown during courtship masked a disposition that was not entirely angelic. He had naively tested her for love of children and joyfully given her high marks on her responses, but, with the birth of Seward, she refused to have another child

AN ONLY CHILD

Seward thus was an only child, but, surprisingly enough, he was a charming boy, popular at prep school and college and now shamelessly run after by half the girls on Long Island.

Ingram, somehow, had never been able to get close to his son. As Seward grew older and heard certain rumors about his father and other women, the gulf betwen the two widened—and the boy became a violent partisan of his mother. So it was he entered a period of cynicism and disillusionment in which she alone retained his reverence

Laura Ingram's life was eminently satisfactory to her. If her husband gave her little of his confidence or his company, he gave her all forms of respect, unlimited money and reasonable compliance with her schemes that required his assistance. Social ambition supplying her with an occupation, gave her something to think about and work for

While Ingram mused silently of mergers and stock manipulations, she thought now about the Infanta, second cousin to ex-King Alfonso, whom a rival hostess, widow of a former Ambassador to Spain, was entertaining. Laura had tried to secure this lady for tomorrow, but Ruth Bartlett was whirling her prize to Bar Harbor. After all however, she reflected, the princess was only a pious, middle-aged woman with a moustache, heavy socially and physically; let Ruth keep her, although, of course, it sounded awfully well to have an Infanta staying with you

It developed, when the Ingrams had joined the party on the Bartlett terrace, that only a few of the more intimate members of Dona Josepha's entourage were going with her to Maine. The Marques d'Alhues y Silva, certainly the most attractive member of her party, was to remain at loose ends in New York.

"But then, I am enchanted with your New York," he told Mrs. Ingram, "your so beautiful women and so many cars, your skyscratchers such as we have not in Spain. What is Bar Harbor but another San Sebastian?—and that is an old story"

"You don't find it frightfully hot in town?" asked Mrs. Ingram

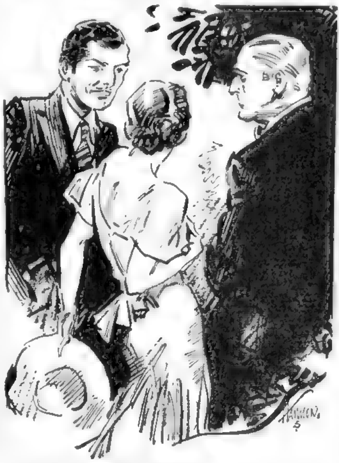
"Heat does not incommode me, Senora—on the contrary. After the revolution we went first to England. B-r-r. I still carry the chill of that England in my bones!"

He had a charming laugh that broke the classic lines of his face into boyish curves and showed teeth, startlingly white in contrast to his general swarthiness.

"Won't you come to us tomorrow, Marques?" Laura begged. "We will promise not to freeze you, and you might be amused."

"I shall be most happy," he assured her, and gazed soulfully into her eyes as he kissed her hand in parting.

(In the next installment read how Marian tells her husband it is up to him to earn the more money needed to place her in the right society.)



"I shall be most happy to come," d'Alhues assured Mrs. Ingram, and gazed soulfully into her eyes.

Olive Oil Rub Smooths Out Neck Lines

Question: I have two lines about an inch apart on my neck. How can I rid myself of them? What can I do for the dark circles under my eyes? What is the best method of restoring to its original color hair that has been hennaed?

L. B., Arlington.

Answer: For the lines around your neck I would suggest first a skin bleach (a gentle bleach) and then a nightly massage of a little warm, pure olive oil. For your eyes, massage them each night with a good, rich nourishing cream. And when you come home in the afternoon from whatever you have been doing, lie down and apply eye pads of absorbent cotton soaked in a good astringent. Ammonia is also used to bleach out a dye, but that does tend to make you blonde. The best way is to let the dye grow out and encourage its growth with efficient daily care of your hair.

Underweight

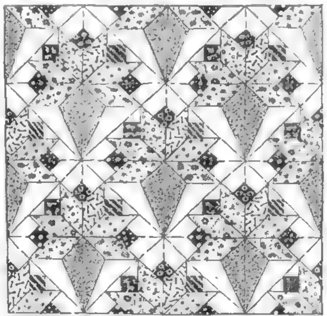
Question: Can you give me a few simple directions toward gaining weight? Does excessive smoking prevent one from putting on the needed pounds? How much should a girl 22 years old and five feet three inches tall weigh?

X. L., Boston.

Answer: The first requisite to gain weight is to stop worrying. The second is to eat regularly. The rest depends upon keeping your blood stream stimulated by exercising, and to create a natural hunger for food.

Plan your day so you will have two or three hours for play—either between 9 a. m. and 4 p. m. or in the early evening. A tonic should help you. If you do not inhale, smoking is not injurious. If you do inhale and smoke incessantly, of course you will lose weight. Why not stop smoking while you are trying to gain a few pounds? A girl twenty-two years old who is five feet, three inches tall should weigh about 123 pounds.

Heirloom Quilt Design



OLD-FASHIONED NOSEGAY PAT. 486

A colorful group of scraps sewn together like a mass of flowers forms this popular quilt—Old-Fashioned Nosegay. Each block is handsome in itself and the joined blocks make a quilt that is indeed outstanding. You can make each block of the same scraps or change them in each block as you prefer.

Pattern 486 comes to you with complete, simple instructions for cutting, sewing and finishing, together with yardage chart, diagram of quilt to help arrange the blocks for single and double bed size, and a diagram of block which serves as a guide for placing the patches and suggests contrasting materials.

Girl Whipping Case Delayed

Portland, Me., Aug. 9—Because there was a division of opinion between two women witnesses against Kenneth R. Hagar of Sa[illegible] street, in the charge of beating his six-year-old daughter Mary, the case today stood continued until next week.

One witness said that the child told of having been whipped because of asking for "more food." The other woman testified that Mary first told her she had been bruised in a fall. In the meantime, the little girl played "hide and seek" with her father in the courtroom

DIANA WYNYARD

Come on, amateur movie critics, here's an opportunity for you to be a bona fide reviewer, have lots of fun besides sharing in $25 in cash prizes and theater tickets!

The Keith's Memorial theater today opens an engagement of "One More River" taken from John Galsworthy's last great novel of the Forsythe Saga. See this picture, write a review of it and you are eligible to share in the $25 in cash prizes and 10 pairs of theater tickets.

This new interesting contest is being sponsored by the Boston Evening American and the Keith Memorial Theater. Anyone, except employes of this newspaper and RKO Theaters is eligible to enter, except professional writers.

The every ordinary movie-goer of today has an equal chance. Turn to the theater page of this paper from day to day and read the reviews to give you an idea of how one is written.

It's really very simple and there are lots of fun; and remember the cash will come in handy for a little vacation. The prizes will be distributed as follows: First prize, $10, second prize $5, and the next two winners will each receive a brand new one-dollar bill: the following 10 winners will each receive a pair of tickets to the Keith Memorial Theater.

"One More River" is recognized as one of the most outstanding films of today. It is one of Galsworthy's best known novels and lends itself beautifully to a review. A splendid cast supports Miss Wynyard, including Colin Clive, Boston's own E. E. Clive, Alan Mowbray, Mrs. Pat Campbell, Lionel Atwill and Reginald Denny.

You may write your review any way you please. It must not be more than 100 words long, you must write on one side of the paper only in ink or typewriter. You can send your reviews to the Amateur Reviewing Contest Editor, Boston Evening American, 5 Winthrop square, Boston.

Your reviews must be postmarked no later than one week from tonight, Thursday, Aug. 17

MILK DRIVERS STRIKE IN R. I.

Providence, Aug. 9—Employes of the Walking Milk Company went on strike here early today, deserting the company's plant and leaving milk delivery wagons, with horses attached, standing in the street near the company's stable.

The reason for the walkout could not be learned. About 30 men were said to be affected.

A police guard was asked by a man who said he was an agent of the company from Boston. A cruiser car was sent to the plant but no violence occurred.

Loch 'Monster' Certified

By Associated Press

London, Aug. 9—Yes, there is a Loch Ness Monster—if you accept the findings of Sir Edward Mountain.

The reported presence of the mysterious marine animal in the Scottish lake had piqued the public curiosity for many months along with the curiosity of Sir Edward, a leading business man.

After peering into the lake for a month, the party of 20 watchers report that beyond doubt Loch Ness harbors some "unidentifiable monster."

They agree the creature has a relatively small head and "two or three" humps. During the month the observers were rewarded 21 times by glimpses of the animal.

GREEN BACKS UP FIREMEN

By Associated Press

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 9—If firemen want to form a union they should have the right to do so, says President William Green of the American Federation of Labor—but they would not strike.

"An organization of firemen is comparable to a union of mail clerks or letter carriers, both of whom are organized," he said.

DEITRICK FLAYS LUCE RUM VOTE

Former Congressman Frederick S. Deitrick, seeking the Democratic nomination for Congress in the 9th district, filed nomination papers today at the State House. He announced that he had the backing of the Brookline Democratic town committee, former Mayor Patrick Duane of Waltham and former Representative Frank McKinney of Brighton.

Deitrick said that he would seek to organize the opposition to Congressman Robert Luce in the campaign.

"I find that there are thousands of Republicans who were misled by Congressman Luce as to how he would vote on the question of the repeal of the 18th amendment," Deitrick stated. "I am informed that Luce a few years ago moved his business from Massachusetts to New York and it seems to me that he should go to the state where his business interests are to run for Congress rather than here."

Deitrick charged that Republican gerrymandering of the 9th district deprived him of 4 Democratic wards in Cambridge which would have ensured his election two years ago.

"Why are Old Golds so throat-easy yet so delightful to the taste?"...asks

Margaret Sullavan

[RECENT OLD GOLD CONVERT]

Dear Miss Sullavan:—

To be easy on the throat, a cigarette must be made of mild, slow-burning tobaccos. But some people make the mistake of confusing mildness with flatness.

As a matter of fact, the smoothest and mildest tobaccos are also the best tasting—the most enjoyable to smoke. The same sun-ripening and aging that help to develop smoothness impart flavor and character, too.

So it's not strange, after all, that Old Golds possess both taste appeal and throat-ease to such a marked degree. For in the choicest tobaccos these two virtues just naturally go hand in hand.

Sincerely,
P. LORILLARD COMPANY, INC.
ESTABLISHED 1760

P. S.:—To put it briefly, Miss Sullavan:

WOMEN ENTER COUNTY RING BATTLE

This Is Life
ROBERT E. ROGERS

When in the Course of Human Events it becomes necessary for the protection of morality and aesthetics—for lady secretaries to forbid the golf links to females in shorts . . .

Robt. E. Rogers

And when by the laws of psychology common to apes and human beings such lady secretaries have to be imitated by commissioners of city parks and metropolitan districts, greatly to the increase of public controversy . . .

What, then, is likely to happen?

I think I know the answer.

What will happen will be a considerable increase in what might be termed "shorts consciousness," with the result that shorts will be worn all the more by females of every age, measurement, degree of charm and social position, in private and in public, both suitably and unsuitably.

It always happens so. In the past few years we have seen steady protest against the athlete's swim suit and the non-athlete's sun suit and an equally steady increase in the sales of such suits and in the mobs wearing them in the water, on the beach and, sometimes, on the street.

We have seen the determined wearing of topless trunks by men becoming more and more determined and more common in direct proportion to the protests of private individuals, rulings by those in authority, arrests by police and fines by judges.

Already many of the courts at the great public beaches near New York city have given up the struggle as a bad job. Except at our great public beaches around Metropolitan Boston the topless trunk is becoming, if not the rule, at least more than the exception.

My sober expectation is that by next summer, or the following, the continental bathing trunks for men will have to be taken as a matter of course.

The same law holds good for the wearing of backless gowns and fancy pajamas on the street. The kind of costume male students have always worn at track-meets is now pretty nearly regulation for our high school girls in their athletic contests. The West took it up first, and Hollywood has taught well the lesson to the East.

Nothing can be done about it. People who are at all sensitive to what German philosophers called the Zeitgeist or Time Spirit—the Way Things Are Going—recognize that a popular current is not to be dammed, that opposition only intensifies the popular determination to be in the fashion, and that people in authority will save themselves trouble and ridicule by lying low—like Uncle Remus' Brer Rabbit.

On Tuesday last two observant and liberal judges of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, recognizing the fact that a considerable minority of the reading population insists on reading James Joyce's "Ulysses," handed down a decision affirming an earlier decision which lifted the federal ban on the book.

In Gloucester the actions of a few Meddlesome Matties—of the male sex, as is so frequently the case—has served only to draw public attention to what is apparently an entirely unimportant painting by an unknown person and made of it for the moment another "September Morn." The result is an excellent break for the artist and the associated artists of Gloucester, the eventual exhibition of the painting to large and curious crowds, and the utter defeat of the purposes of the worthy folks who banished the painting out of what was practically obscurity—a Gloucester tradesman's shop window—and made it what rhetoricians used to call "the cynosure of all eyes," with what encouragement to morality the censors must judge for themselves.

The moral, I think, is plain. Its application to such serious matters as prohibition is probably also plain. And I suspect—although this is frankly heresy and worthy of the stake and the brushwood—that if the above is anything like a law of nature it will be found to apply also to the current attempt to fumigate and delouse the commercial cinema. Quite regardless of the merits or demerits of the films, there is something cussed in human nature which will set up against reform an unorganized but quite effective backfire of one sort or another.

Eventually, in all these matters, the controversy will die down, the protesters will give up, and humanity will be found to have consolidated another advanced position in the direction of doing as it pleases. I really do not know what can be done about it.

MODEL FATHER ON WAY TO CELL IN BOSTON

George E. Gilbert, who escaped from Norfolk prison camp nearly four years ago, today was entrained, chained, and guarded, on the way to Charlestown state prison.

Gilbert left Los Angeles and a new life he had begun soon after the prison break. He left a girl whom he bigamously married and two children born of that union.

The latest chapter in Gilbert's "new deal" was written when Governor Frank E. Merriam of California, signed extradition papers that sent the prison back to this state.

Captain William M. Lauf and Officer David Laughlin of Norfolk accompanied the man that the Bay State had sought for the four years elapsing since his successful jail break.

The scene of Gilbert's departure from the West Coast city was a sorrowful one. Throwing her arms about her "husband", the Los Angeles wife swore her faith in him, and it didn't make any difference to her that he was accused of having another wife and four children in Massachusetts.

Behind this sad interlude was the story of a youth who was sent to Norfolk in 1930 and who made his escape during the same year. At the time, Joseph Lawrence, who escaped with Gilbert, was killed by police gunfire. It was believed that Gilbert perished in the same interlude.

But Gilbert was not dead. He was dead to Massachusetts, but not to the world.

BEGAN NEW LIFE

Using the name of "Parker", Gilbert began a new life in 1931.

The newest Mrs. Gilbert declared that her husband had become a different man. She said that she would "stick by him", regardless of what happened, or how many years he was sentenced to prison.

In addition to the sentences coming from his escape and alleged bigamy, Gilbert faces the penalties for violating parole.

His California record is an amazing and antithetical one. By hard work, he forged ahead in the field of livlihood he had chosen—chiropractics—and in the meantime worked for an oil concern.

Officials of the latter organization said that they had allowed Gilbert to handle from $400 to $500 daily, and that he was above reproach.

Gilbert had become convinced that Massachusetts would never pick up his trail again. He fell in love and took a pretty California girl as his bride. He did not tell her of his past.

There was no need for that. His first wife and her children in Jamaica Plain never heard from him. Even the authorities here, at times, believed he was dead, as was Joseph Lawrence, who escaped with him, but who was killed by the Boston police in a running gun battle.

But the honeymoon cottage in the West became a house of worry just before the Fourth of July. A detective story magazine fan, scanning the contents of the magazine, saw a picture in it. It was Gilbert's picture.

The reader studied the features. They became fixed in his mind. For a day or two he furtively studied the face of the man he knew as George W. Parker.

He became convinced that Parker and Gilbert were the same. He reported his suspicions to Captain Norris Stensland of the sheriff's office at Los Angeles.

Wheat Worries France

Paris, Aug. 9 (AP)—The French wheat problem has become so critical that Premier Doumergue, who returned from his vacation today, will ask the cabinet tomorrow to devise a plan subsidizing wholesale exports and possibly scrapping part of the price fixing law.

Trio Trapped by Flames in Home

TONY DE FELICE

4 AND DOG FLEE HOME BLAZE

Four persons and a dog narrowly escaped death today when fire destroyed the home of Joseph De Felice, at No. 2 Mellex road, North Lexington, causing a damage estimated at more than $5000. The fire rekindled three hours after the original blaze was discovered and an engine company answered a telephone call and raked out the debris.

Nicholas and Anthony De Felice, 13-year-old twin brothers, discovered the fire in their room on the second floor. They awakened their mother and sister Theresa who were sleeping on the first floor by screaming.

The boys made their escape over a piazza roof and jumped to the front lawn. Theresa rescued her one-year-old dog Rosie, but lost the complete contents of her hope chest which went up in the flames.

MILK DEALERS PLAN FIGHT

A fight in the courts to determine whether members of the Eastern Massachusetts Milk Dealers, Inc., may remain in business in defiance of the AAA loomed today as the last of the 75 members lost his license.

Larr & Burr, of Beverly, was the latest firm to receive word from Washington that its license had been revoked. John E. Burr, who is secretary of the dealers' organization, said all the members plan to remain in business. He said:

"To give money into the equalization fund and to comply with the marketing license terms means the ruin of Massachusetts farmers. We will remain in business until the constitutionality of the milk licenses has been proved."

According to Einar Jensen, milk administrator for the Boston district, injunctions will be sought against the dealers who have lost their licenses.

FIEDLER TO PLAY BY WIRE

Seated at a telegraph typewriter in the main office of the Western Union, Congress street, Boston, Arthur Fiedler, concert leader, conductor of the Esplanade concerts, will "pound out" musical notes that will play the famous carillon, at the World's Fair in Chicago, on Saturday night.

Fiedler is scheduled to render two concerts, one at 9.15 p. m. and the final at 1 a. m. Sunday morning. The latter program will be broadcast over a nation-wide hookup from Chicago.

The affair will mark the first time in the history of this city that a musician will be able to "play" tunes upon one of the same telegraph devices used in transmitting messages.

Transmitting the "music by telegraph," was created after Western Union engineers constructed a piano like keyboard to the machine.

MERGER INTO 5 STATE UNITS PROPOSED

Florence Birmingham Fights to Eliminate Heavy Expenses

By BERNARD J. DOHERTY

Throwing her organization actively into the battle to bring down the cost of government, through a consolidation of the 14 counties of the state into five units and the elimination of duplicating activities, Miss Florence Birmingham of Brighton today called a special meeting of Massachusetts Women's Political Club, Inc.

The club is non-partisan and has branches in every large city of the state.

At this meeting, Miss Birmingham stated, the subject of county government will be discussed. Motions will be offered for the appointment of a special committee to draw up a bill for the consideration of the next legislature aimed to bring about the desired reform.

The committee will also, she said, make a study of county conditions and issue a public report to the organization.

WIDESPREAD INTEREST

That the movement for county consolidation will be pushed by many other organizations and tax leagues is indicated by the widespread interest of citizens.

Miss Birmingham in discussing the counties said:

"Somehow or other the counties, which are costing the tax payers a pretty penny, have been allowed to function outside the public eye for many years. That such a worn out system of government should be left to drift along is amazing. The system should have been overhauled years ago in order to bring it up to modern conditions.

RINGS SHOW STRENGTH

"Probably the strength of the county rings prevented the taxpayers from getting this relief through the years. It's time to find out. If the servants have been the masters of the people, then that fact is all the more reason for a new deal insofar as the counties are concerned."

Records show the county rings defied Governor Channing H. Cox back in 1921 and '22, when the last serious attempt to dislodge them was made. That fight centered on the battle to give the state control over all penal institutions, backed by the prison reform leagues. The counties won.

At that time, Governor Cox, in his annual message to the legislature, said in part:

"The interests of a better system of penology, in the interests of economy of administration, and in fulfillment of the promise of the platform upon which the great majority of you as well as myself were elected, I earnestly recommend that the jails and houses of correction, now maintained by 14 separate counties with varying standards, be now consolidated under the direct control of the C[illegible]."

Irish Ready to Pay Bond Issue

The last day for redemption of bonds issued by the Republic of Ireland in 1929 will be Aug. 31, according to Patrick J. Henry, president of the Central Council of Irish County Associations.

Persons holding these bonds and desiring to redeem them should send to Sean MacEntee, minister of finance for the Dail Eireann, at 117 Liberty street, New York, for redemption blanks, he said.

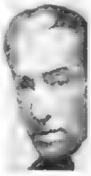
NEW YORK
DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Aug. 9—The summer season has pr[illegible] of dining al fresco has taken firm root. The sidewalk cafe is here to stay. More than 15 years ago, uptown Bustanoby's, the place of the moment, tried out pavement tables and a ladies bar. They expired with a quick gurgle.



O. O. McIntyre

Other sporadic efforts died aborning. A [illegible] exception was the terrace of the Cafe Royal on the Ghetto's Champs Elysees, Second avenue, running for 15 years. The mid-town pathfinder for the present [illegible] was Chatham Walk. The St. Moritz opened its replica of the Cafe de la Paix. Another burgeoned at the Park Lane.

Now they are everywhere. The last blocks of Fifth avenue running into Washington Arch is an awninged fling transplanted from Montparnasse. The Brevoort, No. 1, Fifth avenue, the Fifth Avenue Hotel, a corner drug store and several other buildings are open for pavement patrons. Each table is city taxed $10 a year.

Up on Broadway, near the Winter Garden, Bennie Ueberall has torn out several building fronts to start the White Way fever. The town has taken to leisurely sipping under candy striped umbrellas with a bang. A bugaboo is a sudden dinner hour shower with surprised waiters holding unpaid checks.

"Prince Mike Romanoff, pitchforked out of the Ghetto to the uptown roar, was one of the most conspicuous sidewalk sitters until accepting a master of ceremony post at a rowdy-dowdy. He moved from cafe to cafe knowing that along the line he would be called to a table or so to deliver his amusing Oxonian rigamarole and enjoy a few free libations. The "Prince" sports his sham with bantering bravado. Nothing deflates him and he submits to the easy scoffing with rare grace so long as he is not handed a check.

Among Broadway cadgers of early New York days was Pop Corn Bill, a sort of cartoon Dinty Moore with checkered vest and bowler derby come to life. He was a free lunch snaffler and death to bowls of pop-corn that frescoed bars, hence the moniker. It was a serene boast he had never purchased a drink. But, so amiable and joyous his trigger repartee he was welcome everywhere. Paul Armstrong regarded him as a jester second only to Wilson Mizner.

In that era the fumaroles of the sports were bars of the Martinique, Doyle's, Marlborough and Considine's. They gathered at 4 in the afternoon and it was genial touch and go until the evening lamps came on. The great story tellers of the era were Mizner, Irvin Cobb, Bozeman Bulger, Rennold Wolfe, Kyrle Bellew and Scamp Montgomery.

Cobb and Bulger always placed Dave Montgomery's brother, Scamp, at the top of the list of fastworking wits of the period. He had, like Frisco, the more modern funster, a slight impediment and his blurts were mostly ribald but every now and then one is revived and Broadway passes it along as something brand new. It was Scamp who coined the phrases, "He can't take it!" and "So what?" Yet in the usual Broadway fashion they are claimed by the phoneys as of recent vintage.

The fact is, nearly all slang is revival. There are few smart sayings that will not be found variants of something George Ade turned out in his immortal fables 30 years ago. Eustace, one of his small town mandolin players, had the "jitters." Another character was "sittin' pritty" and so on to the Custom Place drug clerk who drawled a lazy "O, yeah!" W. E. Kountze, Jr., under the nom de fantasie, Billy Baxter, also spawned slang 25 years ago that was in a sophisticated revue of the current year.

Thingumabobs: Tommy Manville never keeps a new automobile more than two months . . . Frazier Hunt is Helen Keller's favorite story teller . . . Joseph V. McKee is a push-over for circuses . . . Jose Iturbe's young daughter always accompanies him on concert tours . . . San Sebastian now has an Ernest Heminway Cafe . . . The late Victor Herbert liked French mustard with his breakfast eggs . . . When George M. Cohan goes to the play, he sits in the last row.

CURB TUNNELS UNDER WAY

Cement was poured today for the two new underground pedestrian tunnels at Haymarket square, where a rotary traffic circle is in process of construction.

Merrimack and Cross streets are being widened as part of the installation of a complete rotary traffic system in Cross, North, Washington, Canal, Merrimac, Sud[illegible] and Washington streets. The [illegible] distance across the streets has necessitated tunnels for pedestrian traffic, Transit Department officials stated.

Phone in News Tips to the Boston American and Advertiser — Win $50 Weekly in Prizes

Do you want to make some money for being alert? If so, the Boston Evening American and the Sunday Advertiser are presenting the opportunity. Every week a total of $50 in prizes will be given for news tips telephoned in to the News Tip Editor at Liberty 4000. And what is a news tip? It's the information that something of interest to Greater Bostonians has taken place or will take place. Do you know, for instance, that an important meeting is scheduled for a certain date, that an accident has happened, that there is going to be a business merger, that a celebrity is coming to town? That's a news tip. There will first be given $25 weekly for the best first exclusive news tip received, $10 for the next best and $1 prizes for each of the fifteen next most valuable news tips. This offer is now in effect. Remember that SPEED is the watchword. First to the telephone with the news wins the award. News tips mean money.

The First National Bank of Englewood is offering a new Parker pencil to each savings depositor with a balance of $100, or less who will close his account within 30 days. This offer is being made "before considering a heavy service charge."

"Money has become a burden," says the bank's statement. "Like commodities, it has a value so long as it can be put to some good use. Beyond that point it is of no avail. Not only are we closing the small accounts, but we have discontinued the opening of new accounts until such time as we can safely and profitably invest our excessive cash reserves. Under the regimentation of this so-called 'New Deal,' sound industry is afraid to borrow, and, consequently, banks are loaded with idle currency."

Rumors are current of a big powwow to take place at the White House next week.

The nabobs of industry and finance will be there, 'tis said, to discuss the recovery program with the President. . . There is some talk of a new give-and-take policy on the part of the Administration to help business and free private capital out of hiding. So far there is little to base this on other than hope and the growing realization that unless something like this takes place a difficult situation that may affect the government's credit is likely to shape up before the first of the year.

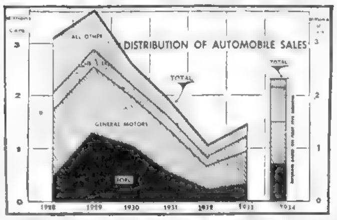
Auto Sales Charted



By JOSEPH STAGG LAWRENCE

This chart shows a part of the boom, depression and recovery [illegible] of the automotive industry. [illegible] represents the total sales of automobiles and the distribution of that total among the prime producers. The bar is the estimate of total sales for 1934 based upon the actual sales for the first [illegible] months. It is noteworthy for two reasons.

In the first place it shows the remarkable recovery of the automobile industry during the year. It is easily the bellwether in the recovery procession and as such invites critical examination. It is one industry which has not benefited from government subsidies. It has resisted effectively the efforts of organized labor to dominate it and, in general may be described as a strong outpost of the older economics which are now yielding to New Deal pressure.

To what extent this conservatism and resistance to New Deal influence account for the vigor of this industry is a moot question. Nevertheless the mere fact that it has displayed such amazing progress should send it to the laboratory where the reasons may, if possible, be discovered.

The second important item brought out by the chart is the amazing case in Ford sales during the year. It may be recalled that Ford refused to raise his prices when the other producers, in April, added 10 per cent in an effort to cover higher wage and material costs.

Ford has always been a great believer in the theory that profit should come through mass turnover rather than liberal margins on a small volume. After the short experiment with higher prices the other producers reluctantly admitted that Ford, in this case at least, was right, and have since cut their prices with distinctly beneficial effects on their sales.

The automobile experience seems to demonstrate that the public today is extremely price conscious and that successful merchandising must appeal strongly to the price motive.

Markdown in Asking Prices on Wool

Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., report on trade conditions in Boston shows the outstanding development in the Boston wool market has been a mark-down in the asking prices on territory and other western grown wools. Actual trading has been extremely dull. Wools that had a limited call were inclined to sell at prices below the previous week's quotations.

Spot quotations of western wools still are nominal on account of lack of business. The readjustment was based to a large extent, on price levels in foreign wool markets the decline of which offered opportunities for foreign wools to compete with domestic.

Mohair continued to receive a little demand. Most calls were for tops. Houst houses reported less activity in woolen wools this week. Carpet wools continued to be strong in Boston to owing the recent advance in foreign markets and a fair volume of sales was reported.

Wool tops market was unsettled as topmakers revised quotations in line with recently revised quotations on wool. Deliveries of tops against old contracts were fair with some houses and about steady at the recently improved volume. Fine noils led the market in firmness in July.

Demand for wool waste continues spotty and the aggregate turnover small. Business in wool fabrics still is irregular. Business is improving in the better woolens and worsteds. Worsted yarn spinners are waiting for orders on basis of new prices. Employment in a number of mills in Fall River and New Bedford is at a reduced rate.

Orders for practically all types of shoes have fallen off during the past few weeks on account of uncertainty brought about by the accumulation of hides. Some buyers are looking for a price readjustment on orders previously placed. Cutting operations showed a slight let down in some sections during the week.

Operations were well maintained on immediate business. However progress is being made in the government's scheme for handling hides. Authorities look for a revival in shoe purchasing with the coming of seasonable weather.

The markets for both rayon yarns and fabrics have been quiet during the past week. Weaving yarns lead the demand in spot business. Knitters are doing little buying, as competition is being met with knitters of cheap silk hosiery.

Building materials continues much the same as heretofore. There is some activity in most lines but nothing of large proportions.

Home Owners Bond Prices Under Par

By Associated Press

Washington, Aug. 9—Results of the recent offering of [illegible] Home Owners Loan Corporation notes announced by the Treasury today showed the three and four year bonds had brought [illegible] prices under par.

Tenders for the three series of $50,000,000 each aggregated $2[illegible] 126,000, of which $127,[illegible] was accepted. In addition to the accepted bids, the Treasury will purchase for the benefit of its investment funds $8,000,000 of the three year and $14,000,000 of the four years bonds.

The two year bonds bearing coupons of 1½ per cent were sold at an average price of 100.677, the net yield being approximately 1.15 per cent. Of this series, $19,736,000 was sold to the public.

The three year bonds, with a coupon rate of 1¾ per cent, brought an average price of 99.931, a net yield to maturity of about 1.77 per cent. The Treasury accepted $41,843,000 of these bids.

SECURITIES ACT EFFECTS HARD TO ANALYZE

Decline in Speculation Would Narrow the Price Fluctuations

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Washington, Aug. 9—Attempts to analyze the effect of the securities exchange act on the nation's various stock exchanges have met with little success.

When the bill was passed it was generally recognized that some unknown quantity—liquidity—was going to be lost, on the basis that a decline in speculation would narrow price fluctuations.

Experts believe a careful administration will see to it that future consequences will be slowly felt. The commission, it was said by an official, would be extremely shy of causing untoward fluctuations.

If the reforms in the act are brought to bear slowly, the market will have an opportunity to adjust itself. There is no member of the commission who does not believe that it would be highly dangerous to act drastically on so delicate a financial machine.

The commission will require the simplest sort of reports from corporations whose stocks are already listed, drastic requirements now might cause many corporations to delist with corresponding market fluctuations.

Requirements may be slowly strengthened however so that both investors and corporations will have time to be fully aware of impending conditions, and future objectives undoubtedly contain plans for very broad and complete registration.

Liverpool Cotton Prices Are Steady

Liverpool, Aug. 9 (INS)—There was a moderate business in spots on the Liverpool cotton market today. Prices were steady and receipts totaled 21,000 bales, of which 2700 were American.

Futures were 1 to 2 points below initial quotations while unchanged to 1 point below due prices. October at 7.17d; January 7.16d, March 7.16d and May 7.16d.

Katz Co. Common Dividend Raised

Chicago, Aug. 9—Katz Drug Co. declared quarterly dividend of 75 cents on the common, payable September 15 to stock of record August 31, placing the stock on a $3 annual basis, against $2 previously. Company also declared regular quarterly dividend of $1.62½ on the preferred payable October 1 to stock of record September 15.

High Grade Bonds Seen as Bumping Along "Ceiling"

By Associated Press

New York, Aug. 9—For some time the sky seemed to be the limit of the persistent advance of high grade bonds but now Wall Street has started to wonder whether the sky may not have been reached.

The long term United States Government issues have recently reached the highest price of a generation save for a short period in 19[illegible]. For the past fortnight, however, these and other highest grade bonds have wavered, as though bumping along what Wall Street calls a "ceiling."

At their highest prices, eight of the long term governments were selling at an average yield of only 2.7[illegible] per cent. Currently the yield is a little more than 2.8[illegible] per cent.

The question now arises as to whether under existing conditions, particularly with the [illegible] volume of federal debt both direct and indirect, the long term debt of the government can command a rate of much less than 2[illegible] to 3 per cent.

Most of the government debt is lodged with the federal reserve and commercial banks. There has been little inclination in the banking world to lighten these holdings particularly since the excess reserves of the member banks which are earning nothing, have risen close to $2,000,000,000.

As a matter of fact, the commercial banks have in the aggregate continued to add to their holdings of the government obligations. Nevertheless there has been a little more inclination recently to invest in bonds other than U. S. Governments. And a few banks are believed to have taken profits on a few of their Federals bought at lower levels.

Once a real demand for commercial credit develops, and bank confidence in corporate bonds is improved, it is likely that bankers will turn to the better profits available in financing private industry.

DOLLAR GAINS IN LONDON

By Associated Press

London, Aug. 9—The United States dollar recovered 1¼ cents to the pound today, closing at 5.05 1-16 to the pound as compared with yesterday's close of 5.06 3-16. The opening was at 5.05¾.

Continental short sellers were covering, apparently less confident of rumors that the United States was planning further inflationary measures. At one time in the day the quotation touched 5.04 15-16.

Cotton Steady in New York Market

New York, Aug. 9 (AP)—Cotton Futures were steady, 1 lower to 3 higher with buying on continued dry weather in the Western belt offset by quite active profit-taking. Oct. 13.62, Dec. 13.79, Jan. 13.85, March 13.95, May, 14.03, July 14.06.

DROUTH SEEN MARKING END OF DEPRESSION

May Adjust Supply and Demand by Cutting the Surpluses

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER

Copyright, 1934, by Universal Service, Inc.

M. S. Rukeyser

For a time there will be less prattling about the paradox of plenty.

New Dealers and others have tended to over-emphasize our productive capacity.

The scholars at Brookings Institution found that even in the boom years we were operating within twenty per cent of practical capacity and that excess capacity in those years was no more than normal.

Unquestionably the immediate effects of the drouth will be harmful especially in communities directly affected.

Its effect in reducing farm income and buying power cannot be accurately gauged.

Though the near term effect may be adverse to business, the act of Providence may prove the dramatic event which marks the end of the depression.

By reducing accumulated surpluses it may well pave the way for a better adjustment between supply and demand.

It may shock the country into attaining a real parity between agriculture and industry.

The disparity, in my opinion, caused the depression to sink much lower than would otherwise have been the case.

Stock exchange firms in Wall Street, suffering from the brokers' famine, are seeking ways and means of stirring up public interest.

The current crop of suckers is far from bounteous.

As a matter of fact, the pendulum has swung the other way, and numerous stocks are now selling ex-hope and ex-ballyhoo.

Incidentally, a college professor, chatting with a friend, remarked that his brother, a business man, had re-entered the market.

"I have no sympathy," he said, "with my brother's effort to get rich in that easy manner."

Query: But is it easy?

The time for yea-saying is at hand.

There is too much attempt to discount America, too little appreciation of the new promise of American life.

Robert A. Millikan, president of the California Institute of Technology, in a broadcast, said that excess government might spoil the American dream.

"The American dream," he said, "is that this country may always remain a land of freedom and opportunity—a land in which each citizen has the possibility of rising to just such a position of power and influence among his fellows as his own character, his own industry, his own capacities should create for him; a land in which the standard of living of the common man is just as high as is compatible with that total productivity of the country; a land that has so intelligent and informed an electorate that social changes, however farreaching, can always be brought about by constitutional ballot methods."

"Business men should free themselves of their fears and work harder to fulfill the formula of the 'American Dream.'"

Holding back is itself a deflationary force which hurts business. Accordingly, the directors of the General Motors Corporation should be lauded for their courageous example in declaring a 50 cent extra dividend in the face of the prevailing caution.

In an explanatory statement, Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., the president, very sensibly said:

"The distribution of over $20,000,000, the amount of the extra dividend, will not only be of benefit to the stockholders, but, passing into the channels of active trade, will act as a worthwhile stimulant to business in general. That is the thinking which prompted the action."

This move is an expression of the will to sound reflation.

Other corporations which are happily situated should do likewise. Then business men will not have to wait on Mama Government for recovery.

MARKET VIEWS OF BROKERS

Hornblower & Weeks—As for today's trading, a continuation of the firming tendencies in yesterday's market is to be expected.

Josephthal & Co.—As before, the action of the rails will probably give the best cue as to the immediate trend of the general market. While the rails rallied moderately after making a new low yesterday, rail bonds were distinctly weak suggesting that the recovery in rail stocks may have been partly due to covering.

G. M. P. Murphy & Co.—Probably the best trading course is to give stocks bought on weakness the past two days a chance to show whether a real rally might be in the offing. They probably can be eliminated without much loss should price levels generally make new lows on volume.

J. S. Bache & Co.—Present business uncertainties and the likely effects of the drouth cannot be ignored, so that, pending developments that would tend to restore confidence, it would appear unlikely that a major upswing could have its inception.

Gold Dust Corp. Profit $1,039,103

New York, Aug 9 (AP)—The Gold Dust Corp. reports for the six months ended June 30 net profit of $1,039,103, equivalent after dividends on the preferred stock to 48 cents a share on the common. No comparison with the 1933 period is available.

Int. Printing Ink Reports Profit

New York, Aug 9 (AP)—International Printing Ink Corp. had a net profit of $[illegible] for the six months [illegible] June 30, equivalent after preferred stock dividends to $1[illegible] a share on the common. There was a net loss of $127,581 in the first half of 1933.

U. S. GYPSUM CO. NET $1,141,668

Chicago, Aug 9—United States Gypsum Company reports for six months ended June 30, 1934 net income of $1,141,668 after depreciation, depletion, interest, federal taxes, etc., equivalent after dividend requirements on 7 per cent preferred stock to 73 cents a share on 1,188,395 shares (par $20) of common stock. This compares with $831,541 or 47 cents a share on 1,187,911 common shares in first half of 1933.

Current assets as of June 30, 1934, including $13,526,545 cash and marketable securities, amounted to $20,222,832 and current liabilities were $1,368,483. This compares with cash and marketable securities of $13,218,665, current assets of $19,063,680 and current liabilities ofo $1,093,801 on June 30, 1933.

Huge Pipeline Project Planned

New York, Aug. 9 (AP)—A $4,000,000 pipeline project, consisting of 108 miles of 12-inch pipe and connecting the oil fields of Kern County, California, with the company's marine terminal at Estero Bay, San Luis Obispo County, has been decided upon by the Standard Oil Co. of California. The proposed new line will require approximately seven months to complete.

Associated Gas Output Increases

New York, Aug 9 (AP)—Electric output of the Associated Gas & Electric system in July totaled 226,871,333 kilowatt hours, an increase of .05 per cent over the same month a year ago.

Commercial Investment Trust Earnings Rise

Commercial Investment Trust Corp. reports for the six months ended June 30, 1934, net profits of $5,100,215 after all charges, equal, after preferred dividends, to $2.53 per common share on the 2,013,117 shares outstanding. This compares with net of $2,799,582 for the first six months of 1933, equal, after preferred dividends, to $1.12 per share on the same number of shares.

A change in the method of setting up current earnings and the deferred income reserve in certain of the operating companies from the method employed for many years was put into effect as of Jan 1, 1934, for the purpose of making current and future earnings coincide more closely with the relative amount of notes and accounts receivable held during each period.

The effect of the introduction of the new method, to be continued in the future, was to reduce the proportion of discounts and service charges taken into earnings for the six months' period ending June 30, 1934, and to increase of proportion added to the deferred income account, thus reserving a larger proportion of current discounts available for future earnings.

During the half year the net volume of bills and accounts purchased by the company was the largest in its history for any six months' period, totaling $437,789,307, compared with $189,800,587 for the same period a year ago and $175,884,330 for the full 1933 year.

As of June 30 current assets totaled $256,919,470 and current liabilities $147,506,630, compared with $168,012,360 and $69,643,016, respectively, at close of 1933. Cash on hand June 30 totaled $29,144,330, against $18,211,650 six months previous.

During the period, the company acquired all of the capital stock of Midland Acceptance Corp., which did a business in [illegible] for cash and part with common stock of the company held in its treasury. In his report the president states that since June 30 the company has consummated the sale of Commercial Investment Trust, A. G., its subsidiary in Germany.

This disposes of the last of its investments in companies located overseas and the company's operating subsidiaries are confined to the United States and Canada.

Newark, Aug. 9—Newark City Commission passed ordinances authorizing a number of bond issues. One ordinance provides for issuance of $6,000,000 in serial bonds to retire outstanding temporary tax anticipation and tax revenue notes. They are not to bear more than 6 per cent interest and will be dated July 1, 1934.

Another ordinance provides for issue of $6,225,000 permanent bonds to retire temporary improvement notes.

A resolution adopted by the commission authorizes the renewal of $250,000 temporary street opening bonds, $250,000 sewer construction bonds and $500,000 in paving bonds due Aug. 28.

Another resolution authorizes issuance of $50,000 temporary 1933 tax revenue notes, $120,000 temporary 1932 tax revenue notes, $1,770,000 temporary 1931 tax revenue notes and $20,000 temporary 1932 tax revenue notes.

Bond sale will be held late this month.

Auto Products Exports Dip

Washington, Aug 9—Exports of automobiles and products during June were off slightly from the previous month though higher than a year ago, according to the Department of Commerce. June shipments were valued at $20,645,304, against $21,295,707 in May and $7,213,132 in June, last year. Of these totals, passenger cars exported in June were valued at $9,900,673 against $8,881,744 in May and $2,409,451 in June, last year.

In the six months ended June, exports of cars and automotive products were valued at $109,901,623, against $93,968,383 in the first half of last year.

Committee of Seven Disbanded

Drouth Area Sales Hold

Despite the fact that farmers normally constitute the largest group among their customers, hardware manufacturers and distributors have thus far not suffered from a decline of business. While sales in the drouth areas are below those of last year, sales in other part of the country are sufficiently increased to compensate for this loss of business.

Rim Inspections Increased

Cleveland, Aug. 9—In July 1,155,024 rims were inspected and approved by Tire & Rim Association, Inc., against 1,013,730 in June and 890,227 in July, 1933. In seven months it approved 8,649,741, against 5,405,661.

WHEN A MAN IS PARTED either forcibly or voluntarily from the job that has been his life's work and on which he has spent his youthful ambitions, energies and dreams in that moment the man loses his incentive to live and begins to fade. It was so with Johnny McGraw, who died less than a year after being stripped of his Giants management.

And it is so now with Wilbert Robinson, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers until a few seasons ago, who died early this morning. Like McGraw, who was Robbie's teammate and confident during the old days, Uncle Wilbert surrendered after losing his big task. He tried to keep his interest fed by buying a share in the Atlanta club. But he told friends last spring, "It's no go. There's nothing for me outside of the major leagues." They say he died of a hemorrhage of the brain, just as they said McGraw died of uremic poisoning. Which may have been the cause, but the effect was heart break.

SOMETIME WHILE THE BRAVES ARE home and the scramble of traffic at the corner of Commonwealth avenue and Gaffney street is at the flood, notice the jaunty little copper who blows shrill blasts through his teeth and keeps the cross currents of foot traffic from tangling with the wheels.

He is Danny Donahue, official Braves cop. On special details when the club is making a bus jump to the train or for an exhibition game, Danny always leads the parade on his motorcycle. Baldheaded, with a wise word for everybody, Danny swings his heels aloft in the press box between tricks, the only genuine baseball cop in either major league. His bantam figure and Mickey Mouse grin is known to every baseball player and writer on either circuit. And withal in the line of duty, he is a tough rooster who has bagged many a hoodlum.

THE BREED OF JOCKEYS, as they were at Rockingham and as they are now at Narragansett, are youngsters, chipper crickets who average under 20 years. More and more the hard-visaged veterans, stringy adults who have the pinched look of viciousness or tragedy written in the starved lines of their faces, are disappearing.

Perhaps the most distressful chore in the sporting world is that of the jockey whose normal weight is creeping up beyond the riding limit. Some take patent nostrums that finally poison their systems and lead to narcotics. Others starve and spend long hours, encased in rubber shirts, galloping around the infield oozing off painful ounces of flesh.

At Narragansett, one jockey stands out among the baby-faced monkeys, several of whom look and are younger than the legal limit of 17. He is Charley Jackson, who claims to be 48 but whom the track graybeards say is closer to 60, a weasened midget with faded eyes and spider limbs, who taught to great Earle Sande the apprentice tricks of sitting a racing saddle.

WHO ARE THE BIGGEST major league busts of the current year, touted performers who have slumped into the mire of failure? Perhaps, No. 1 bust is the Senators, American League champions who have sloughed off to fifth place with the same lineup that won the 1934 pennant. Then there is "Lefty" Grove, the man with the $125,000 shoulder ache, and Ben Cantwell, who won 20 games for the Braves a year ago, and has a mere three to his credit today, and "General" Crowder, who likewise won 20 for Washington in 1933 and, after winning four games up to last week, was sold to Detroit at the $4000 waiver. And Beck and Owen Carroll, of Brooklyn, who won more than a third of Brooklyn's victories a year ago, but who have only one winning game between them to date.

And look at some of the sluggers of yesteryear, men who were in what the writers used to call the "mystic .300 circle" season after season. Hornsby .294, Bottomley .288, Cronin .287, Ruth .282, Lloyd Waner .275, Hafey .274, Dykes .262.

I AM HEARING FROM EDDIE COLLINS that Ed Rommel, the old master of the knuckle ball who is now coaching for the Athletics, has developed a fine curve, the lack of which in his prime, caused him to slide out of the game. There is some small talk of his coming back to pitch for Connie Mack again.

Perhaps there is no more freakish sight in pitching history than Rommel's knuckler, dipping, hesitating and rolling like a drunken thing. Oddly the knuckle ball is seldom used these days and has been allowed to become a relic of the past. That is because the pitch could not be controlled, depending as it does on the little eddies of air and wind currents that it encounters during flight.

Secret of the pitch, of course, is that the ball does not revolve and comes up so slow that batters can actually read its printed label. But so sudden are its swoops that I have seen Catcher Mickey Cochrane reach for it shoulder high and have it hit him on the knee cap.

WHILE ON THE SUBJECT of freak pitches, the last of the registered spit-ball pitchers, Burleigh Grimes, has signed up with the Pirates for the third time after being turned loose by the Yankees. The spitter, of which there were half a dozen types was like the knuckler, in that it also did not spin in the air.

But the spitter was usually, a fast ball, moistened on one side so that at the point of release it slipped out from under the top fingers. The air pressure, sliding past the moistened side and building against the dry area, caused the ball to dip sharply, as much as two feet in the last five feet of flight. Yet, oddly, though fast and sharp, catchers tell me that the spitter was an easy ball to handle.

TOMMY ARMOUR, WHO WON the Canadian Open last week, at Toronto, had not planned to enter. He had a Pullman reservation to New York the night before play started, but in playing several rubbers of bridge lost his train and then decided to stay for a crack at the championship . . . Paul Runyan, easily the outstanding money winner in pro golf circles this year, was aghast and mortified at what he considered his "very awkward swing" while watching a movie of his P. G. A. final against Craig Wood. He is busy now beautifying the swing and, at the same time, trying to keep its effectiveness.

BRAVES-HOSE BATTLE SET FOR AUG. 31

By Joe Cashman

Now to take an off day to catch up with a few loose ends . . .

The Braves and Red Sox will play their annual game for Boston's unemployed on Aug. 31. . . . That's one Friday that won't be Ladies Day . . . The Braves have won two of the three games played . . . The rivals are more evenly matched this year than at any time since Ex-Mayor James M. Curley hit upon the idea which has produced close to $100,000 for the needy.

The big league clubs are on the home stretch. . . . The Yankees will be making their final appearance of the season at the Fens in the four-game series starting tomorrow . . . The Braves will open their final series in New York at the same time.

TIGERS HIT FAST PACE

Mickey Cochrane has his Detroit Tigers traveling at a dizzy pace . . . They turned in their eighth straight victory yesterday by scoring twice in the ninth and once in the tenth to beat the Browns and increase their lead to 2½ games. . . .

They hold the edge over every rival. . . . They spend the last month at home while the Yanks are on the road. . . . It looks like Detroit's first pennant in 25 years and the first time the American League flag has followed Horace Greeley's advice since Cleveland won in 1920.

The spitball is still with us... Burleigh Grimes, last of the moist-ball tribe, has been taken on by the Pirates after being released by the Yanks earlier in the week . . John McGraw traded Grimes to the Bucs for Vic Aldridge in 1928... Burleigh won 25 games for Pittsburgh and Aldridge one for New York.

HACK WILSON FREE

The Dodgers paid $50,000 for "Hack" Wilson two years ago .. They've just handed him his unconditional release. He isn't a ten-year man, either . . . But nobody in majors or minors would risk any cash on the little giant who poled out 56 home runs for the Cubs in 1929, knocked in 190 runs the following season and has led the circuit three times in home runs . . . The dead ball of the past two years ruined "Hack" . . . He had lost his eye when the "rabbit" pill returned this season.

Since their mid-July six game losing streak the Braves have played the best ball in the National League, winning 11 of their last 15 starts.

When Van Lingo Mungo blanked the Giants with three hits yesterday it was his first victory since he worked in the All-Star game. . . . Also it was the fourth time this season that the world's champions have been shut out. Ed Brandt, Lon Warneke and Dizzy Dean turned the trick previously . . . The Terrymen needn't feel ashamed . . . Any club with that quartet of flingers would win any league flag by a dozen games . . .

Ben Cantwell has everybody puzzled . . . He never looked worse than against the Giants at the Wigwam recently . . . He seemed to have everything during the six innings he toiled in the final game against the Phils.

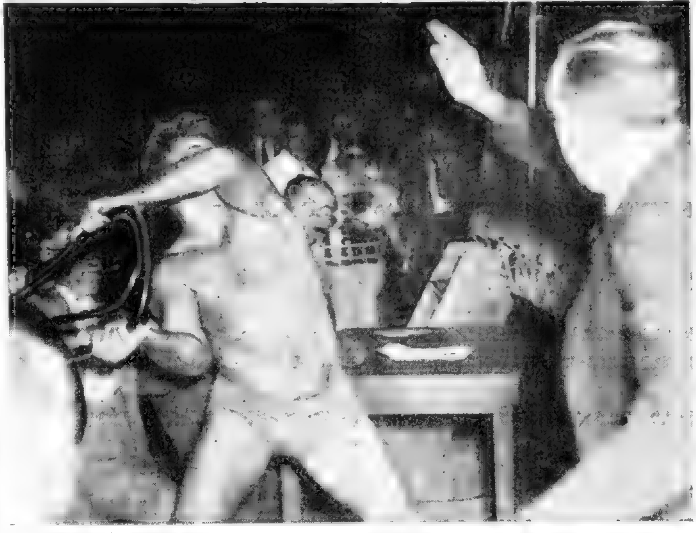
The Braves play an exhibition game at Hartford this evening . . . There's talk of the Red Sox going to Bangor next Monday . . . Maine's northeastern metropolis certainly showed the Tribe a fine time.

It's rumored that the Pirates are seeking offers for Freddy Lindstrom and that Bill Terry is considering bidding for his old "roomie," whom he sent to the Bucs as his first managerial gesture . . . Bill and Fred used to be inseparable buddies but they've just nodded in passing since that swap.

New York scribes plead to travel with the Dodgers in preference to the Giants and Yanks . . . They like Joe McCarthy, but Casey Stengel is better copy.

Flint Rhem's win over the Phils was his seventh for the Braves as against three defeats . . . If the Cards, who sent him here, had those seven wins, they'd be leading the league.

Rebel Rob Stages Wild Uprising at Arena Mat Show



Rebel Rob Russell became oh! so excited during his conflict with Red O'Dell on the Arena mat card last evening that he was going to throw a chair at somebody after he was tossed from the ring. But fortunately a spectator (in the background at left) got an iron grip on the chair and Rebel's uprising was quelled. The incident provided a thrilling moment. The bout was proclaimed a draw, after 20 minutes of milling. (Picture by Boston Evening American Staff Photographer.)

M'COY DOWNS DICK STAHL AT ARENA

McCoy took the first fall with a flying tackle in 18.36 and the third in 13.04 with a double wrist lock.

John Swensky and Frank Doyle wrestled 10 minutes to a draw, Farmer Boy Mack defeated Joe Feront in 9.20 and Boris Demetroff won from Jim Kendrick in 11.26.

George Linnehan and Freddy Moran wrestled 15 minutes to a draw, John Spellman defeated George Kohler in 12.27 and Bob Russell and Red O'Dell wrestled 20 minutes to a draw.

The bout between Harry Lundin and Tommy Thompson was declared a draw at the end of 30 minutes.

Grimes Signs 3rd Pirate Contract

Pittsburgh, Aug. 9 (INS) — Burleigh Grimes, veteran spitball artist of the major leagues, wore a Pittsburgh Pirate uniform for the third time today.

Grimes, given his unconditional release by the New York Yankees, signed his third Pirate contract yesterday and shortly thereafter went to work as a relief pitcher against the Chicago Cubs.

Manager Pie Traynor hopes the veteran hurler will be valuable in bolstering his weak pitching staff.

Wilbert Robinson, Hudson Boy Who Rose to Fame as Dodgers Pilot, Dies at 72

By Associated Press

Atlanta, Aug. 9—That famous old Oriole, Wilbert Robinson, is dead.

Death came just as Uncle Robbie, one of baseball's greatest figures, wished it—quickly and with little pain. He succumbed to a hemorrhage of the brain last night at 10.30 and his last words were about the Atlanta baseball club of which he was president.

Robinson was 72 years old.

His span of life saw him as catcher and captain of the Baltimore Orioles, saw him win two pennants at Brooklyn in the National League and finally saw him worry himself literally sick about his club here.

TEAM IN SLUMP

For the last three days Robinson had felt badly. His Crackers were in a slump after playing good ball nearly all season. He fell suddenly while emerging from his bath just before dinner yesterday evening and broke his arm. He was taken to a hospital.

At the hospital it was discovered he was suffering from a hemorrhage of the brain. The last sacrament was administered by the Rev. Edward McGrath.

As Robinson awaited the ambulance he said to the doctor:

"This broken arm doesn't hurt me. I'm an old Oriole. Wrap it up and let me stay here."

Then he turned to a friend and said:

"Maybe this broken arm will break the Cracker jinx also. I hope they can win."

And then he said, "Mary, Oh Mary"—and lapsed into unconsciousness.

MARRIED NEARLY 50 YEARS

He was calling his wife, to whom he had ben married for nearly a half century.

Robinson was born in Hudson, Mass., in June of 1864. He started his baseball career with the home team and later joined the Philadelphia Athletics after a professional year with the Haverhill team.

From 1886 until 1889 he was with the Athletics. In 1890 he became an Oriole and it was while playing with this team that he was a pal of some of baseball's great—Hughie Jennings, Willie Keeler, John McGraw, Dan Brothers and others.

In 1904 Robinson was injured and went into retirement. John McGraw sent for him in 1911 and he joined the New York Giants as coach.

WON TWO PENNANTS

He went to Brooklyn in 1914 as manager. The Brooklyn team was bankrupt and about to go under. Under Robinson's guiding genius it won two pennants and became the richest franchise in the National League and the second richest in baseball, topped only by the New York Yankees.

He was president and manager from 1926 to 1930—to heavy a burden. He retired in 1931 but two years later he was persuaded to come to Atlanta as president. His greatest friend, Colonel Tillinghast L. Huston, former owner of the New York Yankees, persuaded him to take the job.

He established a baseball record that still stands—six singles and a double in one game. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

CYCLE RIDER NEAR DEATH

Leon Newhall, Lynn motorcycle rider, in a race around the Revere Cycle track at an average speed of 72 miles an hour, had a narrow escape from serious injury last night as he slid from the top of the track to the pit.

Newhall participated in the 35 lap race which was won by Eddie Dow, Cambridge. Newhall was second with George Eramo, East Boston, third, in 4.47. The accident halted the race.

Three records were shattered. Eddie Dow set a mark of 2.12 in the two-mile test to win the deciding heat. He won the opening heat in 2.19. Al Trangone, of East Boston, won the second heat in 2.13.

Billy Nelson, New York, won the third heat in 6.51 with Leo Maggioli, East Boston, second and Walter McKenzie, Revere, third.

SARAH FACES HARD TILT AT LONGWOOD

By Walter Kiley

Longwood Bowl tennis, having successfully survived an unprecedented siege of injuries, sickness, defaults and upsets, today gets down to the business of clearing up odds and ends of doubles matches in preparation for the semifinals in the various divisions tomorrow and the finals on Saturday.

Only in the women's singles and doubles are semifinal rounds scheduled for today.

SEMIFINALS ON

Unusual interest, however, is attached to today's two semifinal women's singles matches.

For it appears that Sarah Palfrey, of Brookline, leading feminine, who only yesterday was seeded next to Helen Jacobs, national champion, at the head of next week's national field at Forest Hills, has her work more than cut out for her to reach the final round.

She must beat one of the most determined players in the field in Mrs. Marjorie Morrill Painter of Dedham, Massachusetts, indoor singles and doubles champion who has been playing steady, at times sensational, tennis throughout the early stages of this week's tourney.

In any event Greater Boston is assured one women's finalist and perhaps two. Marjorie Sachs of Cambridge, who yesterday eliminated Mrs. John Van Ryn of Philadelphia, is hitting her shots as never before in her career.

MISS SHARP FAVORED

Jane Sharp, of Los Angeles, a veteran of the front ranks, is Miss Sachs' opponent and while the West Coast player is favored, the daughter of the Harvard College professor, would occasion no surprise by reaching the final.

Semifinals of the womens' doubles which are to be played at noon find four outstanding teams battling out.

Josephine Cruikshank and Mrs. John Van Ryn, top seeded, are naturally the choice to eliminate Dr. Esther Bartosh and M. G. Harris, California combination. But Norma Taubele and Jane Sharp meet the most surprising pair of the week in Catherine Wolf and Helen Fulton who have been running roughshod over all early round opposition.

The eyes of the experts today will turn to the appearance of George Lott and Lester Stoefen, world's outstanding doubles, team who play in both the mens' and mixed doubles.

Frankie Parker of Spring Lake, N. J., who collapsed during his match with Johnny Van Ryn of Philadelphia yesterday, had recovered today. He was treated for exhaustion and after a night's rest, was reported in good condition again.

As a result Honeysweet didn't get the play he should have re-[illegible] when he came out again. The [illegible] birds couldn't figure how he could beat such horses as Source [illegible] Wise [illegible] Fiff and Adobe Post. He did [illegible] in doing so set a new track record. This fact proved his class and proved he had beaten Night Jasmine on his merits.

Beating the Races

THERE IS only one man who ever beat the races down through [illegible] He was known as Pitts-[illegible] and when he died he left [illegible] a million dollars.

[illegible] might be more correct to say Pittsburgh Phil beat an occasional [illegible] than the races. He [illegible] many persons who furnished him with expert information and when he found what he considered the right spot he would make a big bet on a race. He never bet on [illegible] of the races. He often would only wager on one race at an entire meeting.

Open date.

BOSTON TWI LEAGUE
Frasers at Lowell C. M. A. C.

By Bob Ahearn

Freddy Maguire brings his Worcester Rosebuds to Victory Field, Watertown, this evening to meet the Watertown entry in the added contest carded for the Northeastern League.

The Rosebuds due to a sudden winning streak are now safely entrenched in second place only one game back of Manchester the pace setters.

Jerry Gruenwald, the St. Louis youth will be Manager Maguire's choice for starting pitcher to stop the attack of the home club. Johnny Jones who once played for the Athletics is now a member of the Watertown roster and will start in left field. The game will be a twilight affair, starting at 6 o'clock.

Wayland is at home playing host to the improved Springfield club. The latter outfit has won its last four games.

St. Augustines and Neponset play at Garvey Field, Neponset, in a Park Department League semifinal tilt. The Southies lead in games won 2 to 1. Charlie O'Hara, scholastic star at B. C. H., is Dick Casey's pitching selection.

As a result of taking three straight from the Hennigars, Jordan Marsh Co. representatives will play the winner of tonight's game in a series for the league championship.

In an exhibition game slated for Craddock Park, Malden, this evening, Bill Dempsey's Boston Twi League entry plays the Philadelphia Colored Giants.

Lowell C. M. A. C. entertains Fraser All-stars in the only Boston Twi League game scheduled this evening.

BROWNS TAKE DAD-SON GOLF

[illegible] W. Brown and Rodney [illegible] Country Club won [illegible] annual father and son tournament yesterday by scoring [illegible]

They competed in this popular event for the first time and were in the last foursome, the 2nd pair to finish, making the two-day total 167, one less than a year ago.

The opening day 76s made by the Mungers and James and Bill Reidy seemed unattainable as team after team reported.

Even when the formidable Browns reached the turn in 38 the temporary leaders seemed safe for only one pair had played the exacting last nine under 38.

The Goodales of the home club, Percy and Bob, raced home in 35 after being 43 out. They were the only ones besides the Browns to break 80.

VON ELM HAGEN GOLF LEADER

Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 9 (I.S.)—A par-smashing second round of 67 four strokes under par gave George Von Elm of New York a one stroke lead over a classy field here in the Rochester Centennial—Walter Hagen testimonial open golf championship.

Tied for second and trailing Von Elm by a stroke were Leo Diegel, of Philadelphia, and Ky Laffoon of Denver, with 139.

Willie MacFarlane, veteran Tuckahoe, N. Y. player and A. Hulbert of Toronto, were next with totals of 141.

3 Champs Crowned in Tedesco Tennis

Three [illegible] in the North Shore junior tennis tournament at the Tedesco Country Club, Swampscott. Sylvia Hatch edged Eleana Ciccone for the junior girls title, 6-4, 6-1. Ruth Carter took the girls' title by defeating Kay Gilbert in a three-set match, 6—4, 1—6, 6—3. The younger boys' title was captured by Robert Decker over Maurice Fitzgerald 6-3, 6-8, 6-3.

Mrs. Dunham Wins in Tedesco Golf

Mrs. George F. Dunham, Jr., turned in a 194—164 to take the 36-hole tourney sponsored by Evelyn Winslow at Tedesco, leading Kay Slevin by one stroke and Mrs. J. F. Langmaid by five.

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS

Bourne 2, Orleans 1 (11 innings).

Bourne, Aug. 9.—Bob Dunn's local entry in the Cape Cod League seems to have found itself and now is hitting on all cylinders. The home club edged Orleans 2 to 1 yesterday in an 11-inning contest.

Now six games behind the league leader Barnstable, the Bourne club expects to climb up a notch in the standing over the weekend.

Tim Ready, Boston College athlete, is having a great season playing for the Bourne nine. Ready is hitting well over the 300 mark as well as turning in a fine record in the outfield.

The former mound aces of the Norwood Civic Club of the Suburban Twi League are the mainstays of the Bourne corps along with Lefty Marsh of Boston College. They are Johnny Dixon and Johnny Crimmins.

NEW BEDFORD GOLF DRAWS FAST FIELD

By Bill Grimes

New Bedford, Aug. 9.—As the contenders for the annual Country Club four-ball invitation strolled up to the first tee this morning, Pres. George R. Cherry was on hand to greet them.

Billy Bowes, who played halfback on Eddie Mahan's Harvard eleven, is laboring under the impression that he has the golf game conquered. Having taken him over the jumps, I still claim that he is a hacker.

For two months Walter T. Barker has been devoting his regular [illegible] as his spare time to putting the New Bedford Invitation across. Hats off to Walter for the fastest field of 128 players ever to compete here is in action today.

With no intention of slighting any of the other combinations, Frank E. Craven of Charles River and Lewis M. Grimball of Belmont Spring, and late of the Turpentine state are my selections to win the title. Craven is one of the best shot makers in New England and any time that he is paired up with a golfer of the Grimball type, watch out.

Dr. Owen Keefe and Frank Craven went through to win the Charles River four-ball invitation. Then, "Nick" tied up with Pat Mullaney. Pat and Ownie are at their best when the old pressure is applied to the limit, and the same is true of Louie Grimball. Who, next to the late Ray Van Arsdale, is the best man I have known working on a ten-foot putt in a pinch.

The New Bedford Invitation lost some color when Dan McCormack and Newman "Cookie" Drake were forced to withdraw. McCormack and Drake might have been flattened out on the links, but there never was a clubhouse combination capable of taking their measure.

Mike O'Grady and his crew were out at dawn this morning putting their final touches on the course. Mike has been handicapped by the drought but still his course is in fine condition. The fairways are burnt to such an extent a mere bunt goes 300 yards and it is expected that the scoring will be exceptionally low.

The acquisition of Joe Lynch who is making his initial appearance here is a boost to the New Bedford invitation. Joe is teamed up with his college teammate, Ken Corcoran who is entered from Oyster Harbors. If they meet the Lynch-Corcoran against Craven-Grimball match will be a thriller.

Although they may not win many matches, Tom McGinn and "Chuck" Weathers will in all probability have a better time than any team in the field. They were paired up to play a year ago but Chuck wrenched an ankle and was assigned to sing baritone in the locker room quartet. Although he met all comers nobody won a decision over Tom McGinn.

It will be Labor Day before Ralph Jones, the demon statistician, will be able to perform any of his masterful figuring. Ralph has never played in a New Bedford four-ball and therefore he does not realize what he is up against. We'll tip him off that he never confronted a faster and more determined assortment of sun dodgers.

When "Toots" Richardson signed up to play with J. E. Reynolds and Dana Gillingham elected to ride around on Clark Hodder's shoulder, one of the most formidable clubhouse combinations went by the boards. Richardson and Gillingham did not win many—or in fact, any—matches but, boy! how they could flatten the golfers at the 18th hole.

$5290 STAKE HIGHLIGHT AT SALEM

By Ed Cogswell

Rockingham Park, Salem, N. H., Aug. 9—The winner of the $[illegible] Hambletonian stake at Goshen, N. Y., may be seen when the National stake for three-year-old trotters valued at $[illegible] is decided here this afternoon, the eighth of the Grand Circuit meeting.

Up to date the real [illegible] of the [illegible] has been a keen puzzle. On her form of last season Bertha C. Hanover was made the favorite of the winter book. She [illegible] ord of [illegible]

In [illegible] here last Saturday, however, there [illegible] great change [illegible] like her old self and [illegible] caused her admirers to [illegible] will be primed when the big stake at Goshen is raced. This afternoon she will try to demonstrate that fact by taking into camp her opponents in the National stake.

Naturally the favorite will be Reynolds, winner the last time out, when he defeated the [illegible] opposing him today. Mistletone, Emily Stokes, Bertha C. Hanover, etc.

MUSCLETONE MAY CLICK

Up to [illegible] that Muscletone had the three [illegible] up but his defeat by Reynolds has [illegible] of the [illegible]

It is [illegible] that the trouble with Muscletone was hitting his shin and this was the cause [illegible] him [illegible] breaks. Now that the cause has been discovered it is expected the fault will be corrected and the colt will again be his old self again today.

It is well to bear in mind that it was Emily Stokes that took Muscletone's measure at Toledo. In her races since she has been a strong factor being thereabouts at all of the finishes. Were she to win today what a mess it would make in trying to pick the winner of the Hambletonian.

ENDEAVOUR IS FAST BEING PREPARED

By International News Service

Newport, R. I., Aug. 9.—Endeavour [illegible] at Bristol and is being [illegible] as rapidly as [illegible] T. O. M. Sopwith [illegible]

Today she [illegible] entirely different [illegible] craft from what she was [illegible] when she arrived after her voyage across the Atlantic. The [illegible] and [illegible] deck have been cleared and if there isn't too much of a blow to ruffle the water at the pier where she is berthed, the jury ketch rig will be unstepped and possibly the big steel stick set in place today.

Rainbow, with her "rubber" or new flexible boom in place, is off here as are the Weetamoe and the Yankee. So there is a possibility of an informal race between the two former during the day, though all three are expected to proceed to New London for the rendezvous of the New York Yacht Club [illegible] squadron [illegible] evening.

The crew of Endeavour, after nearly [illegible] days at sea, was glad to get [illegible] at Bristol last night and most of the [illegible] for comfortable navigation. [illegible] them [illegible] were impressed into service to take various groups to [illegible] of interest in Newport.

Gerard Lamb(?), who arrived aboard Mr. Sopwith's [illegible] yacht Vita, [illegible] to Endeavour [illegible] who will sail as adviser [illegible] the challenger in the afterguard, seemed [illegible] not having encountered more exciting [illegible] on the voyage. [illegible] a couple of [illegible] squalls which the [illegible] rode out magnificently [illegible]

The first kindly international gesture took place at the Bristol plant, where the Endeavour is berthed, when Harold S. Vanderbilt put Rainbow's tender Bystander at the disposal of the challenger's captain [illegible] Captain W[illegible] and [illegible] of the Endeavour, were loud in their praise of the amity, spirit and enthusiasm of the [illegible] who were substitutes for the pros who struck [illegible] by the time the America's Cup races start [illegible] Captain Pa[illegible]

Fuzzy Joe Loses Prestige as Whiskers Are Shaved

By Dave Egan

Narragansett Park, R. I., Aug. 9—Peace and contentment are once more brotherly companions on this greatest of modern horse-tracks.

Late yesterday, the poorhouse brigade of Massachusetts was engaged in a fierce combat with Rhode Island Chapter 140, National Poorhouse [illegible] Poorhouse Inhabitants, Inc.

When the battle opened the Boston boozers, led by their intrepid captain, none other than the famous Fuzzy Joe, sprung a surprise that was almost the deciding factor [illegible] longer fuzzy.

While he was soundly sleeping in the Berger Williams Park last night a Rhode Island red (Editor's note. Mr. Egan probably refers to the color of the eyes of Fuzzy Joe.) [illegible] him with a razor [illegible] face of the leading [illegible] poorhouse dignitary.

FUZZY UNRECOGNIZED

The effects of this move were felt in both camps. The visiting gentry from Beantown refused to recognize their brave captain and leader without his facial adornment.

After a good deal of fancy wig-wagging between G. Washington [illegible] the Goof and Harry the Hawker the unfuzzed Fuzzy Joe was allowed to join up with [illegible]

DONALD BOOM STARTS

But as no suitable office could be found all the stalls being in use, Dusty Donald declined with thanks. He could have saved himself the bother of thanking his poor but proud playmates, as the aforementioned playboys forgot all about poor Donald [illegible] to see the very elegant corncob pipe which Peter Plude found in a huge pile of rakings.

The committee would never take [illegible] highest spot available, which happened to be atop one of the palm [illegible]

PETER BIDS FOR VOTES

In his acceptance speech Peter Plude made a lovely bid for votes from all sections of New England.

"I have no prejudice against my brethren from any section of this vast continent, bounded by Allens avenue on the north and the confines of Warren on the other three sides. In fact, if anyone can produce a stem for my pipe I will declare peace with all nations."

The speech was widely received by the gathering both from Rhode Island and as well as Massachusetts. At the conclusion of the day's events it would appear that perhaps Fuzzy Joe will take a run-out [illegible] in this battle and present Peter Plude with the pipe stem [illegible] cause and buy a copy of [illegible]

GOV. ELY SEES TRIBE WINDUP WITH PHILS

By Joe Cashman

[illegible] Davis when he tagged Billy Urban out at the plate in the sixth inning of the final Braves-Phils clash wasn't serious. The season's prize rookie will be able to return to the mound before the end of the week.

[illegible] 17 men down in order before a Berger single broke his spell with one gone in the fifth. The two runs the Tribe scored off him in the sixth before the spiking forced him to quit were earned. [illegible] over on four of the cheapest sort of hits.

The Phils scored only three runs in the series and all three were driven in by Ethan Allen, speedy leftfielder.

"Bucky" Walters hit a drive through the box that tore Ben Cantwell's glove off his hand, but the Tribal flinger recovered the pill in time for the putout.

The bases were full, there were two out and the count on Marty McManus was three and two when [illegible] threw the fourth ball [illegible] the winning run in the [illegible]. We've seen winning runs forced over in the ninth but can never recall seeing it happen before with the out, strike and ball count the same as it was on this occasion. Marty got in the game as a pinch hitter for Cantwell in the sixth and singled. He went to second base for the first time since Mallon joined the club when the new keystone sacker was removed for a hitter in the sixth after fanning twice.

[illegible] Thompson did the [illegible] Mallon and came through with a single that chased home two runs.

Dizzy Dean won his second [illegible] the season when he went to the [illegible] in the tenth inning [illegible] the Reds and held on until the [illegible] 12th. Brother Paul started the contest.

The Cubs made a little hay while the sun was shining, walloping the Pirates twice as Van Mungo was leading the Dodgers to a shutout victory over the Giants. The twin win put the Windy City entry within 2½ games of the roof. And increased the Braves' lead over the Pirates to three games.

Gen. Alvin Crowder made his [illegible] as a Tiger against the Browns. He was relieved in the sixth with the Bengals trailing, but he escaped defeat when his new mates tied the score in the ninth and won out in the tenth.

The Senators knocked Charlie Ruffing out of the box in the first frame and breezed to a win over the Yankees who are now 2½ games back of the pack.

HUEY TO CALL OFF 'WAR

By Universal Service

New Orleans, Aug. 9—Senator Huey P. Long, the showman, is about to ring down the curtain on his latest feature attraction, "Who Controls the Ballot Box," now playing in and around the City Hall.

While the Senator made ready to call off the second battle of New Orleans, carried on in 20th century style, the federal government began a preview of what might later develop into a sensational scandal involving high officials in connection with income taxes.

The government called here Mike Moss, one-time political ally of Senator Long. Brought from the quietness of his Arizona ranch, Moss spent the greater part of the day before an inquiring grand jury. His testimony, it was said dealt with certain income taxes.

Meanwhile, National Guard occupation of the registrar's office guarded from behind the throne by the powerful Huey Long, continued.

Across a narrow alley, patrols of special city police "guarded" the City Hall occupied by Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley, one time friend of Long, who is seeking to hold control of the voting power in the city from the Long group.

FARLEY GIVES LEHMAN AID

New York, Aug. 9—Endorsing the candidacy of Governor Herbert H. Lehman, Postmaster General James A. Farley declined to state whether he would back U. S. Senator Royal S. Copeland for re-election.

Farley, after conferring with Secretary of State Edward J. Flynn, political intimate of the Governor, predicted Lehman's re-election with these words:

"Of course he will be re-elected by an overwhelming majority and we shall elect our entire Democratic state ticket and our candidate for the United States Senate."

Farley and Flynn, asked if the latter assertion could be interpreted as endorsement of Copeland's candidacy, declined to elaborate.

Dr. Munro, Brown Professor, Dead

Providence, Aug. 9 (AP)—Wilfred Harold Munro, professor emeritus at Brown University, a distinguished historian of national standing, died today at his home here in his 85th year.

Dr. Munro was professor of history at Brown for 20 years. He retired from active teaching in 1911. He was the author of many historical works and an authority on Rhode Island history. Surviving him are his sister, Annette G. Munro, former dean of Rochester University, and a brother, Dr. Walter L. Munro of Providence.

Quinby Estate Gets Tax Rebate

Washington, Aug. 9—The board of tax appeals announces an abatement of $61,030 in the estate tax assessed against the estate of [illegible]field S. Quinby, formerly of Boston.

The over-assessment represents the excess [illegible] the correct tax liability as determined by an order of the board of tax appeals. Herbert K. Hallett, of Boston, is executor of the estate.

Helen Jacobs Top Seeded in U.S. Play

New York, Aug. 9 (US)—Helen Hull Jacobs, defending champion, was seeded No. 1 in the draw for the women's national tennis championships which opens Moday at the West Side Tennis Club, Forest Hills.

Only three other Americans were seeded, Sarah Palfrey, Carolin Babcock and Mrs. Dorothy Andrus following the top-seeded ace in the order named.

South Boston Asks New Safety Lights

Alarmed by frequent accidents to children at East Eighth and L streets, South Boston, 74 families in that district have petitioned the traffic commission to install traffic lights at the intersection.

The petition, filed by Philip J. Clark of 1 Springer street, stated that both streets are smooth-finished and are used as speedways by traffic between intown Boston and the South Shore beaches.

CORNELIA OTIS SKINNER HEADS VALLEE PROGRAM

Bob Armstrong Lila Lee Also on Bill

Cornelia Otis Skinner heads the impressive list of talent starring tonight on Rudy Vallee's weekly hour of melody and wit (WEEI). Miss Skinner will air one of her famous monologues for the benefit of the Variety program listeners. Lila Lee and Robert Armstrong, well known Hollywoodites will present a dramatic sketch from the new motion picture, "Gigolette," in which they were featured. Milton Berle, the popular Broadway comedian and Ferdinand Himmelreich, the pianist, will also star in the program. And of course that ace musician and genial master-of-ceremonies, Rudy Vallee, will be at the mike.

One of Boston's own will come home to roost in the hearts and ears of radioland tonight when Carolyn Rich, that vivacious, golden-haired contralto, makes her Columbia network debut (WNAC) from 11 15 to 11 45 with Ferde Grofe and his orchestra. Miss Rich was born in Hamburg, Germany, 23 years ago, but has lived in Boston for 20 years. Having been educated at Girls' high school it is only proper that we call her our own.

Al (Mammy) Jolson will play the part of the beloved composer in a dramatic sketch entitled "An Incident from the Life of Stephen Foster" on the Paul Whiteman Music Hall broadcast (WEEI) tonight from 10 00 to 11 00. Helen Jepson, the Music Hall's Lyric soprano, will sing "Dupuis la Jour" from the opera "Louise," by Charpentier. Deep-throated Ramona and Peggy Healy will also share the mike honors with Paul Whiteman.

Mack Gordon and Harry Revel, co-writers of "Did You Ever See a Dream Walking" and "With My Eyes Wide Open, I'm Dreaming" will be guests tonight of the Captain Henry Show Boat weekly program (WEEI) at [illegible]. Lanny Ross, the program's head man, will render both favorite songs of the song writing team.

[illegible] where these hard days. It has just come to our ears that Emerson Gill, for the past two seasons a Norumbega Park broadcasting attraction, has been made a Colonel of Kentucky on the staff of Governor Laffoon of that State.

Ed (SOOOOOOO) Wynn, radio's horse-minded fire chief, will leave that animal at home when he goes to Milwaukee on Aug. 22 to be made an honorary member of the International Association of Fire Chiefs at their annual convention.

Supplemented with musical interludes by Carson Robison and his [illegible] a sketch, the daring exploits of [illegible] Dan, legendary Robin Hood of the Southwest pioneer days—will be dramatized tonight (WNAC) during the Bar X Days and Nights program from 9 00 to 9 30.

DON AMECHE

Don Ameche . . . The classroom tourist . . . Who has sat in seven seats of learning . . . In a radius of 2[illegible] miles . . . To learn that [illegible] . . . And six day bicycle races . . . And golf . . . And riding and the like . . . Are a lot of fun.

This entertainer was born at Kenosha . . . Which is in Wisconsin.

Don first attended public school in Kenosha . . . [illegible] in Wisconsin . . . But he shifted [illegible] St. Berchman's Seminary . . . Which is in Cedar Rapids [illegible] In Iowa . . . And next he went to Columbia Academy . . . At Dubuque, Iowa . . . And . . . surprisingly . . . Managed to stick in Dubuque . . . Until he went through Columbia College.

Then he shifted back to Marquette University . . . Which is in Milwaukee . . . Also Wisconsin . . . But next he took a long hop . . . All the way to Washington, D. C. . . . Where he entered Georgetown University . . . Taking the law course . . . The Marquette stop having been for the pre-legal.

Well . . . If you think that Don stopped there you're crazy . . . Because then Don shunted himself westward again and finished his law at Wisconsin University.

Meanwhile, . . . When he was still at St. Berchman's . . . He had given his first concert . . . And at St. Berchman . . . As well as at Columbia . . . He studied music.

It all wound up with his becoming a leading man . . . With the "First Nighters" air program . . . On the NBC network . . . Opposite June Meredith . . . And there they are . . .

Malden Youth Pedals 301 Miles in Single Day

A trip of 301 miles in a day is a [illegible] good drive for a modern auto but Howard C. Moore, of Oxford street, Malden, thinks nothing of covering that much ground in 24 hours on a bicycle.

Starting his ride at 4 o'clock in the morning and concluding it at 4 the following morning, Moore pedalled his way over a 301-mile circuit at a total cash outlay of $1.55, which he spent on food.

His itinerary took him from Malden to Portsmouth, N. H., thence to Portland and Brunswick, Me. After a 20-minute rest in Brunswick he again mounted his iron steed and headed for Gorham, N. H., arriving there at 4 25 in the afternoon.

From Gorham he swerved [illegible] to Sanford, Me., then continued to Rochester, N. H., for a total of 216 miles, which earned him a 40-minute respite. Returning, by way of Dover, N. H., he reached Hampton Beach at midnight, and followed the Newburyport Turnpike back to Malden.

EDMUND LOWE, JACK HOLT TO SWAP 'WISE CRACKS' -:- NEW FILMS FOR SHOWS HERE

'Two-for-One' by Corey Ford to Be Next Feature; Victor McLaglen Is Left Out

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Motion Picture Editor Universal Service
(Copyright, 1934, Universal Service Inc.)

Los Angeles, Aug. 9—Edmund Lowe is all set for a new sparring partner. The moment he finishes wise-cracking with Victor McLaglen at the Fox studios, he will move to Columbia to rib Jack Holt, who will be co-starred with him in "Two-For-One."

"Two-for-One," is by the brilliant young writer, Corey Ford, and it's due to be published in a magazine some time this fall. Harry Cohn read it in manuscript form and grabbed it quickly, intrigued by the situations laid in the Yukon during the gold rush. If Eddie and Jack put on a good show together there will be other co-starring vehicles for them. This means that Victor McLaglen will have to go looking around to get himself another partner.

Louella Parsons

A fair exchange is no robbery. Am I bright this morning? Universal and Warners have just done a swap which means that Warren William will now make love to Claudette Colbert. He replaces Paul Lukas, who was originally cast in "Imitation of Life." Lukas moves to Warners for the lead in "King of the Ritz," which was originally intended for William. Claudette and Warren did all right in "Cleopatra" together, so this is a deal that seems to please the whole world. I mean the whole film world.

All Barbara Stanwyck needs is the right story to put her where she belongs—in the front row. She is a great little trouper and the only trouble has been that some of the stories given her haven't done her justice. That is going to be changed, according to Jack Warner, who is concentrating on giving Miss Stanwyck the right vehicles. Today he purchased "Concealment," an unproduced play by Leonard Ide, a problem play with a heavy dramatic part. Archie Mayo, one of Warners' best directors, will do the bossing, with Tom Buckingham and F. Hugh Herbert preparing the scenario.

Barbara Stanwyck

Any ambition that Eva Le Gallienne has to direct Josephine Hutchinson in the movies will not be realized. Mervyn Le Roy, who considers Miss Hutchinson a potential star, will direct her in her next picture. Since there is no chance of Miss Hutchinson returning to the Civic Repertory Theatre, the possibility of Miss Le Gallienne's ever directing Miss Hutchinson again is exceedingly remote. Meanwhile, Le Gallienne is in England working with Clemence Dane on the script of "L'Aiglon," which the Civic Repertory Theatre purposes producing this fall as part of its program.

You can keep abreast of the times and learn current events by going to the movies. No big event, social or political, ever happens without having some motion picture company nab the idea. Now comes Monogram with the plan to make "Stratosphere." Eddie Nugent will play Lieutenant Woods and neither he nor Mel Brown, the director, should have any trouble getting their data on the recent sky expedition into the stratosphere. William Cagney and June Collyer have the other important roles.

Snapshots of Hollywood

EDDIE LOWE'S two aunts to be feted with a buffet supper Sunday night. SOPHIE TUCKER postcards the Dutch are all right. She had 15 curtain calls in an Amsterdam theater. Junior Laemmle stepping out with MARY CARLISLE and buying her dinner. The autograph hounds capturing CHARLES CHAPLIN in front of SARDI'S and fairly swamping him. STEPHEN AMES and RAQUEL TORRES joining the Bel Air colony. Their home to be a typical Mexican adobe. ANN SOTHERN'S mother, well known on the concert stage, arriving for a visit with her daughter. HAROLD LLOYD lunching on grilled liver and more grilled liver, ready and waiting for him at Levy's tavern. LORETTA YOUNG and her sisters, POLLY ANN and SALLY BLANE, teaing their pals at LORETTA'S house. JOE E. BROWN adding an autographed helmet worn by CAPTAIN FRANK HAWKS when he crashed in 1932, to his collection. JOE E. has everything from BABE RUTH'S baseball bat to CARNERA'S boxing glove. ADRIENNE AMES traveling home from New York this fall in a car given her by BRUCE CABOT for her birthday. That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Smiling Bravely Through Troubles

DIANA WYNYARD and Frank Lawton, very British and altogether charming, appear as two who love each other very much in Galsworthy's "One More River," finale of the famous Forsyte saga, which is on the screen at the Keith Memorial with a distinguished cast.

Globe Trotter News Events

The new edition of Hearst Metrotone News, currently on view at Boston theaters, shows the nation's welcome home to President Roosevelt, who received a triumphal greeting at Portland, Ore., at the conclusion of his Hawaiian trip. The Globe Trotter graphically describes the gala homecoming.

There are exciting scenes from the "civil war" in New Orleans with Mayor Walmsley mobilizing the police to defy Huey Long's army in political battle.

Other interesting views which the Globe Trotter tells of in the current Hearst news reel are the million dollar cloudburst at Bridgeton, New Jersey; the famous tennis classic at Wimbledon, London, with England holding the Davis Cup; the tragic air accident resulting in the death of Mrs. Frances Marsalis in a national contest at Dayton.

'One More River' at Keith's, Bing Crosby Is at the Met, 'Treasure Island' at State

Opening programs today and tomorrow at Boston theaters present an array of stars and productions which have been heralded from Hollywood as among the most notable of the season's new films.

Advancing the regular opening day from Saturday to today, the Keith Memorial offers the late John Galsworthy's "One More River," his last novel and the finale of the famous Forsyte saga. Diana Wynyard has the role of the young London matron whose tragic marriage is the theme of the story. Frank Lawton appears as Tony Croom who loves her, and Colin Clive plays the disagreeable husband. An altogether distinguished cast contributes to the production, with Mrs. Patrick Campbell, Reginald Denny, Jane Wyatt, Henry Stephenson, Lionel Atwill, Alan Mowbray and E. E. Clive among the players.

Closely following its smashing success on Broadway dramatic stages, "She Loves Me Not" comes to the Metropolitan tomorrow in its picture version by Paramount, starring Bing Crosby and Miriam Hopkins with Kitty Carlisle features of a new musical revue citing escapades in a Princeton dormitory, where a night club dancer takes refuge after witnessing a murder, has been added a clever and tuneful musical score. The stage presentation features a newm usical revue headed by the comedy team of William and Joe Mandel. Others billed are Herman Hyde and Miss Mona, Arthur Boran, Georgie Tapps, the Balabanow Five and the Elida Ballet.

The world premere of the beloved Stevenson classic, "Treasure Island," with Jackie Cooper as young Jim Hawkins and Wallace Beery as Long John Silver, is scheduled for tomorrow at Loew's State. A notable cast appears in the exciting tale of the youthful adventurer, with Lionel Barrymore as Billy Bones, Otto Kruger as Dr. Liversey, Lewis Stone as Captain Smollet, Charles (Chic) Sale as the marooned pirate, Benn Gann and Nigel Bruce as Squire Trelawney.

At the Paramount and Fenway a new double feature program offers "Housewife," with Bette Davis, George Brent and Ann Dvorak comprising one more eternal triangle with a comedy element in the dramatic story. On the same bill "She Learned About Sailors," which promises hilarious happenings in an entertaining story with Lew Ayres, Alice Faye, Harry Green and Mitchell and Durant in the cast.

At the Keith-Boston two more new feature films make up the new week's program. In "Manhattan Love Song" Robert Armstrong plays the chauffeur-butler for two wealthy ladies in an amusing play which features Dixie Lee in the cast. The companion piece is "Hat, Coat and Glove," with Ricardo Cortez, Dorothy Burgess, Louise Beavers and John Beal the principals.

"Paris Interlude" comes to the screen at Loew's Orpheum for a first run showing tomorrow, with Madge Evans as the heroine of the screen story which has been adapted from the stage success, "All Good Americans."

At the Fine Arts the new program presents two of the latest German film successes with "Danton," story of the French Revolution, on the same bill with "Schubert's Dream of Spring."

COOK-COOS by Ted Cook

French Foreign Minister Barthou says Britain and France have found they are "agreed on the European situation."

Almost everybody has found they're agreed on the situation. It's lousy.

The present need is for a few nations able to agree themselves out of it.

YOU'RE WELCOME, BOYS

(From Lamar, Mo., Democrat)

Ed Young sends us this from the World's Fair, on a card: A party of us walked into the Italian villa, at the fair. A man read our name and address on our badge. He immediately pelled, "Stop the show! Here's people from Lamar, Mo., where the Democrat is published." We entered everything free. Thanks.

Q. and A. DEPARTMENT

Dear, Helpful Aunt Bella:

Will you please give me the address of the Communist Party of the United States of America?

Interested.

Ans.—With the limited space at her disposal, Auntie B. does not feel that she can go into questions of this nature which are a lot of trouble besides. You'd better go to a meeting sometimes and hear it for yourself.

A. ("Poor Memory Anyway") Bella.

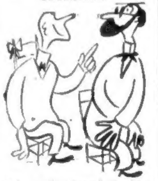
NEWS FROM THE FRONT.

"I'm probably the most virile man and one of the most active in the United States today"—Wilbur Glenn ("Flat World") Voliva.

PARDON OUR LITTLE PUN, PROFESSOR



"Why is it," demands Professor David Waldo Fosdick, economist, "that women in America spend more for cosmetics than is spent for education throughout the entire nation?"

Professor Fosdick! Draw up a chair.
Don't be hysterical! There, there, there.
Calm yourself. And now prepare
For what we deem fundamentals.

Women, by nature, constantly yearn
For a broad education. To learn
By trial and by error—they burn
For knowledge, Professor Fosdick.

So to the counters they constantly surge.
Buy rouge and lotions, make a great splurge;
Thus they obey the Cosmetic Urge!
(It's so sill, Professor Fosdick!)

A snarl from Patricia McCarry of San Francisco—

A pox upon the throaty clan
That gurgles "Oh, you narsty man!"

Adam Scofflaw's Djournal

This night home late, wearie and perplexed from playing of the marble game at the apotheck's and find my wfye in a rash temper, and never have I seen her spit such fire (a veritable ague of rage) she saying I hath promised to fetch her to see Ladie Kinch's dance recital, but I did, methinks, calm my wyfe prettily, by calling her my ewe lamb, so that her wroth languished and vanisheth away.

M'ADOO DIVORCE JUDGE SUED

By Universal Service

Los Angeles, Aug. 9—In the form of a $35,000 damage suit, Attorney Henry Grivi retaliated here against Superior Judge Frank C. Collier for the verbal chastisement given him by the jurist in connection with the speedy divorce that Mrs. Eleanor Wilson McAdoo obtained recently from U. S. Senator William G. McAdoo.

The suit, filed for Grivi by Attorney W. H. Neblett, law partner of the junior California senator, takes issue with a statement appended to the divorce decree by Judge Collier in his capacity as presiding jurist of the superior court.

His suit declares Judge Collier's statement has "irreparably damaged his reputation and his position as an attorney."

Study of New Deal

AN article entitled "New Deal Balance Sheet," which Frederick R. Barkley, correspondent in Washington of the Baltimore Evening Sun, contributes to "The Nation," will afford the Administration little comfort.

Taking as a starting point the President's pre-election promise of a more equitable distribution of the national income the writer reviews the actual accomplishments toward that end of the various recovery agencies.

As to the NRA, while conceding a certain psychological benefit to the "unrivalled bally-hoo which General Johnson built up around that mushroom organization," he declares that all it has really done has been to create higher prices as well as higher wages, with little prospect that wages will ever overtake, much less pass, the increase in prices.

As to the AAA, it has collected $385,000,000 in processing taxes, of which about $200,000,000 has gone to the farmers in benefit payments, land rentals and purchases of surplus crops.

Farm purchasing power, with these benefit payments deducted, has risen but a point since June, 1933, from which it appears the contribution to redistribution of national income made by the AAA is this sum of $200,000,000 in benefit cash, which is described as paltry compared to the vast public expenditure made to bring it about.

Refinancing of farm mortgages, under the Emergency Farm Mortgage act, is estimated to have saved the farmers $15,000,000 a year in interest; and several millions more are claimed to have been saved to them through legislation which reduced interest rates on farm mortgages.

There is another estimated saving to urban home owners through the Home Owners' Loan Corporation of $15,000,000, in the belief of the corporation's experts.

As to the savings the people may derive from the Securities and Stock Exchange acts, the Tariff Trading act, the Tennessee Valley Authority and its subsidiary, the Electric Home and Farm Authority, the gains are as yet problematical.

THE actual amount of Rooseveltian redistribution, the writer of this interesting summary thus finds to be "pathetically small."

Although Mr. Barkley's standpoint is obviously that of a New Dealer and a sympathizer with the Roosevelt intentions, he is apparently unhappy.

Giving the President credit for brave and heartening pledges, he still deems it a matter of speculation whether he can "prevent a limping economy from bogging down into uncontrolled inflation, or into a wallow of bureaucratic ineffectiveness."

Stop Racketeers!

ONE of the principal reasons for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment was the expectation that a great tax income from liquors would follow.

Now it is revealed that this income, while indeed large, is being seriously depleted by New England and other liquor smugglers and racketeers.

A report in the hands of Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau indicates $250,000 a month is being lost to the Government through smuggling of liquor along the New England coast.

This is at the rate of $3,000,000 a year. It would shift the burden of a lot of taxes, perhaps save your neighbor's or your own home, among many others, from tax seizure.

The rising tide of tax-free liquors must be stopped. The long arm of the Federal Government, backed by the support of decent citizens, can stop it. And will.

Tax-dodging rum smugglers, still runners, speakeasy keepers and all their ilk must be suppressed.

The liquor control machinery must be made to run smoothly—a few hitches are to be expected while it is being put into operation.

Let Washington furnish this fleet and whatever else is needed for honest law enforcement. And be SURE it's HONEST!

New York's Bad Example

Despite the lifelong efforts of such eminent men as Alfred E. Smith and Judge Seabury, New York has always stood for much that is bad in government. Just because so much corruption finds its way into city and state affairs there, the stage is always set for great crusaders and reformers.

In the past they have scored notable victories, but the hydra-headed monster of graft always rears up once more. For every reform that is adopted, a dozen reforms are killed. That was the case again this week when two county reform resolutions were allowed to die in Albany.

Massachusetts, on the other hand, has always considered itself a paragon of good government to be held before the Legislatures of other states as a model.

But in New York, Governor Lehman and a minority of the legislators at least made an attempt to secure county reform. What has been done about this matter in Massachusetts? Very little except to kill the measures that Mayor Mansfield sponsored before the last, lobby-ridden General Court.

County reform is as essential here as it is in our sister States. And the voters will not be satisfied if the Massachusetts record is no better than that of New York. The next Legislature dare not follow the Empire State's bad example.

Court in High Gear

Quincy court was in high gear when Judge Kenneth Nash fined a Granite City man $110 for driving with out-of-state registration plates. A Newburyport speeder was also fined in court in that city.

Coincidence stepped in when it happened that justice tried her scales in each case within an hour after the alleged offender had been "picked up."

$100 for a Pole

St. Albans, Vt., reporter is authority for the statement that the Green Mountain Power Company has been successful in collecting about $100 each for nearly all its poles knocked down by motorists.

Any kind of collection in "nearly all" accident cases is very much better than the average motorist can achieve when others crash him.

Our business men too would be glad to have the power company's recipe for collections.

My name is off the list!"

Listen, World! -:- By Elsie Robinson

A "LEISURE CLASS"

Gertrude Atherton is a brilliant and charming person. But with all due orchids and salaams, I do believe that the lady has made Bonehead Suggestion No. 7,425,689 when she remarks that America needs a "Larger Leisure Class."

Elsie Robinson

"No country," says she, "can reach the highest stage of civilization without a leisure class, and the larger the country the more numerous should it be. The United States should have at least two million men, aside from college circles, who avowedly devote their lives to the steady development of the intellect and the aesthetic sense, varied, of course, by the lighter amusements and pleasures.

LEISURE IDEAS

"With a young leisure class, then a mature leisure class, devoting themselves to the only things that give civilization a meaning, the awful problem of boredom would be solved for women, for they would have companions. Most of them are merely resigned to husbands who have nothing of interest to talk about when they come home at night."

And I'd like to know what our calloused Granddads would say to remarks like that! According to them, there were only two kinds of people in this country—Workers and Bums. Workers were all those who paid their own way by their own efforts—and included every man with a smitch of self respect.

Bums were those who didn't. Bums might wear rags and whiskers and inhabit the jungle south of the railroad track. Or they might wear silk hats and pearl spats and reside in Riverside Drive palaces. It mattered not—all Regular Guys worked at something. Those who didn't were tramps.

To be sure there were, even then, certain queer creatures who composed what was known as The Leisure Class. These eggs spent their time riding Kentucky horses, soaking in German baths and marrying their daughters off to more or less decayed French noblemen.

It was fun to read about them in the Sunday Supplement, but no one took them seriously. Biologically they ranked with five-legged calves, albino monkeys, carrot pie, sword eaters, acorn portieres, warts and other useless and peculiar phenomena.

LOUNGE LIZARDS

Any normal human being who had suddenly declared that he intended to belong to the Leisure Class—or had even expressed an admiration for their program—would have been hustled off to the hoosegow pronto by his horrified and humiliated family.

Within recent years, I regret to say, this attitude has altered. There has been a strange reaction toward work and workers.

New slogans and ideals "Only saps work." "Easy money." An increasing conviction that work is a racket that smart guys should beat. And mushroom mobs of loafers demonstrating what a swell idea that is.

Hotel lobbies filled with lounge lizards waiting for some woman to buy their cocktails. Gigolos at bargain prices

Handy lads who do anything—provided it doesn't look like hard labor—in exchange for a home. Long-haired Litterati who—as far as mortal eye can discern—have never done anything since birth save litterat. As well as the regular varieties of moocher and gangster. And the usual moneyed morons who just hang around and fill in the chinks.

So I suppose America has at last achieved a Leisure Class. But why a smart woman like Mrs. Atherton should want two million more of 'em beats me. Whereupon she will doubtless protest—

"But these are not the people I have in mind. I referred to people of taste and intelligence—men and women who devote their lives to the pursuit of beauty and refinement—"

JUST THE POINT

But that's just the point. People being what they are, it is utterly impossible to devote one's life to the pursuit of beauty and refinement, and continue to be worth a hoot as a human being. Millions have tried it—and look at them now.

They have, it is true, covered all our better geography, surveyed countless objects of art, collected etchings, first editions, Mexican glass and funny dogs. But when it comes to sympathy, understanding, humor and horse sense, a good bowl of gruel has it all over them.

I admit the average horny-handed son of toil isn't much for looks, and even less for smell. But the fact remains that the worthwhile achievements, even those in the world of beauty and refinement—are done by guys who sweat. And wonder where in the devil they're going to dig up the rent.

So, in spite of Mrs. Atherton, I'm afraid America isn't going to be very strong for a Leisure Class just yet. Except maybe for knick-knacks. You never can tell what people will collect. While as for these ladies who are so frightfully bored by husbands who can't talk about anything but making Money—

Well, perhaps when I hear one of those dish-faced dolls refusing to take some of that money the making of which bores her so I'll begin to take her whining seriously.

At present there's only one sight more disgusting to me than a male loafer—or one I'd rather use as a target for nice, big, juicy custard pie—and that's a female one. So count me out, Mrs. Atherton, when you start assembling your Leisure Class. Or—I warn you—somebody will have to pick up a lot of de luxe remains.

Marry-Go-Round -:- By Helen Rowland

THESE MODERN LOVERS

Divorce is getting to be such a foregone conclusion that the average girl is a potential grass widow while she's on her way to the altar.

Sometimes, an "old horse" can learn new tricks, but you can never be sure that he won't break his neck trying them out.

Helen Rowland

The wisest, strongest, most independent woman who ever ran a business office or a political campaign has her weaker moments when she longs to be petted and called "Little Girl," while she cries it all out on some man's coat lapel.

In love, a woman is always 20 leaps ahead of a man. Her mind is at the altar putting up the wedding decorations, while he is still floating hazily around in the first flush of romance and wondering what is the matter with him.

In the vicissitudes and exigencies of marriage, it is far more necessary for a husband to be lovable, capable and loyal than it is for him to be rich, brainy or handsome.

No man will believe it but nothing bores the average girl so much as the automatic kiss, which every man seems to regard as part of the taxicab etiquette.

The woman who does not take a man seriously is always his notion of a paragon of commonsense. She is always cheerful, never asks questions, never bothers him with telephone calls and never even notices that he hasn't been around for a week.

No ardent golfer really needs a wife. He has something to love, something to spend his money on, something to swear at—and something on which to work off his Sunday morning hangover.

The honeymoon is over when he tells her bluntly that her nose is shiny and she answers (without reaching for her powder-puff), "Well? What of it?"

THOUGHT IN A GARDEN

A garden is a little spot
  Where rain and sun and earth combine
To shape the frail forget-me-not
  And model phlox and eglantine.

The fragile petals truly made
  With dainty colorings appear
And every leaf and every blade
  Is perfect as a falling tear.

The products of a summer night
  Of Nature's closely guarded looms
Are countless things of sheer delight
  From candytuft to lily blooms.

  And wonder just how long 'twould take
Man to invent forget-me-not
  Or something like a daisy make.

Stars and Stripes

Purvis and his band of federal agents are now going after John Hamilton, Dillinger satellite, and Purvis' slogan is "DON'T bring 'em back alive."

In West Virginia there are nine Democratic candidates for the U. S. senate and five Republicans, which, in that state, constitutes a Democratic landslide.

Human Side of the News; Making the Rain

By Edwin C. Hill

One of my friends, talking about the drouth, tells me about the South American "bull-roarer," used for rain making. He found a native mother in the Colombian jungles, spanking her little boy. He had been playing the bull-roarer, and they already had had too much rain.

The bull-roarer is an elaborate affair of bow, strings and sounding drum which gives an imitation of a thunder storm which, says my friend, would have delighted the late David Belasco.

It is "Imitative Magic," used by primitive peoples in many countries. Water is man's first need and the race has importuned the gods for life-giving rain in savage ceremonies, in intricate and mystic rites, in dances, chants prayers, sacrifices and incantations from the dawn of time down to today.

LEAN SEVEN YEARS

Soviet Russia, hurling all the power of its godless oligarchy against religion, finds the old religious ceremonies and processions forming again as the peasants make their supplications for rain.

Just recently, as it happens, I got word from the West that through the drouth stricken areas there is spreading the conviction that the drouth is a divine visitation for the sin of destroying surplus cattle and grain.

There is mumuring "As the seven years of dearth begin to come, according to what Joseph had said, and the dearth is in all lands."

Politicians keep a close weather eye on this. They know how things terrestial and things celestial are interwoven in the mind of man. Back to the "dream time" of man goes this outreach for a beneficient power somewhere in the skies.

In fact, in the language of the Arunta, a central Australian tribe, the word "alcheringa" means the early "dream time" of the race, whence is drawn the only wisdom by which man may commune with his gods.

Water is the totem of this tribe. A drouth brings together tribesmen painted in red and yellow ochre and pipe clay and decked in eagle feathers, swirling for days in elborate dances. These dances, in their tempo and their climatic movements cleverly imitative of a storm, are followed by chants of thanksgiving.

RAT TAKES MESSAGE

The Kartish tribe, also of Central Australia, continue an ancient ceremony by which two old men draw water from their whiskers. They paint a rainbow on the ground and into a vessel toss fragments of white, symbolic of clouds. The wives of the old men rush about, flap their arms and scream, imitating the plover, a bird always associated with rain.

The Tjingilli tribe ceremoniously releases a specially fatted handicoot rat, with a message for the rain gods tied on its tail. It is supposed to return in the van of a thunder storm.

There is a central African tribe which, to bring rain, kills a black ox and buries the grass taken from its stomach. In New Caledonia certain tribesmen paint themselves black and exhume a dead body.

The Zuni Indians stage a particularly realistic ceremony. They use a noise machine, similar to the "bull-roarer," while a separate crew works up a tremendous lather in a huge vessel—this being the turbulent welter of clouds for the thunderstorm.

The Tarahumari Indians, hard-working farmers, go about it in a quiet, workmanlike way. The father teaches all the children ceremonial rain dances. When one is found to be better than the others, he is assigned to dancing while the others work in the fields.

All day long, he stays in the hut, interminably dancing. At the end of the day others take up the night shift, but if the day worker is beginning to get action—with a cloud somewhere in the sky, he continues through the night.

SOME RACKETEERING

In Africa, the English found, here and there, a bit of racketeering growing up among the rainmakers. Old Chief Umbandine, King of the Swazis, whose specialty was sacrificing cattle to bring rain, used to clean up when he brought a storm. Then he used to collect again, threatening to let the rain go on forever if they didn't pay.

My jungle-scouting friend tells me of the "Tulia Vieja," the old Tulia of South America, a dreadful creature which blights and curses all living things. No rain will fall when she is anywhere around. Ages ago she murdered her child and in punishment, the gods turned her feet backward and her body blood red. It is a good season for the Obi man, selling rain and spells and defensive charms, when the Old Tulia comes."

My friend was summoned to his hut at 2 o'clock in the morning by a frantic native, imploring him to "say an oration" against the Old Tulia, who was creeping up on the village. In the bright moonlight, he stood on a stump and sonorously declaimed the Declaration of Independence.

The natives said it was marvelously effective, and they had him reciting it on all occasions. Our politicians occasionally "say an oration" for the farm belt, which sometimes is effective and sometimes not. But, with all the wide reaches between our civilization and that of the jungle folk, between our faith and theirs, between our science and their incantations, we are the same pawns of the destiny which may lurk in a sun spot or an ikon.

Roosevelt Called on to Help Child Labor Amendment

By James T. Williams, Jr.

When President Roosevelt gets back from his Atlantic-Pacific cruise he will be urged to go to the support of the proposed child labor amendment to the Federal Constitution as the titular leader of the party in power.

When the prohibition repeal amendment was before the state legislatures for ratification, Mr. Roosevelt sent his postmaster general, Mr. Farley, who is also his chairman of the Democratic national committee, into state after state to urge ratification

URGE LEADER TO HELP

When ratification finally came, the administration claimed a large share in the credit for this victory and pointed to the campaigning by airplane and radio which Mr. Farley and other members of the cabinet did to encourage ratification.

The advocates of the child labor amendment insist that its ratification is as much entitled to the active support of the administration as was the ratification of the prohibition repeal amendment. They argue further that the leadership of President Roosevelt is all that is required to insure ratification of this progressive amendment between now and the next Presidential election in 1936.

The child labor amendment, which passed Congress and was submitted to the states for ratification in 1924, provides:

"That Congress shall have the power to limit, regulate and prohibit the labor of persons under 18 years of age. The power of the several states is unimpaired by this article except that the operation of state laws shall be suspended to the extent necessary to give effect to legislation enacted by Congress."

FIGHT TO GO ON

Once this amendment is ratified and becomes a part of the Federal Constitution, Congress will be given the power to control by law the labor of persons under 18 years of age. Congress will fix the conditions under which such persons may be employed without injuring their health and without depriving them of that public education which is the birth-right of every American under the flag.

Before 1933, only six states had ratified this proposed amendment. In 1933, 14 additional states ratified it. The legislative consent of 16 additional states must be obtained before the process of ratification is completed.

During the present year, ratification has failed in one or both branches of the following states: New York, Kentucky, Virginia, South Carolina, Texas, Mississippi, Rhode Island, Massachusetts and Louisiana,

But the fight for ratification will be continued with renewed vigor in all these states as a result of the temporary setback which this wise and humane movement for the protection of American youth from exploitation has suffered.

The child labor amendment is strongly supported by twenty-four national organizations. It has already been ratified by the legislatures of the following states: Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Illinois, Iowa, Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, Montana, New Hampshire, New Jersey, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

Enough legislatures will meet in 1935 for ratification to be completed in that year if the forces that are fighting to protect American youth can count upon the leadership of President Roosevelt and the assistance of his administration.

There is nothing partisan about this proposed amendment, nothing racial, nothing sectional and nothing sectarian. It was drafted by the great Democratic senator from Montana who presided with such fairness over the Democratic national conventions of 1924 and 1932 and died on his way to Washington to take his oath as attorney general in President Roosevelt's cabinet—the late Thomas J. Walsh.

PROHIBITED BY CODES

Assisting him in the drafting of this amendment were George Wharton Pepper, Republican senator from Pennsylvania, and a representative committee of able lawyers.

Temporarily, child labor is prohibited by codes covering the greater part of industry. But these codes can be modified. They may be revoked. Congress passed a child labor law more than a decade ago which was declared unconstitutional. This made necessary the proposed amendment to the Constitution in order that Congress may have the power to subject the employment of minors to that legal regulation which will give them the protection that the American people wish them to have and that is essential to the future welfare of the nation.
